

NAVARRO AT LAST ARRIVES

(By United Press Leased Wire.)
 EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 15.—Campaigning of the Mexican insurgents around Juarez was believed today to have come to an end through the arrival of General Navarro with 1,000 federal infantry and 500 regular Mexican cavalry. Navarro and his men on their arrival were hailed as the saviors of Northern Mexico, and today wear the heroes of the hour. All last night and today banquets and feasting in their honor have been in progress and the whole town is en fete.

MAGAZINE MEN DENY CHARGES OF 'TRUST'

(By United Press Leased Wire.)
 NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Magazine publishers here today deny the charge that any "trust" in their business fixes rates for advertising and subscriptions. They declare the only possible foundation for the charge is the periodical clearing house and the Quoin club. The former protects the magazine publishers and the public against frauds and the latter is an organization of advertising men where trade conditions are discussed.

NOW, LITTLE CHILDREN, HERE'S THE STORY OF THE SMART FOX AND THE SILLY GOOSE

Dear Little Children: One there was a big Goose. Oo! he was the most sure-enough Goose-Goose in all the country, because when the cunning, smart Fox held conversation with him, this Goose sold his vote to the sneaky one for nothing, or $10, which was the same thing, inasmuch as the $10 didn't anywhere begin to pay the Goose for the honor and respect he lost forever among all the barnyard flock. All the little children felt very sorry for the poor murdered Goose, and thought that, of course, the flock would punish the brutal, unspeakable Fox. But the leaders of the flock, called judges, said no; that all sin and guilt was in the silly Goose alone. And so the smart Fox got away with it, even to Adams county, O., and to Danville, Ill., as did the rich and sassy fox called Paddy Cahoun and the sniveling fox Abie Reuf.

SECOND OPERATION SHOWS UP DOCTOR

(By United Press Leased Wire.)
 LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—Undergoing a second serious surgical operation in an attempt to prove his charges of malpractice against Dr. Rea Smith, whom he sued for $50,000, Henry Crissy, while loser in the suit, today left the hospital almost completely recovered both from the effects of the "test" operation and the one Dr. Smith performed.

NO CLUE TO BOLD STORE BANDIT

(By United Press Leased Wire.)
 PORTLAND, Feb. 15.—Having only a vague description of the robber and the jewels he got and without clues, detectives today admitted there is small chance of capturing the man who yesterday afternoon walked into the Diamond Palace Jewelry store on Washington street, slugged James Gilbert, the clerk, looted the safe of several hundred dollars in cash and over $3,000 worth of diamonds and escaped, while hundreds of persons passed the store.

ONE MAN WHO DOES NOT WANT A RAISE

(By United Press Leased Wire.)
 SALEM, Or., Feb. 15.—At least one officer of the state of Oregon is satisfied with the salary he is receiving.  Another Los Angeles officer has been telegraphed for to assist in the identification.

Cured Patients are my Best Advertisements

I wish you could know and talk to the hundreds of my cured and satisfied patients, that you might realize why my ever-increasing practice is the most successful of any specialist in Tacoma today. You would know that my acceptance of a case is equivalent to a cure, because I never accept a patient unless I can give every honest assurance of a quick and lasting cure. It will cost you nothing to obtain my candid, expert opinion of your case. If it is a curable one I will name you my entire charge for prompt and permanent results. Consider why other doctors send their stubborn cases to me and my patients bring their friends for my personally administered local treatment. What better evidence could I offer you? Come to me today and note how differently an expert specialist will treat you and how quickly you will be benefited and cured by the right kind of treatment.

Wins World's Corn Championship

Roy Clore, Nineteen-Year-Old Indiana Youth, Takes Trophy Because He Used His Head as Well as His Hands to Grow Fine Maize.

A nineteen-year-old Indiana boy was the hero of the national corn show this year. This boy went to Columbus, O., with ten big ears of Johnson county white dent corn and he goes back to Indiana with the honor of having won the national grand sweepstakes and the Indiana corn growers' association trophy, the blue ribbon of the maize growing world.

This boy, Roy D. Clore, comes from the world's greatest corn growing section, that is to say to that section where the choicest corn is grown, south central Indiana. He lives on a farm near Franklin. Also he comes of a corn-growing family. His father, L. B. Clore, now of the Indiana state legislature, won the grand national sweepstakes in Chicago in 1907 and in Omaha in 1908. Under the rules of the corn game the elder Clore couldn't enter the grand prize at Omaha last year, but during this past season the boy, Roy, took charge of the corn growing on the Clore place and again lifted the cup for the honor of Indiana and of the Clore family.

Roy Clore is a sturdy youngster, a typical example of the farm youth of the new regime. There is nothing of the unsophisticated about him, nothing of the traditional air of the clothe-hopper, yet he is a true son of the soil and proud of it. He says he proposes to stick to the farm. The lure of the city has no special charm for the boy who won the 1910 national grand sweepstakes.
 Matter of Brains.
 The winning of the big prize at the national corn show isn't a matter of luck, or of hard work. It's a matter of brains. Mere careful planting and cultivation won't turn the trick. Years of careful breeding and rigid selection are necessary to build up a prize-winning strain of corn. Corn growing is a science now and the production of good seed is the end to which the best efforts of the scientific corn growers are bent. For if you haven't good seed good cultivation doesn't avail much.
 Thus the seed that Roy Clore planted last spring had a good deal to do with his winning the sweepstakes. That seed, "John-son County White Dent," was bred by the Clore family and because of raised by folk who plow their tasseling corn with the venerable "double shovel," whose shares are as dangerous to the corn as to the weeds.

 Altogether it takes quite a much brains to win the corn championship as to win some other championships that are supposed to take a whole lot more brains than mere corn growing—the which championship for instance, or the chess championship, or even the penuche championship.
