

Portugal's to have an election in April with rival editors leading the opposing sides. What one editor can't call another in Portuguese isn't worth trying to find in the dictionaries.

The Tacoma Times

Daniel Webster and Theodore Parker are hot competitors with Abraham Lincoln for the honor of originating the immortal epigram: "A government of the people, by the people, for the people." Anyhow, the dream is coming true.

VOL. VIII. NO. 67.

The Only Independent Newspaper in Tacoma.

TACOMA, WASHINGTON, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 8, 1911.

The Only Independent Newspaper in Tacoma.

30 CENTS A MONTH.

JAPAN CAUSE OF WAR MOVE?

WOMEN HEAR ISSUES OF CAMPAIGN DISCUSSED

MAYOR FAWCETT TELLS FEMINE AUDIENCE THAT ANTI-TREATING LAW CAN BE ENFORCED IF PASSED IN COMING ELECTION.

"Carry this anti-treating ordinance; put the law on the books and I will see that it is enforced. I will hire men to get evidence and we will prosecute every saloon that violates it and then I will make a motion in council meeting to revoke the license. With this law on the books I know you good people will see that it is enforced and no administration will ever come in that will dare not to enforce it."

Such was the statement of Mayor Fawcett to the women of the Voters' Educational league at their meeting yesterday afternoon at the St. Luke's parish house.

The mayor had been invited to speak, but he came late. H. G. Rowland was speaking when he arrived. Rowland was giving the mayor and the whole commission particular fits. He told the women how he had gone to Commissioner Roys a dozen times and demanded and begged that he enforce the law against blind pigs, gamblers and the red light district. Roys had refused and had stated that with the help of god he would maintain the vice district.

But Rowland declared the other commissioners were also to blame because they had done nothing to compel Roys to enforce the law. He thought them equally guilty.

Mayor Fawcett took issue with him on this. "You say you went to Roys and demanded that the law be enforced. Why didn't you come to me and to the other commissioners if we were just as responsible and had just as much to do with it as Roys. You never came to see any of us except Roys and yet you say that we are just as much to blame as he is. If you thought that why did you not bring the matter before the commission or say something to the rest of us?"

The mayor also declared that he had but one vote in the commission and that Roys had refused to allow him to have anything to do with directing the police so he had no means of looking after the details of police regulation and that he had never been able to get enough commissioners together to remove Roys from office.

He declared he had tried to get the other commissioners to remove him but never could get enough votes.

The women and several men present piled the mayor with questions. R. W. Wilkeson asked why the anti-treating ordinance was not introduced sooner by the mayor.

"The reason was that Roys went back on his promise and refused to support it," said Fawcett. "He agreed with me before he was elected that he would stand by me and help me to put it through."

After the election I went to him and asked him to put the ordinance in and he refused to support it. I did not introduce it until I got Lawson to promise to support it; then we passed it."

Mrs. E. H. Hammond wanted to know why voters do not stand by the mayor when he is trying to enforce the law.

The mayor said it takes three votes to do anything against the saloons and Freehand is the only one he can always count on.

Mrs. A. E. Shores suggested that the women would go down and put the saloons out of business.

Mrs. Shores asked the mayor if there was a saloon in his building. The mayor said there was and has been for years. Rowland wanted to know if he had said that if the anti-treating law went into effect he would be in favor of opening saloons on Sunday.

The mayor said he had declared that with no treating the Sunday saloon would not be as obnoxious as the saloon under the present plan of operation.

From the demonstrations of the women it was apparent that sentiment was divided on the question of the mayor. A majority apparently were for him, but many were not. Several took no part in the meeting except as listeners.

Gen. Maus Off For Mexico

(United Press Leased Wire.) VANCOUVER, Wn., Mar. 8.—On telegraphic orders from the war department, Brigadier General Marion P. Maus, commander of the department of the Columbia, will leave here tonight for Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, to report for duty to Major General William H. Carter.

Col. Cornelius Gardner, who will probably take command of this district, is at Seward, Alaska. General Maus said that he did not know why the troops had been called out so suddenly.

PROMINENT TACOMANS

No. 6

GEORGE H. STONE.

That mysterious person of the last two days was none other than our prominent townsman, Mr. Stone of the Stone-Fisher company. Quite a number recognized him, badly as his features were mutilated.

Following are the prize-winners:

First, two tickets to Tacoma theater to see Max Dill, Herbert R. Geisenhayer.

Second, third, fourth and fifth each two tickets to Majestic or Pantages theaters, Nina Clark, Meyer Winkelman, Katherine Mayer and Mariett M. Rowland.

The tickets will be mailed to the winners at 4 o'clock today, but may be secured at the Times office before that time.

The names of all who sent in correct answers to this puzzle will be found on page 7.

YOU DIVIDE GIRLS--AMERICAN GIRLS--INTO FOUR CLASSES

Say, Mr. Man, to Which Class Does YOUR Girlie Belong?

CLASS A GIRL
BY NED WAYBURN
Who Has Produced Most of the Musical Comedy Successes of Recent Years.

Whether they are on the stage or in business or homebodies, there is one thing sure about girls. And it is this: Each girl is different from any other girl.

I have employed and trained thousands of chorus girls in some 35 of the largest musical comedies that America has seen. I have noted one thing about American girls and that is that all girls may be divided into four classes.

On the stage we have four types of chorus girls and, if you put the same measures of distinction to girls at large that we on the stage do to the girls in the chorus, you will discover that all girls fall into one of the four classes very readily.

On the stage, first we have the A girl. This is her technical classification and any theater manager, if you tell him that a certain girl is an A girl, will immediately know something about her looks, her figure, her manners and even a little about her thoughts. You'll find the A girl off the stage, too. The A girl is tall and stately and proud. She never moves hurriedly. She hasn't any nerves that bother her. There is grace in every movement, and her own beauty and charm give her as much pleasure as they do anyone else.

The A girl is never likely to fall desperately in love because she is unimpetuous and too dignified to give way to emotions. When she does marry she will realize that she is doing the man a great favor in giving him so much beauty. The A girl is always gentle and refined.

Class B. The B girl—she's the one with cleverness. She doesn't have to be good looking. Her cleverness can make up for any lack of that. But she is rarely tall. Often her figure is far from perfect. But she has a smile that comes from the heart and she is interested in life and in things and persons about her. She forgets herself, and when she falls in love she's willing to have the whole world know about it.

The B girl on the stage—and in real life, too—knows that she wasn't intended to be looked at; she was born to do things. And she does them, too. The best singers and dancers—in fact all of the stars—come from the B class. And a B class girl isn't born like an A class one. The B class girl works up from below usually.

Class C. The C class girl is the most lovable of them all. She may have ambition. More often she has not. But she has one thing that she can do well. She is usually small in stature. Her features are small and dainty. In real life you'd call her the "clinging vine" sort. She doesn't intend to remain on the stage, if she can help it. Her dream is love and a husband. If her dream fails, then ambition steps in, and she becomes "wedded to her art."

There are more C class girls in real life than any other sort. They make the world better because they live in it.

Class D. The D class girl takes in all the rest. There aren't so many of her. She has varying traits. She doesn't expect any particular thing from the world, because she

'Play War' Ridiculed; Japan Trying to Get Foothold In Mexico

FEAR OF JAPAN OR FACT THAT DIAZ IS DYING ONLY EXPLANATIONS OF SENDING ARMY TO MEXICO—"WAR GAME" EXPLANATION CONSIDERED A MERIE BLIND.

(BULLETIN.) (By United Press Leased Wire.) LEAVENWORTH, Kan., March 8.—Army officers here today declare their belief that the United States mobilization is inspired with the idea of ending negotiations between Japan and Mexico, whereby Japan sought to acquire a coaling station on the west coast of Mexico.

(By United Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—Not since the days before the Spanish war has Washington officialdom been so excited as it is today through the huge mobilization of troops on the Texas frontier and the massing of warships within easy striking distance of both the Gulf and the Pacific Mexican coasts.

Reports that President Diaz of Mexico is dying, and that the foreign governments are demanding of the United States protection for their Mexican investments, leads to general ridicule here of the government's official explanation that its hurried movement of soldiers is being pushed forward simply as a "war game."

Japan the Cause? Another possible explanation of the hasty gathering of American troops and one which does not necessarily conflict with the occupation theory is that the demonstration may be intended by the United States authorities to serve as a warning to Mexico against

Will Welcome Ballinger Home

(By United Press Leased Wire.) SEATTLE, March 8.—Friends of Richard A. Ballinger are planning a rousing welcome home for the former secretary of the interior when he comes back to Seattle, his home city. It is regarded as probable that Ballinger will resume the practice of law in this city. His statement that his defense has cost him $25,000 and made him a poor man was taken facetiously here, even by his warmest friends. Ballinger has been an attorney for big interests for years and it is known that his private fortune is considerable. Members of the several men's clubs are planning a public ovation for Ballinger when he returns

Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the United States army, who will be a prominent figure in the military movement which has started.

FIRST DEATH

(By United Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—The first "casualty of war" in the present flurry occurred here this morning, when Private William Hogan, Battery C, Third field artillery, fell from his horse and was fatally injured.

Good Measures Are Defeated

(By United Press Leased Wire.) OLYMPIA, March 8.—The fish and fruit industry representatives are jubilant today following their partial victory over the advocates of an eight-hour workday for women.

SON PASSES TEST; FATHER TAKES JOB

(By United Press Leased Wire.) SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—George J. Regley, Jr., took the civil service examination and won a position in the postoffice. When the appointment was made his father, George J. Regley, sr., went and took the job, filing a bond for $1,000.

The government just discovered the impersonation and yesterday arrested the father for practicing fraud on the government and then grabbed the son on the same charge.

Late Bulletins

(By United Press Leased Wire.) (By United Press Leased Wire.) NEW YORK, March 8.—The armored cruisers Tennessee, North Carolina and Montana are coaling here today and will start for the Gulf of Mexico ports tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—President Taft today requested Jose Yves Limantour, Mexican minister of finance, to come to Washington to confer on the Mexican situation.

DETROIT, March 8.—Victor M. Clore, and Bryan O'Hara, both of Palms, Mich., were arrested today charged with having held up a Southern Pacific train near Ogden, Utah, last January. In the hold-up one man, a porter, was killed. The robbers secured $5,000 in money and jewels from the Pullman passengers.

England Thinks U. S. Will Absorb Mexico

LONDON, March 8.—The mobilization of nearly 30,000 American troops on the Mexican frontier is the beginning of American absorption of Mexico, according to public opinion here today. Reports are persistent here that the British foreign office has notified Washington that unless British interests in Mexico are protected England will land bluejackets in Mexican ports. It is considered most significant that the mobilization of troops in Texas caused no official surprise here, and it is strongly intimated that Washington has proved dilatory and that this sudden action was finally taken on the strong indication by England that the time has come to act.

A Story of the Town

The spectacle of two full grown men quarreling over a piece of cake was witnessed by about 20 people in a Commerce street cafeteria shortly before noon today.

Man No. 1 reached toward No. 2 and slid the piece of cake over in front of himself. No. 2 demanded an explanation. "Now don't play innocent," retorted the other. "I bought this cake and paid for it and you tried to swipe it, and you know it."

The other was on his feet by this time and each passed the lie direct. "I just this minute paid for that cake myself and you know I did," yelled No. 2.

At this No. 1 jumped to his feet and a big bunch of frosting was seen on his coat and trousers. Both men looked down, and some piece, lying on the floor at his feet. He had evidently dropped it into his lap and didn't know it.

No. 1 wiped the frosting from his clothes and made for the door. No. 2 went on eating with a grin on his face.

ORDER WAR SUPPLIES

(By United Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—Although there is hardly a dollar in the United States treasury for army maneuvers, the quartermaster general and the army commissary officers were ordered today to buy war supplies to an unlimited extent. Every official movement indicates that the massing of troops on the Mexican border is in preparation for real action, and not practice maneuvers.

Everything since the hurry call was issued indicates an almost exact parallel to the events before the Spanish war.

Shock Has a Wife and Child; Girl Still Lives

There has been no change in the condition of Miss Marion Silva, the victim of the murderous attack by Louis M. Shock. She lies in a semi-conscious state, and while there is some possibility of her recovery, her condition is extremely critical.

Coroner Shaver has learned indirectly that Shock, who committed suicide after shooting Miss Silva, has a wife and child in the east. There has been no claim for the body, which still lies at the Hoska-Buckley-King parlors.

MEXICALI, March 8.—A large force of federals advancing on Mexicali were located eight miles west of here by rebel scouts early today. The government force, which left Ensenada March 3, was preparing an immediate advance on the city.

THE WEEK'S BEST WASHINGTON YARN

WASHINGTON, March 8.—There are reasons and reasons. "The reasons given us for the fall in the price of meat are laughable," said Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, government food expert, to some congressional friends. "They are as laughable," he added, "as the young lady's reason for avoiding tight lacing. 'Is tight lacing unwise?' her teacher asked in a physiology lesson. 'Yes, it is very unwise,' was the answer. 'Why so?' the teacher pursued. 'Because it busts the corset,' confidently replied the heroine of Washington's fashionable 'young ladies' select school.'"

Dr. Wiley.

NEWS ITEMS FROM THE HICKTOWN BEE

Somebody stole part of the plank sidewalk on Main street, making a pretty bad place last night. The Cataract Hoax Co. has got a nice new coal-oil lamp for the checker department. Eli Ebbib is still checker champion of the first house. The Hicktown Savings Bank has got $300 to loan on A-I securities to anybody who will borrow at the Lower Mills. Will wants to buy an automobile. The whistle on the tool factory was out of kilter this morning, so the shop didn't open up today. Tom Macomber wants a near-sighted clerk for a job in the ladies shoe department in the Emporium.