MRS. V'S RECIPES

PUFF PASTE

Into 1 quart of sifted flour mix 2 teaspoons of baking powder and a teaspoon of salt, then sift again. Measure out 1 teacup of butter and 1 of lard, hard and cold. Take the lard and rub into the flour until a very fine smooth paste, then put in just enough ice water, say a half cup, containing a beaten egg, the white of the egg, to mix a very stiff dough. Roll it out into a thin sheet, spread with 1/2 of the butter, sprinkle over with a little flour, then roll up closely in a long roll like a scroll. Double the ends toward the center, flatten and reroll, then spread again with another quarter of the butter. Repeat this operation until the butter is used up, put it in an earthen dish, cover it with a cloth and set it in a cold place in the ice box in summer. Let it remain until cold, an hour or more before making out the crust. You may roll this pastry in any direction, but you must have nice flour, ice water and very little of it. This is a fine recipe and one I always use.

SOME WAYS OF MAKING MONEY

- 1. - Writing testimonials for patent medicines.
2. - Being very quiet as the conductor goes by.
3. - Giving up singing in a flat.
4. - Borrowing and getting forgetful.
5. - Running for office and pulling out.
6. - Overlooking the bargain day advertisements.
7. - Holding hats for ladies who want to kiss their babies.
8. - Changing a chiropodist's sign on your back.
9. - Inheriting a hen.
10. - Earning it.

Science proves that gray eyes predominate among men, and brown eyes among women—and black among married people.

The fortieth wedding anniversary is the ruby wedding. No doubt the first is the rube wedding.

Ruby Dinner Gown With Metal Fringe

In ruby coroler velvet, elaborate with metal trimming, comes a French model. There is almost as much metal decoration to this gown as the ground work velvet fabric.

The overskirt has a deep band of metal insertion about the hips and it also edges the overskirt. This band has a foot deep of metal fringe. The neck is cut square and is untrimmed, while the insertion of metal crosses the bust and is used again at the waist line.

MISS GRIGSBY'S AUCTION MAY GIVE AWAY RICH SCANDALS IN NEW YORK HIGH LIFE; SHE'S AFTER REVENGE

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—The home of Emilie Busby Grigsby—the House of Mystery—is to be opened to the public at last and the gorgeous furnishings are to be sold at auction. This announcement has created a stir among New York's most dignified men of money. More than a stir, because several men of affairs are having trouble sleeping o' nights for fear the auction will reveal sentimental secrets that won't look good in print.

Miss Grigsby's auction is for revenge, not profit—although she may get as much as a million dollars from the sale. She was a friend of the British queen, but was snubbed during the coronation. Her American friends, who were loyal when she was the pet of the millionaire Charles T. Yerkes, have also snubbed her. So she is going to sell the splendid collection which Yerkes and other admirers gave her.

Those who have been through the Grigsby collection declare that no matter how much the actual value of the stuff to be sold may be, there are secret notes on sil-

Cynthia Grey's Letters

Dear Miss Grey: I am a young girl 20 years of age, and I certainly know you will tell me what is right. I have been going with a young man of 27. My past life has not been good, but I have told him all. He says what I have done is not think of, now that I am trying to live it down, and become a better woman. He has a brother-in-law and relatives who do not want him to marry me, and are constantly telling him things about me that are not so. He has told me he loves me, and I have told him that I love him. Have I done right? And does he care for me if he keeps in the company of these relatives? F. H. S.

A.—You did exactly right, and it shows that you are an honest girl at heart. While you may not have done worse than he, we all know how the world looks at these things, and for that reason he is making a sacrifice in marrying you. It is a hard thing to ask a man to give up his whole family, even if they are talking about you. So I want you to be a sensible girl, and look at it from his side as well as yours. On the other hand, I think the man should take a stand with his relatives and refuse to listen to their talk. I believe as broad-minded a man as he has shown himself to be, will do this if it is presented to him in the right light. Not simply as doing it for you, but as the right thing to his future wife and children. If he does not settle it once for all you are both apt to have trouble later.

Dear Miss Grey: I am 24 years old and have been married eight years. A year ago my husband deserted me, and went with another woman. Now, after a year, I have forgiven him and taken him back. But there is something coming. Every time he comes around me I get the blues, and everything looks so dark; but when he is gone I am singing all day long. The question is: Will I ever love him again? Must I leave this little home where I am taking care of two little motherless children, and go when he calls, all over the country, with no home—nothing but hardships? Or what would you advise? I am a Christian, and don't believe in divorce and remarriage. I will do what is right no matter what it costs. Can you tell me what makes my eyes change color? Sometimes they are gray, and sometimes a light brown, and just shine. A LOVING HEART.

A.—If your husband is trying to be a better man than he was before he left you, I would try to look at the new man, and forget the wrong; but if he is the same—likely to follow any pretty face he sees—it certainly is not your duty to go with him. Isn't it possible for him to settle down? If it is within his power he ought to make the effort since you have forgiven him. If you can do more good by staying with the children, and are happier, by all means do it. No matter how much of a Christian you are, we were not told to work out someone else's salvation, but our own. It may not really help your husband for you to humor him and run all over the country with him. It all depends on whether he is making an effort himself.

DOUGHNUTS AND SILVER EAR

Dear Miss Grey: We are two high school girls, and have been going with two boys who seem to think a great deal of us, but seldom ask us to go out. Now we are not "boy-struck," but we would like them to take us to some of the high school dances. How can we let them know without hinting too broadly?

DOUGHNUTS AND SILVER EAR

A.—There is nothing that Cynthia can commend to you, girls. It will certainly be out of place for you to hint at all.

"J. C." The cotton-gin was invented by Whitney in 1792. The 1722 was a typographical error.

"Rebecca," inquire at the library for the books you speak of; and "A Scotchman," address letter to Andrew Carnegie, New York city.

To Cure a Woman Smoking

Dear Miss Grey: My wife smokes cigarettes. I do not use tobacco, so it is very distasteful to me. I can see that the habit is having a bad effect on her nerves, and I would therefore like to break it, but do not know how. As you seem to be Mother confessor for the troubled of this city,

I come to you. We have been married three years and she is a good wife, and we get along fine. Can it be done with drugs?

A. B. C.

A.—Some people claim that the tobacco habit can be cured with drugs, but my opinion is that it takes something stronger—and that is will power coupled with a great desire to stop the habit. If you can arouse this in your wife, and will surround her with all the love and strength of your manhood while she is making the fight, I see no reason why she cannot win out. If she will consent and will put a little tobacco in everything she eats for awhile, it may overcome it by making her sick of the taste.

Dear Miss Grey: (1) Will you please tell me how to use cocoa butter for massaging the breast? (2) Will the use of peroxide and ammonia for the removal of hair on the face cause it to come in thicker? (3) What is the cause of the poor circulation in a child. She is healthy as far as I can see, but her hands are usually cold.

ELLA.

A. (1) You simply rub it on the hands and massage the breast gently with the hands. (2) Peroxide and ammonia does not remove hair, but bleaches it. (3) It is not unusual for a child to have cold hands. The least attention you pay to it the better.

Dear Miss Grey: (1) Will red sweaters be worn this winter? (2) I am 14, have subburn hair and am fair. What colors will look good on me?

BRIGHT EPES.

A.—(1) Yes, red sweaters are always stylish for young girls. (2) Wear blues, greens, and browns containing shades of your hair.

Dear Miss Grey: Would it look well for three sisters all under 21 to travel through California without a chaperone? And would it be all right for me to take a set of furs from a boy friend that I have been going with for three months? My mother thinks it is but my brother says "Don't take them." TOTTIE.

A.—If you girls are together, Don't be misled. Ask for Red Cross Ball Blue. Makes beautiful white clothes. At all good grocers.

CHICAGO USES HER SCHOOL HOUSES AT NIGHT FOR DANCES AND PARTIES TO ROB BAD RESORTS OF THEIR LURE

BY DR. JAMES H. M'PATRICH, President Chicago Board of Education.

DR. J. B. M'PATRICH.

ALONG WITH OTHER CITIES CHICAGO HAS A DA N O E HALL EVIL, SO THE CITY IS USING ITS $50,000,000 SCHOOL EQUIPMENT FOR COMMUNITY ENTERTAINMENT. THUS GETTING 3,000 HOURS A YEAR GOOD OUT OF ITS BUILDINGS, INSTEAD OF ONLY 1,000 HOURS AS IN MOST CITIES.

We have $50,000,000 worth of school property in Chicago. The buildings are used 1,000 hours a year; they should be used 3,000 hours a year. If they belonged to a big business enterprise they would be used all the time, and because they belong to the public they should not be kept closed the greater part of the year. Now we are going to allow the people to use their school buildings for amusement purposes any night they desire. Light and heat will be provided free. Dances will be held two or three times a week. We want to see the schools made social centers and the property put to the best advantage for the education and pleasure of the community. The children are to have what they want. They may do anything they please that does not violate the law. They may get up any sort of entertainment they wish—dances, theatricals, debates—and, in addition, the board of education will provide moving pictures, stereopticon lectures, informal talks, and things that will interest parents as well as children. I believe that the school dances will kill the business of the dance halls, especially the questionable dance hall that ruins so many of our girls and boys who have had no other place to go for an evening's entertainment. The school dances and entertainments will give these young people a clean, decent substitute for the dance hall; take them off the streets at night, and keep them from the questionable picture shows.

Don't behave yourselves as you should you can go all over the world with perfect safety. But don't have your money arranged so that you will be plenty wherever you happen to be. Your brother probably knows more of men than your mother does, and does not want his sister to place herself where anything can be said against her. He is right.

Ten Commandments as to Milk (KANSAS CITY HEALTH BULLETIN.)

- 1. Don't buy milk unless you are SURE it is clean.
2. Don't put milk in a vessel that has not previously been scalded.
3. Don't keep unbotTLed milk in the same part of the refrigerator with other eatables. Milk absorbs odors as well as germs.
4. Don't leave milk bottles stand unwashed after use.
5. Don't use any but FRESH milk for the baby.
6. Don't give the baby any milk mixture prescribed by someone not a physician.
7. Don't use a vacuum bottle to keep baby's milk warm.
8. Don't heat the milk a second time before feeding it to the baby.
9. Don't moisten the nipple with saliva before putting it in the baby's mouth.

The Parrot Chatters

Mr. Noah Brings Him Out of the Ark to Tell His Own Story to Girls and Boys Who Read the Daily Times.

"Polly wants a cracker!" People often hear me say this and many other things. I am a fine mimic. Isn't it funny to hear a bird talk English? I have a good hearty laugh, too. Isn't my plumage gorgeous? We parrots live in the warm countries, where we can find buds, leaves, seeds and fruit for our dinner. Here the trees and grass are always green. We build our nests in the tall trees.

We have short, hard, round bills, hooked at the tip. Our feet each have two toes in front and two behind. We use our feet and bills for climbing trees, and we also use our feet as hands to hold and carry food to our mouths.

There are hundreds of different kinds of parrots. Some are as small as the sparrows that hop around your house and others are three feet tall. I have known of some parrots living to be 100 years of age. Do you know any person as old as that?

We love tricks and fun as much as you do. People say we have a bad, quick temper, but we are affectionate, too.

That's all I can tell you today. Polly wants a cracker!

CLEAR. A little girl received an invitation to a party which a friend was about to give. The invitation had been written by the small hostess. After surveying the note with delight for a few minutes the recipient said: "Eh, I wonder if it is a birthday party?"

"Let me see the invitation." After a brief inspection, he said: "Yes, it must be a birthday party. It begins: 'Your presents is desired.'"—Housekeeper.
