The Chicken Business For Women--A Good Living But it Means a Lot of Work and Study

ONE WOMAN WHO MAKES MONEY WITH HER CHICKENS.

Whether you decide to confine yourself to raising poultry for the market, or strictly to an egg business, or to combine the two, the foundation for success is in your stock. Don't waste time with mongrels. Get a pure strain of good utility stock from some reliable poultry farm. If possible, buy from a farm farther north; the birds will stand the winter better. These birds must have weather proof, draught proof and rat proof houses with large windows opening towards the east. If possible have your houses and runs on a slight slope for good drainage. In the runs there must be trees, preferably fruit trees, so the birds get insects and shade in summer. An old orchard is ideal. The greatest thing to fight is disease. This practically can be eliminated by cleanliness. Frequent cleaning of the droppings boards under the roosts and sprinkling with coal ashes, frequent painting the entire house, floor, walls and ceiling with white-wash and carbolic acid are absolute necessities. Fresh air is another necessity. The fronts of the houses, toward the east, should be practically open, with cotton windows that can be let down on very cold nights, and glass windows which should only be shut when a driving storm comes. In near zero weather, a cotton curtain can be let down around the perches after the birds have gone to roost. This keeps in the animal heat and will make the difference of from 10 to 15 degrees of warmth. Don't waste time and money feeding drones. Weed them out. Select only perfect birds for your stock for your breeding pen. After you have once started in the business do not buy stock. Raise your own and aim to make that stock better than any you could buy. Unless you are absolutely sure of keeping your various pens separate it is a wise precaution to buy, each year, the cocks for your breeding pen from some reputable breeder, preventing too much inbreeding. Get a market as near home as possible and deliver direct to your patrons. Don't share profits with the "middleman." If you can get high class private customers in a near city you can command the highest prices; on the other hand this means packing, shipping, suitable cases and constant disagreements with express companies, all of which eat considerable into the high prices. My suggestion would be for a woman to go into the egg raising side of the business in preference to raising of poultry for the market, which entails the killing and preparing. You can make more money, in proportion with a small flock of hens, say from 25 to 50, than with large flocks, because the birds can be given practically individual care, but one woman with the help of a boy can manage 1,000 birds. This means strict economy of time, a great deal of brain work to save the heels, and very hard work for both the first year or so.

A flock this size should net from $1500 to $2000 a year. This requires an equipment which could be installed for between $1000 and $1500; but it also requires a complete knowledge of your subject. No such profits must be expected for the first two or three years; but with intelligent management, there should be a slight profit from the first. But if you have an idea that the poultry business is a "get-rich-quick" scheme, keep out of it and preserve your illusions!

Cynthia Greys Letters

IS HE TRUE? Dear Miss Grey: I am eighteen, and engaged to a young man 20. He seems to love me, and says I am the best little girl he ever met. We have kept company six months and been engaged for three.

The other day, Miss Grey, a friend, told me that he told the friend that he (the one I am engaged to) was out with a sport. Now, Miss Grey, he tells me he doesn't believe in such things. He nor no other man ever said a word out of place to me. I am a good girl and always will be. Now, should I break my engagement or not? I am almost sure what I heard is true. BROWNIE.

A—My child, you have succeeded in getting yourself in just the kind of position that Miss Grey is forever trying to keep you young girls out of. If you had been older, dear, you could have "sized" this man up from the first. But now the thing is to help you to the best of my ability. A girl should be very sure of the moral and physical condition of the man she marries. For she not only runs the risk of ruining her own health and life, but that of the children that may be born. You didn't know that, did you dear? Now, that is why Miss Grey, wants you girls to prepare your minds by studying eugenics (the books can be obtained at the library) and giving to your children the right kind of fathers and mothers.

What you have heard may not be true—and it may. First find out. Then, do not break the engagement, but tell the young man that you will not marry him until he has proved that he can be true to you. If he can't do that before marriage, he is not likely to after. Many men would not live as they do if they realized what they are doing for their children. Get him to study the books with you. There is nothing indecent in the right study of this subject. And remember that ignorance is not innocence; nor mock modesty, the real article. Don't say much, but let him know you mean it.

Dear Miss Grey: Is it proper that a girl should propose in leap year? I have been going with a young man two years. Might I tell him of my love without doing a most unwomanly thing. We often speak of the future--OUR future, and though he talks me he loves me, he has not asked me to marry him. I do not want to keep such close friends unless I am sure of his love, and it seems that if he loves me, he would ask me to be his wife. Please, Miss Grey, advise me. I have no home, and I want one so badly. UNHAPPY.

A.—"Unhappy," don't make a bad matter worse by proposing. The time has not yet come when a woman can make such a leap over conventions, without crippling herself. You have made the mistake of allowing this man tokens of affection that belong to one engaged. Tell him you see where you have been wrong in the matter, and absolutely refuse him such privileges—and stick to it. If he loves you, he will ask you to marry him; if not, the sooner you are rid of him the better. Cynthia knows what you will suffer should it come to giving him up, but if he is that kind of man you may suffer more the longer it is put off. Do what is right, dear girl, and some day you will be in a snug little home for a little girl of 5. The tall crown is trimmed with ribbon and the close brim that comes well over the ears is faced with the same toned silk. This is pink in color and the crown has slits through which the silken bands are slipped. A big shirred choux, with bow and ends, is on the left side of this pretty bonnet. Temperance Minicemat. The following rule for mince meat is made without alcoholic liquors: Mix together 1 cup chopped apple, 1/2 cup raisins seeded and chopped, 1/2 cup currants, 1/2 cup butter, 1 tablespoon molasses, 1 tablespoon bottled elder, 1 cup suar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 cup suar cloves, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg grated, 1 saltspoon mace, 1 teaspoon salt. Add enough stock in which meat was cooked to moisten; heat gradually to boiling point and simmer 1 hour; beat and 1 cup chopped mace and 2 tablespoons jelly. Cook 15 minutes. Mail Carriers Will Fly. This is an age of great discoveries. Progress rides on the air. Soon we may see Uncle Sam's mail carriers flying in all directions, transporting mail. People take a wonderful interest in a discovery that benefits them. That's why Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs, Colds and other throat and lung diseases is the most popular medicine in America. "I cured me of a dreadful cough," writes Mrs. J. F. Davis, Stickney Corner, Me., "after doctor's treatment and all other remedies had failed." For coughs, colds or any bronchial affection its unequalled. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Ryner Malstrom Drug Co., 938 Pacific av.

of your own, you will look back and thank Cynthia Grey for telling you the truth, no matter how hard.

HE POSTPONES THE DATE. Dear Miss Grey: I am 33 years old, and am called a vivacious, good looking girl. About eighteen months ago, I met a man about 48 years of age, who is worth over $75,000. We soon became engaged, but he keeps postponing the date of our marriage. He had me throw up my position, and I spent the money I had saved on my trousseau. He is my first and only love, and I am almost crazy. HELEN. A.—I would go back to work, and if he does not come up to his word, I would demand an explanation in the presence of a witness. Do not get his money, but to teach him a lesson. If he does not give a good reason, drop him. You could never be happy with that sort of man. Better be single all your life than married to his kind.

HAIR, DRESSES--AND BOYS. "Cutie," "Trixie" and "Babe": I would have to know your height to tell the proper length of your dresses; and the shape of your faces to say what style of dressing the hair would be becoming.

Now as to going with boys, you don't think it quite right to have "regulars," or you would not ask me about it. Be with the boys and girls during your recreation hours as much as you like, but be level headed enough to attend to your studies--and don't part. And of course it is not right to allow the boys to kiss you when coming home from a dance--or any other time. It only shows that you are too young to be going to dances, and with the boys. Ribbons are still in style. CYNTHIA GREY.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you tell me where to obtain information in regard to a foreigner holding the position of forest ranger? P. O. B. A.—Write to the Secretary of the Interior, Washington, D. C.

Dear Miss Grey: I am a young man of 21. I have been married two years, and lived with my wife three months. We could not agree and had to separate. I came West. My folks are wealthy, and hold me responsible for the deed, and want me to go back to my wife. I refuse as I know that we can't get along. I am a total wreck, so please advise me. MAMMA'S BOY. A.—If you are at fault, why don't you quit saying "I can't," and begin to impress your grey matter with the words, "I'll try." Don't you know you are pampering yourself when you repeat "I can't," or "I'm a total wreck"? If you will begin to mentally impress upon yourself I can, you will soon see you are gaining a little every day. I don't advise you to go back until you can at least be man enough to make an honest try.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you please tell me what the fifteenth wedding anniversary is? Also what will be nice and inexpensive to serve? MRS. W. F. A.—The fifteenth anniversary is crystal. I would have everything as nearly white as possible. Clear soup, chicken, potatoes, asparagus tips on toast, salad of the white part of cabbage, or lettuce, white cake, and ices, with white stocks of celery, and a white jelly, will make a nice little menu.

MRS. V'S RECIPES

Spider Corncake. One and one-quarter cups cornmeal, 2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons butter, mix soda, salt and cornmeal, gradually add eggs well beaten and milk. Heat frying pan, grease sides and bottom of pan with butter, turn in the mixture, place on middle grate in hot oven and cook 20 minutes. You can halve this.
