Cynthia Grey and EVERY WOMAN'S Page

Phil Sheridan post and corps will start their Friday evening card parties held monthly this week at the state armory.

The Fern Hill Improvement club meets at the schoolhouse here Friday evening.

Mrs. Harry Mase will spend the week end with Mrs. Geo. Raymond at Raymond, Wash.

The literary section of the Women's club will meet Friday with Mrs. W. G. Martin, 1517 No. Prospect. Mrs. H. H. Johnston will have charge of the parliamentary drill, and Mrs. W. J. Thompson and Mrs. E. J. Phelps of the program.

An entertainment will be given at the Plymouth Congregational church Friday night, consisting of living pictures and music.

FASHIONS

Large collars in round, pointed or hood effects are much in evidence on new coats. They are usually finished off with long, narrow revers, ending below the waist line.

Muffs of fur or satin are trimmed with fringe, narrow and wide, and evening scarfs which are made of gauze and gathered in the middle of the back and over the arms, are also edged with a narrow silver or gold fringe.

Wide flat fur stoles about 10 or 12 inches across and nearly three yards in length are finished at either end with a rich fringe.

Black grenadines with borders of half a dozen satin stripes, in color, graduated in width, are made up over a satin the color of the stripes.

Masculine Derby for Girlish Face

A ribbon cockade of striped blue and white is the feature of a severe street hat for a fair spring maid. The shape is that of the masculine derby, modified with a straight brim. This is faced with dark blue velvet, which matches the straw in color. The ribbon trimming is satin, half of its width being plain blue, the other half blue and white striped. This surrounds the popular high crown, the cockade standing perkily up in front.

Cynthia Greys Letters

WHAT SOME WOMEN WANT

Dear Miss Grey: As you have given others good advice, I ask what I can do to make my case better. I am 30, and my wife, 32. She tells me that I run around with other women, and when we go to a show, she thinks I am making eyes at some girl, and seems to think I know every woman in town. When I don't kiss her when she thinks it is time, she says I don't love her any more. I make good wages, and give her my check every Saturday night, and do everything to please her, and never go out without her except to lodge, and very seldom to that. I will be very thankful to you.

A.—I believe you people think % Cynthia has some kind of wireless that she operates on the husband, wife, or sweetheart, as the case may be. One thing I am certain of, and that is that your wife did not lack for kisses when you were courting her. When will you men learn that there are women (thank God) who are not satisfied with a weekly check, and a husband going out with them. All these things are good, but you are not a pillar of virtue because you do them. There are women who are starved for love, and they will put up with all sorts of neglect in other ways because they have love. There are cases where a man or woman is abnormally jealous, but I think you are safe in showing more real affection toward your wife. If it is an ungrounded case, I would kiss her about every five minutes until she begged me to stop.

WHY? WHY? WHY?

Dear Miss Grey: Why is it improper for girls and boys (16-19) to be mushy, and is it absolutely improper? Is it proper for boys to call girls pet names, as "wifey"? Why is it wrong for girls and boys (ages mentioned) to think of love affairs? They will sooner or later anyway, won't they? BOOBY.

A.—My dear girl, don't it make you almost sick when you see someone else "mushy"—say a newly married couple out in company? It is not proper for anyone to be mushy, much less nice young girls and boys. You know that you would not for the world have signed your right name in writing me, and you would be ashamed for any older person to know that you are mushy. Why? Because you know by your womanly instinct that it is not right. The very fact that a boy will call first one girl and then another, "wifey," shows how that sacred name is being cheapened. Love stands for wisdom, for mother and fatherhood, and the girls and boys who spoon with every body and anybody, don't know the real meaning of the word. Of course boys and girls will think on these things, and no one would object if they looked at it in the right light—as something so beautiful that will come to their life, that they could not bear for every boy to hug them, and kiss them. I have not made up my mind whether you girls allow it in order to be popular, or because you enjoy it so much. Do you think that a friendship that depends on whether or not you give a kiss, is a true friendship—one that will help you if you are ever down? Are you so bad off for friends that you must keep them this way? Don't you know that when a boy gets "mad" because you won't kiss him, that he is "working" you so that you will? It is absolutely improper, girls, and for even more serious reasons than I am giving you in this answer. Cynthia Grey has your best good at heart, and wants to save you from the pain you are in danger of suffering from things that this very kissing habit leads to. I wish you would read from Girl to Womanhood, by Latimer. You can get it at the library.

The Meaning of the Ruby.

Dear Miss Grey: What does the ruby signify? And how should I wear my dresses at thirteen? WAITING.

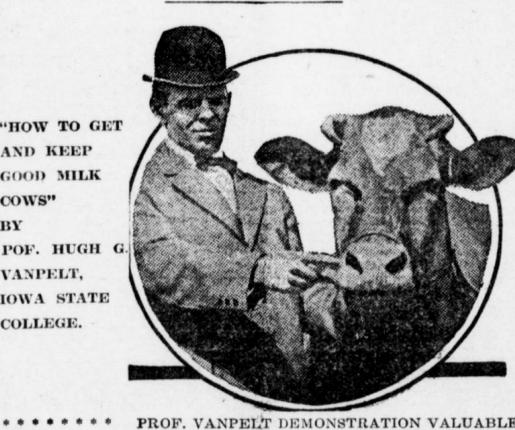

A.—The ruby denotes fidelity, and friendship. Wear your dresses half way between the knee and the shoe tops. WASHING A SWEATER. Dear Miss Grey: I would like to know how to wash one of the new sweaters. My mother washed mine and it is so much longer. Can you tell me how to get it shorter? B. F.

A.—If you had basted it between two pieces of cheese cloth, and hung it out to dry, it would have been all right. If it will not make it too tight for you, you can dip it in very hot soap suds, then into clear hot water, and dry it as I have told you. Use a pure white soap.

St. Patrick's Nationality. Dear Miss Grey: Some years ago, a book was written by an author who signed himself "A Mere Man." Can you tell me who he is and what his books are? I would also like to know the nationality of St. Patrick.

A.—I cannot tell you about this particular "Mere Man." It may be some of my readers can. Almost all countries arrogate to themselves the honor of having been the natal soil of St. Patrick, Scotland, England, France and Wales, all furnish pretensions.

PROF. VANPELT DEMONSTRATION VALUABLE POINTS IN GOOD COW. A good cow has five essential features—constitution, nervous temperament, capacity, blood circulation and ability. Weed out your herds until you have good cows with these five essential points. Then you will begin to make money. The fat average today is less than 140 pounds a year, although some cows give up to 1,200 pounds. A cow giving less than 100 pounds of butter fat a year, and there are many of them, is a dead loss. Her keeping is greater than the amount turned in for butter. Get rid of her at once. Take your cows individually and test them. Find out what each costs you in maintenance, and what each brings you in. Get rid of the losers. Get good sires, and you will have good helpers. Feed and breed right. There's where the secret of dairy success lies. You will then begin to be a successful dairy farmer. Would it not be better to have a cow that cost $60 a year to feed and that produces 400 pounds of butter fat that will sell for $120, and make $60 on her, instead of $60 on 60 poor cows? Thousands of farmers are milking and feeding cows for a profit of $1 a year per cow. And these are the men who constantly bewail the low prices and who are ever in debt head over heels.

two girls, interested in your letters, and hope you will be kind enough to tell us how to make rose beads. If you will we will be very happy. E. & L. A.—Run rose petals through the meat grinder eight times daily for eight days; roll into balls the size of beads wanted, and string on hat pins.

Shall She Marry Him? Dear Miss Grey: I am a reader of your paper and letters and would like your advice. I am a young woman, 19 years old. My parents died when I was young. I fell in love and we lived together two years. He disappeared suddenly, and I heard he had another wife. He has been gone nearly three years. I keep house for a lady, and her son thinks lots of me and we are engaged. But his folks and kinfolks don't like me. If we marry he intends to have me stay with his folks. Shall I break the engagement? I am well liked by others. Shall I go to those who want me, or stay? PUZZLED.

A.—The first thing for you to do is to find out whether or not you were legally married. If you cannot find out, or if you learn that you were, you must get a divorce. It will be some time after you get the divorce before you can marry, and by that time family disagreements may have straightened out. If they don't, I wouldn't advise you to marry a mature, very tactful woman if and stay with the man's relatives unless you are very sure you can and I am afraid you cannot meet be happy in the midst of inhar-

MR. GROCER: HERE'S A GOOD SIGN TO POST IN YOUR STORE. (But Not Unless You Live Up to It.)

CATSUP OR KETCHUP

COLORED WITH COAL-TAR DYES OR PRESERVED WITH BENZOATE, CANNOT BE BOUGHT HERE. OUR CATSUP IS MADE OF CLEAN, WHOLE TOMATOES, NOT TOMATO-PULP, OR SWEEPINGS. THE RIGHT KIND DOESN'T NEED POISONOUS DYES OR PRESERVATIVES

The Daily Times would like to see this sign in every grocery in Tacoma. There's absolutely no excuse for poisonous dyes or preservative chemicals in tomato catsup. But lots of alleged catsup on the market contains both. Catsup can be made of fresh, ripe tomatoes and bottled without acid. SOME manufacturers make that kind. Others use benzoate of soda to preserve their product. Probably the small amount of acid used doesn't hurt much. But it's a confession that the stuff wouldn't "keep" otherwise. Do you want the kind of catsup that won't "keep" without acid?
