Cynthia Grey's Aid to Home-makers.

Dear Miss Grey: What will clean a white felt hat?—Brown Eyes.

A.—Make a paste with gasoline and constraich, scrub the hat with a clean fine brush and hang out in the air to dry. Brush well. Be careful about fire.

Dear Miss Grey: I cleaned a spot from a black serge skirt with gasoline and it left a ring. How can I remove that?—Housewife.

A.—Wet spot again with gasoline, then cover with Fuller's earth. Let stand until dry, then brush well. Repeat if one application does not succeed.

Dear Miss Grey: Please give recipe for old-fashioned doughnuts.—Mrs. P. P. M.

A.—Three eggs, one cup sugar, 1/2 cup butter, 3 pints bread sponge. Mix with hand as soft as possible. Let rise. Mold again. Flour bread board, roll dough 1/2 inch thick and cut out. Let rise 1/2 hour and fry.

HOW STALE BREAD MAY BE USED.

First cut off the crust; dry the crust and crumbs in separate tins. After quite dry put crumbs through grinder, then sift out the coarse to use for stuffing or making scollops. The fine keep for croquettes and fritters and many other things. Take the dry crust and put through the grinder twice to make extra fine; keep for frying chops, cutlets and fish. I take an egg and beat it well, with a pinch of salt; then dip chop or cutlet in the egg, then in the crust and fry slowly, turning twice. In that way it will be well done and not greasy. I also use the crumbs for pancakes: one egg, one cup of crumbs, one cup of sour milk, one level teaspoonful of soda (mixed in the milk), one small cup of bread flour, a pinch of salt. Mix and fry in lard or dripping. We eat them in place of vegetable.

HAS $30,000,000 BUT NO ONE TO PLAY WITH

WM. B. LEEDS, JR.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Feb. 5. —When Montclair people refer to "that poor little boy," the object of their sympathy isn't some poverty stricken urchin of the very poor. It is an 8-year-old heir to $30,000,000. William B. Leeds, Jr., upon whom all this sympathy is heaped. Folks who pass by the Leeds mansion here call him the "Little Prince Lonely," as they notice his wistful, longing face pressed against the window "Little Prince Lonely" has all that money can buy; 15 servants wait on him—BUT THERE IS NO ONE TO PLAY WITH HIM!

The other day "Little Prince Lonely" stood by his window watching some ragged lads making a snow man out in the street; they were having such a lively time throwing snowballs at the snow man they had made. Tears came to the rich boy's eyes and his governess bundled him up and sent him out in the spacious grounds about the mansion to play in the snow. Soon he came back crying that he "had no one to play with him." A coachman was sent out to play. Mrs. Leeds, the mother of "Little Prince Lonely," went to London a month ago to resume her social duties, entertaining dukes and duchesses. She is kept informed of her son's condition daily by cablegram.

New Way to Carry Your Parasol

A summer fad has started at Palm Beach. The maids and matrons at the winter summering place carry their parasols strapped over their shoulder. The parasols for the coming hot season will be gay in coloring, pale pink, delicate violet and beige blue ones already being displayed. These parasols have the long handle which permit of the high crowned hats and where the silk shade meets the handle a broad satin ribbon or a netted cord is placed. This has either bows and loops or tassels. The long loop of ribbon goes over the shoulder and permits the parasol to hang at the side.

MR. GROCER: HERE'S A GOOD SIGN TO POST IN YOUR STORE. (But Not Unless You Live Up to It.)

JELLY POWDERS YOU CAN'T GET THEM HERE. ASK ONE OF OUR CLERKS TO TELL YOU THE MISERABLE STORY OF HOW THEY ARE MADE.

Gelatines and jelly powders are simply bleached and deodorized glue, to which artificial dye and artificial flavoring extracts have been added. This is true of all jelly powders. The bones of dead horses and the refuse of the slaughter house are the materials from which many of these "fancy" foods are prepared. On a diet of gelatine a mouse would not live two weeks.

Flame Red Bit of Color On All the Spring Hats, Says Madame Maerie

BY MADAME MAERIE. President National Association of Retail Milliners.

Spring hats are skyhigh this season. Some of the most striking features are: Small and close-fitting shapes. Flowers of taffeta ribbon. Wings of straw.

Velvet crowns and straw brims. Velvet quills hand painted. Taffeta silk quills embroidered in colors.

Quills from 18 to 24 inches long. Flame red on every hat. The hats will not permit "rats" being worn this spring, for they fit well down on the head.

The hats are almost bonnets in shape and vary from six inches in front to ten inches in back. There is no brim on the ones for street wear. It will be necessary to dress the hair low.

To offset the narrowness and height of the quills of straw, velvet or taffeta changeable silk are made. These are about six inches wide at the base and slope to a point 18 or 20 inches distant. The quill contrasts with the hat.

A bonnet that will please all young women and is proper for street and dress wear is the Dutch bonnet. This I think is a shape that will suit the majority of faces. This bonnet is without a brim, the short end to the back, showing the hair dressed low and the crown triangular in shape, made of white lace with a chiffon foundation. It has an edging of black velvet and bows fastened on the corners turned back.

A new feature and one that is proving popular is the corded taffeta hat. The winter tourists are back and discloses black velvet. A responsible for this. The women who go south this month are responsible for the new reds. Flame red is a favorite and a touch is on everything. It has as close rivals in brilliant blue and the soft warm shades of green. A reversible hat is the latest achievement of the milliners. One seen was in red and black. A small close fitting hat with an apology for a brim which rolls back and discloses black velvet. A

Cynthia Grey's Letters

Hair and Disposition. Dear Miss Grey: I am a girl of 19 and a blonde, but I am much worried about my hair, because there is a light streak that seems to be getting worse all the time. I am told that my disposition is very trying—that I give very short answers when anyone speaks to me. Can you tell me why my cheeks flush after eating? I would really appreciate your advice.

SUBSCRIBER. A.—Nerves, or disposition, is evidently at the bottom of all your trouble—that is, it is the thing to begin on in order to at least assist in a cure. No matter what the cause, this is where you must begin. I wish you would read "In Tune With the Infinite," which you can get at any library, and the "Providence of Good" at any Christian Science reading room. And try to get yourself in tune with this great and beautiful plan of life. Over-eating may cause the flushing after meals. If so, eat less, and do not worry about it. It is nothing serious. You might try pure, unscented vasoline on the scalp where the hair is lighter. Massage it well. In shampooing use the egg shampoo, with luke warm water.

"Grizzly Bear," I am sorry I cannot give you "Kelly's" address, but do not have it.

"A Reader," I do not think the peroxide will injure if used as it comes. Follow by an application of good cream, at night. Cornmeal mixed with a little water is also good. Leave the pack on about 20 minutes.

Is Mother Right; or Son? Dear Miss Grey: I have been going with certain companions who are as respectable as I am, but my mother objects to them. I am 21, and have two trades, at which I can work, and am going to learn another, and I think I am capable of taking care of myself. What would you advise me to do? E. G.

A.—As I do not know just how respectable you are, it is hard to say, but I do think it is good to go with people just a little better than ones self, and that may be the view your mother takes. You will only have one mother in this world, and I would advise that you please her where it is possible. If you do not you may someday suffer from great remorse. The strong man is the one who can be gentle and who does not think he is always capable of guiding himself.

Not Worth It. Dear Miss Grey: Your column is the most interesting part in the paper. I met a young man not long ago, and became infatuated. At first he seemed to think the world of me. Escorted me to theaters, dinners, etc., but lately he hasn't treated me fair. I think he has "copped" some other girl, and I feel distressed. How can I retain his love?

YOUNG DAMSEL. A.—You will be one step nearer retaining a man's love when you awaken to the fact that theaters, dinners, etc., while right in their place, are not the foundation on which to build your future. If he has another girl, let him go. Honestly, now, you wouldn't want me to tell you to hold him, would you? Even if you get him, think what a life job you will have "holding" him.

Dickens' Well Beloved Heroines

BY LITTLE MARCHIONESS.

THE MARCHIONESS AT CRIBBAGE.

"Oh, please," said a little voice very low down in the doorway, "will you come and show the lodgings?" There was never such an old fashioned child in her looks and manner. She must have been at work from her cradle.

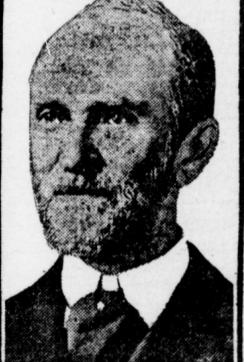

"Why don't you show 'em yourself? You seem to know all about 'em," said Dick.

"Miss Sally said I wasn't to, because people wouldn't believe the attendance was good if they saw how small and dirty I was first."

"Now, then, to cribbage," sez Mr. Dick Swiveller. "Here are the stakes, two sixpences. If you win, you get 'em all. To make it seem more real and pleasant, I shall call you the Marchioness. Do you hear? Then, Marchioness, fire away!"—From "Old Curiosity Shop."

Hubbies, It's Up To You

Wives Organize Club to Better Home Conditions—Takes Two to Make a Bargain.

REV ISAAC CROOK

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 5.—The club women of Spokane have a good hunch. They have organized the "Stay at Home" league.

Every member is pledged to remain at home three evenings each week. On these evenings, when husband and wife are bath home, matters of local and national interest are discussed. This, it is believed, will advance the state of domestic felicity in a direction that will procure the ideal condition between man and wife.

The organization is the result of a series of lectures delivered by Rev. Isaac Crook, who says it has been conclusively demonstrated that unless something is done the home life of the American will soon be a thing of the past. Incidentally, women's clubs are mentioned as one of the main reasons for the lack of interest in the home.

Right here is where the women come back. "Women do not join the clubs because they want to belong to them," stated one of the social elect. "It is because there is so much time to be filled up in the absence of the husband that a woman turns to her club as a means of disposing of it."

It still remains for the husbands to endorse this movement, so it looks like it is up to the men whether or not the "Stay at Home" league goes through.

OMAHA.—Mrs. S. Zschau, who began dieting six months ago to recover her health, died of starvation, according to physicians.
