

BRIDGES ASKS FOR MORE TIME

Sam Bridges, ex-federal court clerk here, was to have appeared to plead to the indictment against him for embezzlement yesterday, but his attorney begged for more time. He has engaged Walter Harvey as counsel. Harvey asked postponement, and Judge Cushman set the case for August 19.

The first criminal case to be tried in this court will be that of Charles E. Houston and John H. Bullock charged, charged by the government with entering into conspiracy to rob the government by collusion on coal bids taken at Seattle a few years ago. This case will come on Sept. 17. Practically all the big lawyers in the northwest have been retained by the defense.

The Elmer Amidon census case will come up again October 1.

The other indictment against Guy Kelly has been nolleed, and Amidon is the only one left to try.

CRIES WHOA TO HIS AUTOMOBILE

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Aug. 6.—Walter Homer Harper, a Bucks township farmer, purchased an automobile. The following day he took his first ride. Everything went well until the speeder hit a stretch of level road when Walter Homer put his machine in high speed. Then he forgot the combination. "Whoa! whoa! whoa that, old girl!" he shouted, thinking he was bringing up the rear in the furrow. About this time the machine hit a telephone pole. Harper jumped in time to save himself.
