

BANK CLERK IN TOILS OF LAW

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 30.—R. H. Moore, teller in the All Night and Day bank, formerly a clerk in the bank at Parkersburg, W. Va., is held here today on a bench warrant issued in West Virginia, charging embezzlement.

WOMAN KILLS 28 SNAKES

(By United Press Leased Wire.) NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Mrs. M. McCoy, Eastchester road, is exterminating the black-snakes from that section of the city. She has killed twenty-eight snakes this year. Mrs. McCoy is the mother of Bessie McCoy, who recently married Richard Harding Davis.

PLEASE BE SENSIBLE AND TELL HOW BIG THE MOON LOOKS

How big does the moon look to you? The Moon Editor has asked the question every day for several days now and so far he hasn't had a satisfactory answer. Not a single, solitary one. The batch of answers that came in today's mail were so foolish that the Moon Editor, who is himself a lunatic (indeed lunacy is the one qualification for the job), was utterly disgusted. He's printing them, not because they're any good, but in the hope that you will feel sorry for him. Here they are:

To the Moon Editor: Your interesting, if foolish, question reminds me of Shelley's (or was it Keats?) (possibly it was Ella Wheeler Wilcox's) immortal ode: That orb'd maiden, With white fire laden, Whom mortals call the moon! How beautiful that is! And how true! So why worry about her size? NARCISUS NIXON.

A SMACKING FINE ANSWER. Dear Moony Spoony Editor: The moon looks to me a ball of silver glory, just big enough to light my sweetheart's footsteps to the rose-lined path where I wait to whisper words of love. ENGAGED.

To the Moon Editor: Hi, diddle, diddle! Said the cat to the fiddle, A cow fell from a balloon. And asked, "What is the size of the moon?" PRO BONO PUBLICO.

But What's the Diameter? To the Moon Editor: I am surprised at your lack of erudition. How large is the moon? Do you not know—or have you forgotten—that the circumference of a circle is the diameter multiplied by 3.1416? HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATE.

PRUNES ARE NOW HERE

Extra choice Yakima prunes are now on the market, large shipments having arrived at the local markets yesterday. They are selling for 50 cents a box, a reasonable price. A car of bananas, two cars of onions and three cars of peaches also arrived yesterday.

Is This Why English Beauties Are So Fair? Every since the discovery that mercurized wax would whiten and remove a soiled complexion, its use by ladies as a substitute for toilet cream has grown rapidly. A perfect complexion can be maintained indefinitely if this remarkable substance is used. Its beneficial cleansing, clearing and preservative action is quickly apparent, and ladies who have been paying as high as a guinea a jar for "special cream" from beauty specialists, soon recognize that mercurized wax outranks them all. It has become so popular that it can be obtained at all chemist shops in the British Isles. American druggists also have great demand for it, in original one-ounce packages. The favorite way of using is to apply it, like cold cream, before retiring, washing it off in the morning. The sallow lotion for wrinkles and the facial contour has also become extremely popular. One ounce powdered sallowite is dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this has a splendid effect.
