KOEPKEY NO MATCH FOR ED HAGEN

If some one had told Frank Koepkey a few nights ago that he was a world beater and some day would be destined to wear the crown formerly in the possession of John L. and a few other satellites of the prize ring—

He would have believed it.

Approach the same youngster this morning and in the role of the prophet lay before him a brilliant future in ring circles and you'll probably get what he tried to give Ed Hagen, Seattle cop, last night at the Eagles' smoker. Those who were present are familiar with the brief proceedings in the ring. Koepkey was touted as a comer with a punch. Hagen carried a rep a mile long, and a kick that carried the force of a "billie."

The two met. No time was wasted. Koepkey bored in and bored out. Hagen landed telling blows. Thirty seconds after the first round started he whipped out a vicious right swing that caught Koepkey in the stomach and another that looked like a right uppercut and Koepkey went down and stayed down. It was a very short encounter and proved that Koepkey is only a novice at the game, while Hagen, unscientific, displayed more knowledge with the mitts.

Charley Givens and Chett Neff in the semi-windup essayed to do a little parlor boxing in their four round session. Their alleged exhibition of boxing should be sufficient reason for banning both from local smokers.

Roscoe Taylor went four fast rounds with Harry Bishop and won the decision. Bishop was unable to land his favorite right haymaker but nevertheless made a fine showing against the clever Taylor.

"Young" Baker, a substitute in the Mussion match for Pat Hunt, proved that he could fight some. He buffeted Mussion around the ring for four rounds and several times had him near dreamland. He deserved the decision given him by Referee Shock.

Art Yordy, former Tacoma boy, won his match from Augie Christie, the South Tacoma middleweight, in the first round. Christie was unable to continue.

Joe Hennessy and Kid Williams of San Francisco and Chicago, respectively, put up a slashing bout for three rounds when Hennessy won by a knockout. This bout was an added attraction and proved an interesting one.

The Eagles are planning on holding another smoker April 17 at Eagles' hall.

PROMISING "RED" CATCHER CAUGHT BY CAMERA MAN

MOBILE, Ala., March 28.—Bright the baseball star of Harry Chapman, recruit catcher of the Cincinnati club. Mike Finn, Mobile manager and the man who put Little Rock, Ark., on the baseball map, says "Chappie" has as good a throwing arm as any youngster he ever saw.

Finn vented his opinion as he watched the recruit stop Donnie Bush, the Detroit infielder, at second. Bush secured a long lead and he went down in a business-like manner, but Chapman turned him back with ease, earning the praise of the veteran manager.

MORNING BLOSSOMS

Cy Neighbors is there with the strong arm again. Kurtuss punked a hit into right the other day and Cyrus Cecil threw him out at the first bag.

Harris and Fischer are two outfield recruits that will bear watching. Each of them appears to be fast, a good hitter, and with marked ability for grabbing long high ones.

Joe McGinnity is proud of the fact that he has no boozers on the team. That's right. Bill Yohe and Odie Abbott are not playing here now.

Speaking of Abbott, he seems to have been shoved out of a position in left field for the Oaks, Schirm, the Buffalo boy, being too good to waste.

BENEFIT GAME FOR SUFFERERS

To aid those suffering from the ravages of fire and flood in the East, a baseball game will be played next Tuesday at Athletic park between the Tigers and a team of Tacoma amateurs, probably the Elks or the Barbers' A. C. President McGinnity will donate his team's services and the park, in addition to buying two boxes for the game for $25.

Many people think double prices should be charged for the occasion, and $25 may be done. The advance sale of tickets will be in the hands of Mrs. Lulu Moore.

There was no game on the Everett field yesterday, owing to its being suffering from a flood of its own.

Football Schedule For High School

Although the football season is little more than over for this season, the schedule for the Stadium high school is complete with the exception of one practice date for next fall. Coach Perkins believes in playing at home and out of nine scheduled games has seven at home and two at Seattle. The other game will be a practice affair and will be played in the Stadium. The following is a complete arrangement of next fall's games:

Sept. 27—Open, Stadium.
Oct. 4—Olympia in Stadium.
Oct. 11—Broadway at Seattle.
Oct. 18—Lewis-Clark of Spokane in Stadium.
Oct. 25—Queen Anne at Seattle.
Nov. 1—Aberdeen in Stadium.
Nov. 8—Everett in Stadium.
Nov. 15—Franklin in Stadium.
Nov. 27—Lincoln in Stadium.

FLEXNER—DISEASE GERM SLEUTH WHO HE IS AND WHAT HE'S DOING.

DR. SIMON FLEXNER.

John D. Rockefeller has one soft spot in his gold plated Harveyized steel view of things—the spot where Dr. Simon Flexner stands. The Oil King had a granddaughter once who became afflicted with spinal meningitis. She died. Her death is the first thing ever known to wring tears from the eyes of the man who made the Oil trust, the first thing to put a touch of human feeling in him—at least her death was the first occasion the people had ever been given an opportunity to see that Rockefeller had a heart.

He determined that instead of endowing universities and libraries with his zeros and millions he would devote some of it to exploring the wilds where bacteria live and have their being with the idea of finding out what causes meningitis of the spine and what could be done to cure it.

That is where Dr. Simon Flexner comes in. Rockefeller found Flexner in Philadelphia, where he was studying bacteria in the University hospital and the Ayer clinical laboratory of the Pennsylvania hospital. He presented Flexner with a book full of signed checks and told him to find what causes meningitis and how to cure it. And if there were not enough checks in the book to come back and get another book.

And Flexner found the germ and the thing to kill it, with the result that the death rate from spinal meningitis was reduced from 50 per cent to less than 25 per cent. And it is still going down. That is the Flexner way of doing things. When he got through with meningitis he started in on infantile paralysis. These two things had a great deal in common. Dr. Flexner announced a year or so ago that the germs of infantile paralysis were so small that none of the instruments then in existence were capable of showing it. So he asked for time to get new instruments—he had to invent them and tell someone how to make them. But he did it. And now—today—he says he HAS FOUND THE GERM OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS and is head over heels at work on a thing that WILL KILL IT.

Flexner is not yet 50 years of age—he'll reach the half century mark this year—but he's crowded his life with so much study and research that his mind has bridged 2,000 years of medical and surgical practice and knowledge.

Short Sport

Another "white hope" added to our gallery of relics.

We would like to see more of "Spike" Hennessy. He sure looks good, from what little we have seen of him.

Jack Howard is a peculiar fighter. Jack has fought several times in the past year and has never trained so much as a day for any of his contests. At that he does pretty well.

Pat Dorian sure can hit, but he cannot stand to be hit. Howard had him shaky several times.

Tom Armstrong was strong with the bell last night. Some rounds Tom would get in two rings to make sure the fighters had heard him.

"Young" Baker made a decided hit last night in his bout with Harry Mussion. Baker proved a willing mixer with a strong punch. He would make a good attraction on the next Eagles' card.

Barbers' Athletic club baseball team is anxious to stage a game with the Tigers for the benefit of the sufferers in the storms in the East. Those barbers are good sports as well as good ball players.

High School Has Eleven Games

Coach Baird of the Stadium high school baseball team has announced the following schedule for his team.

March 29—Parkland academy at Parkland
April 2—Parkland academy at Stadium

April 9—Tigers in Athletic park.
April 10—Tigers in Athletic park.
April 11—Broadway at Seattle.
April 26—Olympia at Olympia.
May 3—Queen Anne in Stadium.
May 10—Lincoln in Stadium.
May 17—Broadway in Stadium.
May 29—Lincoln at Seattle.
June 4—Franklin in Stadium.

OUR QUESTION BOX.

Dear Sir: What shall I do with a glass arm? Beebus, the Simple-Minded Simp.

Throw it away, Maggie.

So many pitheers have them nowadays, it isn't worth while to save 'em.

According to the latest reports, the Blonde Beauty will not get Stanley from the Portland Coast-ers after all. McCredie has reconsidered.

Foley and Conroy, the young Tiger receivers, are going to make the others hustle. They have lots of pep and spirit about them.
