MISS PAUL IS PLEASED WITH SITUATION

By Gilson Gardner.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Much pleasure is expressed by Miss Alice Paul, in charge of woman's suffrage headquarters in Washington, at the British government's latest move in suppressing the militant headquarters in London and threatening with arrest all who speak or print suffrage literature.

"That is perfectly fine," said Miss Paul. "They could not have done anything better to forward the cause of suffrage. The government has shown its usual stupidity. They have created a situation impossible for themselves. They are denying freedom of speech, freedom of assemblage, and freedom of the press—everything for which the British voter has fought for centuries and which are justly regarded as indispensable to free government."

"How can it go on? What will the women do?" "They will do just as they have been doing. What is to prevent?" "Arrests and going to jail?" "But that is what has been going on right along. The women have faced jail for practically everything they did whether it was presenting a petition to Parliament or making a speech. This new move does not change the situation. The women will go on speaking, and they will be arrested, and as fast as one woman is arrested there will be another to take her place. You don't suppose, do you, that there is any lack of women in England?"

"How about printing?" "There will be no trouble about getting the literature printed. It will be found everywhere: on the streets, in the parks, the shops, everywhere, even more plentifully than before."

"Won't this fill the English jails with women?" "Certainly it will. They will expect to fill the jails so full that they will have to build larger ones."

TACOMA TO HAVE NEW WATER

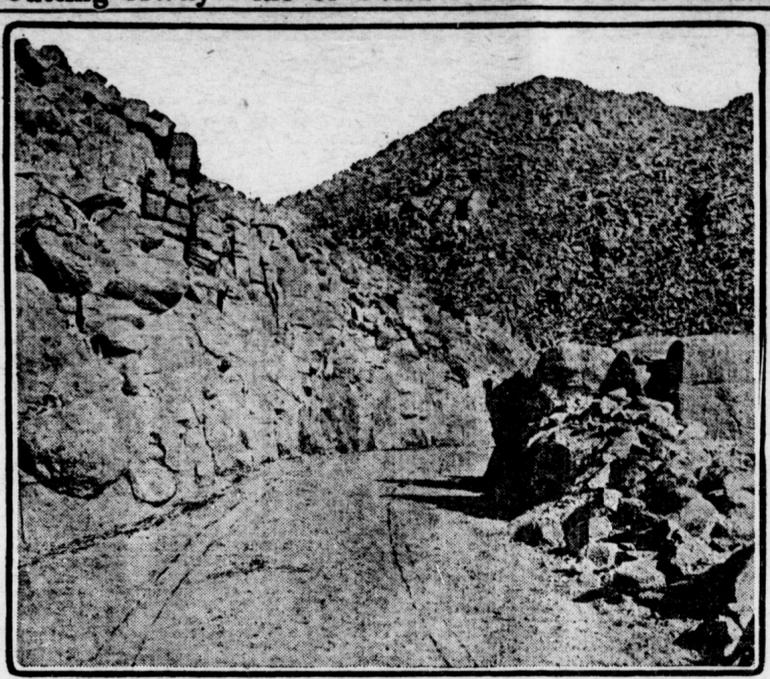

Green river water will be in Tacoma next week. The pressure was put on the George Wright pipe yesterday and the force of water rounded the big pipe right back into shape and leaks in fine shape. The leaking had been caused by the pipe flattening and the water rounded it up to its original form.

Everything is ready now for the health department to give the word to turn the water into the city pipes. After a conference with the city attorney, health officer and engineers this morning it was practically agreed that water would be turned in next week.

Cutting Away Hills of Solid Rock To Make Road

PART OF THE ROAD.

SAN DIEGO, May 4.—Carved through rock and stone, with great crags jutting overhead, and the royal Salton Sea, its sand dunes and its sheltering hills in the distance, there is in construction between Imperial county and San Diego, one of the finest scenic routes in America. It seems more than probable to San Diegans who have witnessed the grandeur and the fitness of that part of the road already completed not far from the famous Devil's canyon, that the state will take the highway as its own and that this route will be taken for the ocean-to-ocean road of which so much has been said.

The building of the highway has been no easy job. Several thousand dollars have been spent on dynamite alone, and the sides of huge hills have been blown off, and rocky hillsides carved away to the depth of 170 feet, to hew the road through a veritable devil's cauldron of stone. And all this had to be done far from the base of supplies, hauling men, food, powder, tools, wagons and tents for the road camp for many miles.

ROSE SHOW TO BE BIGGER THAN EVER

Everybody will be allowed to enter the contest for prizes at the coming Tacoma rose show, according to action taken by the club last night. Heretofore only those who were members of the society could compete. A new classification for the 43 prizes to be awarded this year was made. Instead of prizes for each variety of rose, the prizes will be awarded this year under a classification of color. Thus roses of different varieties will be competing against each other.

The Tacoma florists last night pledged exhibits and co-operation in the show.

MINISTERS TO PROTEST THE SUNDAY RACES

Fifty ministers and laymen of Tacoma decided last night at a meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. to enter a formal protest to the committee in charge of the road races during the Festo, against holding the automobile races on Sunday. A committee was appointed to wait on the directors. Mayor Seymour and Justice F. A. Magill are members of the committee selected to meet the directors.

Theatrical

Tacoma—Today, moving pictures. Thursday, John Drew in "The Perplexed Husband." Patentes—Vaudeville all week, afternoon and evening. Melbourne—Moving pictures.

AT THE TACOMA

How beliefs in votes for women can be theorized in and then laughed out of any given household is the gist of "The Perplexed Husband"—the merriest and most popular comedy John Drew has acted in years. The crowded, typical fashionable Drew audiences that filled the Empire theater, New York, during his three months at that playhouse, did not only enjoy that actor at his best but a suffragette comedy that contains a decidedly useful recipe for any married couple. Mr. Drew comes to the Tacoma theater Thursday night. His company this season includes Miss Mary Boland, Miss Alice John and Miss Nina Sevensing, all of whom are capably cast in "The Perplexed Husband."

W. K. Lai, the Chinese tenor, is the feature of the bill at the Tacoma theater this week. Mr. Lai has an excellent voice and has made a great hit with Tacoma patrons. The new picture program starting today is composed of the following reels: "The Queen of Spades," two part Oines drama; "The Left Handed man," Biograph; "Steuthing," Vitagraph comedy; "School of Gymnastics in France," "The Cuttlefish," Pathe. There will be no pictures Thursday night, owing to the engagement of John Drew.

GEO. E. YOUNG. MELBOURNE

George E. Young of Los Angeles has been engaged by Manager John Seifert of the Melbourne theater for a two weeks' engagement. Young is a singer of reputation all along the coast. He has been called the "silver voiced tenor" because of the wonderful clarity of his tones. Mr. Seifert considers Mr. Young to be the best musical attraction he has booked since the theater has opened.

DRAUGHTSMEN DRAW NEW TAX CHART

ROYAL DENIES HE WAS OUT JOY RIDING

Brief denial that he was joyriding and had been caught in the raid on the Seven-Mile house was made by A. E. Royal, former member of the police force, who was summarily discharged yesterday afternoon by Chief Loomis. "It was about an hour after I finished my shift when I met a friend of mine in a machine who asked me to take a ride," said Royal. "I was not on duty. We had only gone a short distance when he stopped and picked up two women. I could not dictate about his friends. We drove around the prairie awhile, and then returned by the way of the road house."

Royal may fight the case with the civil service commission.

PRIEST CAN USE MITTS VERY WELL

NEW YORK, May 7.—When craving for diversion of a flistic character, it behooved the visitor to West street, where the docks of the great steamship lines are strung and get acquainted with Rev. Phillip J. Magrath, the "Fighting Father" of the waterfront. If in the mood—and he is always in the mood to do battle for the cause of honesty, justice and decency—Father Magrath may permit you to trot around his "parish" with him. If this rare treat befalls you and you come through alive, you will have seen something to tell the folks back home.

Hardly a night passes that the rubicund, genial and kindly-eyed priest does not find it necessary, or at least congenial, to supplement his religious instructions with a wallop to the jaw of some seven-foot stevedore or waterfront crook. His wallop, by the way, contains the soporific power of a ton of chloroform. The recipient has the feeling—on waking—of having been slapped by an elephant. Not that Father Magrath goes about looking for trouble—far be it from such. "I'm a peaceful man of the church," he will tell you solemnly, "and I detest having any trouble. But once in a while it is necessary to point out the right path with the fist instead of with some beautiful language which won't be understood." Father Magrath also insists that he is humane in his method of visiting the wrath of Providence on his recalcitrant parishioners. "I hate to hurt them," he said, "so I always try to wind up any argument with one punch. Usually I make my man understand the blessedness of the faith and the advantages of decent living with one right hook to the jaw."

"Ain't It Awful Mabel?"

When the dignity of an august city councilman gets wounded isn't it awful! One of the real sad spectacles of the year was presented this morning when Commissioners Mills and Woods discovered that the newspapers were finding out things that were going to come before the city council before they did.

The way these worthies laid the dust with their tears was indeed heartrending. "I don't think it's right," said Mills. "Here we councilmen read about things in the papers that are to come before us before we ever have had opportunity to see them! I would like to know how this occurs. If the clerk gives these matters out I think we should instruct him not to let the newspapers have them until after they have been brought before this council." "And that's right, too," chimed Woods. "They should be brought before the council first."

"Aw, I don't see that it hurts anything, sometimes it is an advantage to know what is coming up beforehand," said the mayor, trying to console the two councilmen.

But they were inconsolable. Their dignity had been completely shattered and they were still bewailing their sad fate after the council adjourned.
