ducers. Good fresh milk and raw eggs are the best nourishment there is. You should drink a quart of milk a day and you may add the beaten eggs to it. Malted milk also is considered fine. Take a tablespoonful of olive oil each morning on arising; sleep at least eight hours, and don't worry.

A Bitter Disappointment.

Dear Miss Grey: I am a reader of your answers to those who are in trouble in various ways, and I also wish a favor.

I have a very nice lady friend whom I love dearly. About two and one half months ago I met a very bitter disappointment through her, and have tried my best to locate the cause of the way she treats me. I have written to her twice and called at her home once to try and learn the reason of her coolness toward me, but have received no satisfaction or reasons for it.

I have done my best to be kind and gentlemanly toward her, and cannot understand the cause of her attitude. Do you think I would be justified in continuing my effort, or would you let the matter drop and say nothing more about it. Remember, I love her dearly, though I have received no encouragements.

PATIENTLY WAITING. A.—Here is nothing more uncertain than "Fate," and we are often denied the companionship of those we love dearest.

I advise you to let the affair rest for awhile. It is quite possible from the young lady's attitude she does not care for you in the way you care for her; at any event, she should be frank and speak her mind.

"Time and Tide Wait for No Man."

Dear Miss Grey: You have helped others, and I know you can help me. I am a girl of sixteen, and have never gone with a fellow in my life. The girls say I am foolish to turn them all down; do you think so?

If some fellow I like asks to keep company with me, should I accept? May I hope to see the answer in a near issue?

"SWEET SIXTEEN. A.—You are not so foolish as your girl friends. Don't be prudish and regard the boys as some sort of wild animals; and don't, as the slang phrase goes, "get them on the brain."

It is strange young folks cannot strike a medium and seek each other's society as friends and companions. "Time and tide wait for no man," and they are wise boys and girls who prepare themselves for the world while they have the chance, and leave this great "love" problem to work itself out, as it is bound to, in the natural order of things.

Discoverer of the North Pole Dear Miss Grey: Who was the first to reach the North Pole and received credit for same, Captain Peary or Cook? Was it ever proved? This is to settle a dispute, so please answer at your earliest convenience.

WAITING. A.—Captain Peary has been officially recognized as the discoverer and was awarded a medal by the government in honor of same.

"The Blouse Net Softens and Beautifies," says Billie Burke

I wonder if you had added one of the dainty net blouses to your summer wardrobe. If you have not I would advise you to do so. There is nothing prettier than just plain net over one's flesh—it softens and beautifies any skin.

The French women have all known this for ages. The American girl will buy heavy laces or delicate chiffons, but she has hitherto seemed to think that net was "cheap." It can be bought in a very fine quality, but that you buy for one dollar a yard is beautiful.

The simplest clothes a girl can wear are the most becoming. Youth needs no embellishment, for then the eyes are bright with enthusiasm; the mouth curls up with laughter, and the skin is tinted with the real joy of being alive.

Cynthia Grey's Answers

No Spending Money for a Time. Dear Miss Grey: Can you tell me why it is that a boy who stays home at nights never has any friends? Am paying off a mortgage on my place and never have any spending money for a good time. When I come home from my work at night, I eat supper and go out in the garden and at 8 o'clock go to bed.

18 AND LONESOME. A.—You cannot expect to make friends if you seclude yourself from the world and do not mingle with others. I admire you for your ability and ambition to pay off the mortgage as duty should always come before pleasure.

One does not always derive the most pleasure from spending money. Can you not arrange to invite some of your acquaintances to your home occasionally in the evening? I am quite sure there are boys like yourself who will enjoy an evening at your home in preference to a pool or billiard hall, or theater. Try it at any rate, and you will not be disappointed.

Dear Miss Grey: Please give me a recipe for freckles? You gave one not long ago, but I am unable to locate it and would appreciate it so much if you would print it soon.

A.—Both buttermilk and lemon juice are excellent for taking off freckles and tan. Squeeze the juice from a lemon into half a glass of butter milk and apply with a soft cloth several times a day. Always use cold cream afterward.

"Tired of Being Called Skinny." Dear Miss Grey: As you have always helped others, I will ask you to help me. I want to get fatter. I am a girl of 18 years and am 5 feet 7 inches tall and weigh 116 pounds, so you see I am very slender. I eat plenty of food and get plenty of fresh air, so will you please help me, as I am tired of being called skinny. LA VERN. A.—It does not depend so much on the quantity as the quality of food you eat. Avoid all tart, acidic foods as they are flesh re-
