As Pitcher G. Washington Boice of the Tacoma Tigers is an old friend of the Portland tribe, it is to be expected that he would get a cordial reception when he stepped in the box to pitch. He did. In fact, the reception was entirely too cordial, and in the midst of the first frame, while the festivities were at their height, Joe McGinnity refused to let George do it any longer, and usurped his position as guest of honor.

All of which above is of more or less pleasing manner of breaking the sad tidings that the Tigers lost yesterday by six points to three.

The Colts romped about the pasture until they had glimmed five genuine runs in the first inning. Three singles, one double, one three-cushion smack, a suicide loft, and a licensed jog, represent the cause thereof. In the seventh Bancroft repeated his triple of the first and came in when W. Harris tried to kill a bumblebee hovering around the daisies in left.

Hynes, the no-hit kid, grazed the ball for the Colts and heaved a fair brand of ball for the most part, although he was hardly a conundrum.

W. Harris singled in the third, and Sport Harris came right through with another. McMullin got a blow, and one counted. A pretty peg to third by Melchior saved the day for the equines.

Again in the fifth period, the Bengals dug their claws into the high Mr. Hynes. Two were in the graveyard when Sport Harris was hit on the spinal meningitis and took first. McMullin garnered a swat, and Pinch Ritter Burrell was on the job with bells and a bat. Two runs.

Joe McGinnity is beginning to get busy with that Iron Man stuff. Four games since Thursday and he has worked in them all to some extent.

Melchior, released by Victoria, played his first game with the Colts. He held down the center garden. Callahan was shifted to the shady bench.

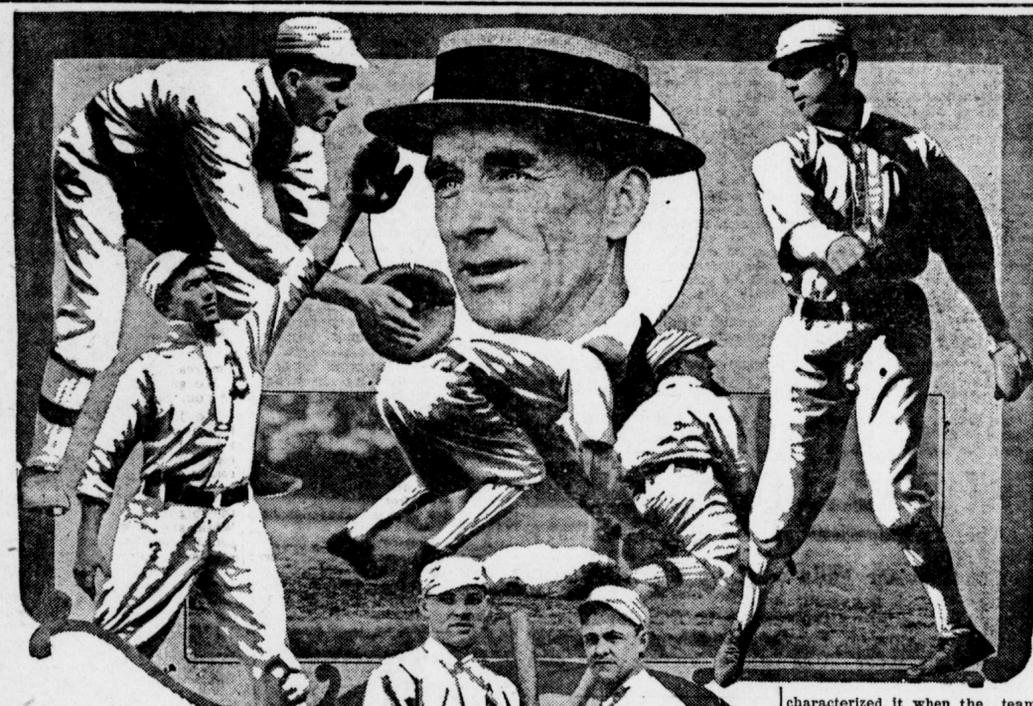

Mohler was also back in the game, giving Guigni a rest. Perhaps the presence of the Kid at second had something to do with Portland's victory.

McMullin was shifted to first base for a bit yesterday, and Ruell was sent back into the game at shortstop.

Sensational plays marked the contest and the Portland fans were well pleased with the looks of McGinnity's men.

Are the Athletics to Prove Real Comebacks?

Top: Catcher Ira Thomas, Connie Mack, Pitcher Brown. Second row: "Home Run" Baker and Eddie Collins, sliding back to first. Bottom: Eddie Murphy, sensational young outfielder, and "Stanley" McInnes.

Determined to win the American league pennant this year or know why, Connie Mack took his Athletics to Cuba last winter and made them play ball when good ball players were resting on their laurels and letting the home folks admire them.

This drastic treatment had its effect. Bender, suspended last *Batted for McGinnity in 9th.

AMATEUR GAMES

Loose fielding on the part of Fern Hill cost them a game with the Little Tigers Sunday by a score of 17 to 13. The former made a great rally in the ninth, showing five runs across. The all-around playing of Showlain of the Little Tigers and hitting of Strongs, Egan and Marshall of Fern Hill, who made three hits apiece, were features of the struggle.

With Peterson in the box, the Olympic club was defeated Sunday by St. Martin's, 3 to 2. Starke pitched fine ball for the Olympic club, but did not have the break of luck.

Andy Nelson outpitched 'Smoke' Thomas, the former Victoria speed artist, Sunday in a game in which Buckley defeated Enumclaw 4 to 1. Only two hits were made off the Fern Hill twirler.

The high school cracks, comprising the Jewel team, were unable to check Dupont Sunday, and characterized it when the team was winning world championships. Mack has mixed up young blood with his veterans and the mixture seems to have taken. Brown and Wychkoff, youthful pitchers, have high class, as witness the latter's performance in holding Cleveland to one hit in five innings after relieving Plank.

Is there something wrong with Heinie Zimmerman, slugging Cub third baseman, this season. It is a well known fact he is not batting with the vigorous abandon he has hitherto displayed.

Some time ago he mysteriously disappeared in New York and did not show up again for some days. It was reported he was sick at the home of his mother, but this report proved to be unfounded. It may be that Zim can't get along with Johnny Evers. Owner Murphy of the Cubs has intimated that Heinie has trouble getting his hat on without a shoe horn and there might be something in that, although C. Webb is hardly a reliable source of information.

The opinion of many is that there is a nigger in the Cub woodpile, and just what it is will be known when the wearing apparel is hung out to dry.

the latter brought home the bacon, 5 to 4.

The Barbers' A. C. won a close game from McKenna Sunday by a score of 7 to 6. Johnson pitched nice ball for the "cutups."

In a pitchers' battle Sunday, the Keystone team beat Puallup 3 to 2. Both Syness and Valentine pitched nice ball.
