CADREAU HAS MORE HORSESHOES THAN A BLACKSMITH SHOP

G. Washington Boice, the Tiger heaver who runs rather to length than to thickness, was the big feature of yesterday's game with the Indians. He would have been a still bigger feature had our pets won, but even though Tacoma took the worst end of a 1 to 0 score, George's work loses little of its luster.

He allowed but three hits, one of the Cincy variety, and cracked out the only extra base hit of the game, a two-cushion ping. The Bengals outhit the Indians but had no luck in placing them right.

Chief Cadreau heaved for the Indians and had a blacksmith shop backed off the map when it came to horseshoes. His curves were whanged about the lot and his teammates grabbed everything, thus saving the day for him many, many times.

The only run of the struggle came across in the third stanza. Altman tapped a hunt to McMullin, who heaved it viciously at the dainty feet of Jake Holderman. Jake moved the feet, and then moved them some more to get the pellet. In the meantime Dutch Altman had strolled to the second angle and was staring with interest and appreciation at the handiwork of the advertisers on the barricades.

Chief Cadreau took a hitch in his belt and another chew of Piper Heidsieck and trotted to the pan. Bam! the globe rolled toward Golden Ruell, who stopped to play tag with it. Dutch Altman threw in the high gear and sped for third. He was unable to stop himself, however, and shot over the rubber before the brakes worked. And the gong rang no more that day.

Clyde Keller played second base after the improved methods advocated by Lajoie, Evers, Collins and other Kerstone experts, being especially nifty when it came to boring the ball into cushion burglars.

Dutch Altman convinced Spokane fans that he was a receiver second to none behind the bat, and pegged the bases with such accuracy and speed that Joe Cohn took his glasses off and wiped them.

Iron Man McGinnity is wanted as the big feature of the Pow Wow big chief benefit game to be played at Recreation park Saturday. They brazenly threatened to send 10,000 fans to the park should he give heed to their requests and lob over the capsule. They all want to see the famous Iron man in action.

If 10,000 fans come to the game Joe will likely twirl, unless he should happen to drop dead of surprise.

Birmingham, Nap Manager, Uses Brains

Birmingham is a manager who would bring joy to the heart of Patsy Tebeau and that regal crew of his day. He broke a leg trying to turn defeat into victory and would have broken two could he have clinched the game.

No longer does "Birny" sport crutches, but when his broken leg was torturing him at every move he was on the bench with the master baseball brain directing his team.

He has erased the word "quit" from the Nap dictionary.

DELL HOLDS BEE SLUGGERS SAFE

VICTORIA, June 10.—Pitcher Dell proved too tough a nut for the Victoria sluggers to crack yesterday, while Seattle hammered Kantlehner almost at will. Felts made a jumping catch 7th left field.

AMATEUR GAMES

Although he pitched great ball, errors cost Pitcher Dahl of the Jewels his game against Olympia Sunday by a score of 3 to 1. Batteries: Olympia, Hendricksen and Hanson; Jewels, Dahl and Daily.

Everett beat Bremerton in a close game Sunday, the score being 3 to 2. Reardon, a former Tiger, was hit hard but had lots of luck.

In a game much better than the score would indicate and very close after the first inning, Fern Hill was defeated by the South End Grays Sunday 9 to 1. The game was featured by the hitting and fielding of First Baseman Wright of Fern Hill and the great work in the box of both Scepley and Graham after the first frame. The batteries: South End Grays, Graham and Doe; Fern Hill, Scepley and Remmug.

The fat men of Goldendale defeated the leans Sunday in a very exciting contest. The score was 31 to 29.

TOKIO, June 9.—Stanford beat Kelo university 8 to 0. The Americans made 15 singles while the Japanese wer making four.

Baseball Storiottes

Appearances are deceitful.

The above remark is chestnut, Snop says, but we should worry and come to the point. The other day Armadillo Marsans, who showed baseball fans where Cuba was, was unloosening a tale about Mendez, a Cuban pitcher possessing the fair blond beauty of the ace of spades.

Armadillo is exceedingly fond of the practical jest. He had played with Mendez for many years, but off the field did not know much about him. He decided it would be a very funny, funny stunt to get up a swell feed and make Monsieur Mendez the guest of honor. Naturally Mendez, being a big ignorant negro, would make nineteen or forty different kinds of a fool out of himself.

The banquet came off, Mr. Marsans and his friends who were in on the deal being forced to dig up sundry and divers simoleons for the feast. The fairest ladies—and the darkest—in the land were there.

Mr. Mendez was present. He was faultlessly attired in evening clothes. He bore himself with becoming dignity. His voice, when he spoke, had the polish of the ultra-society man.

It did not take Marsans and his conferees long to tumble to the fact that Mendez was perfectly at home. He discoursed learnedly on Shakespeare and Cervantes. He discussed Robert Chambers' latest novel.

He criticized the musical abilities of some of the players at the piano in a most technical manner. He quoted poetry until the head of Marsans ached. Never once did he mention baseball, dice, gin nor even chickens. He was the big hit of the evening.

And Practical Joker Marsans had paid a nice sum for this infinte jest. So had his friends. The joke was on them. Mr. Marsans vowed to play no more practical jokes on black pitchers.

As Henry Wadsworth Shortfeul once remarked: "You can never tell a woman's age by the color of her eyebrows."

Joe Cohn may have picked a find in his kid pitcher Daly, who heaved nicely against the Tillkums last Saturday.

Felts of Victoria has been benched on account of his weak hitting.

Foley was taken on by the Bengals on account of the injury to Harris, our hitting receiver.

Short Sport

There is some talk of the Spokane franchise being transferred to Everett. The patronage accorded Joe Cohn at home has been none too gratifying.

Lou Nordyke continues to hit the horseshide with a vim and vengeance.

If Miles Netzel can hit like he did in 1911 the Tigers should worry.

Those Philadelphia Athletics are still sticking at the head of the American, and the Phillies in the National.

Victoria must have a lot like that of Seattle in some respects.

Ad Wolgaat will not fight Johnny Dundee nor anybody else. He says so himself. Therefore we do not believe it.

Bob McAllister, Jim Corbett's hope, has won another fight, but he seems to lack an effective punch.

Wrecker Meek did some fearful slugging at Victoria last week and Charlie Swain put it out of the lot several and various times.

Bud Anderson is to fight Leach Cross on Independence day—perhaps. Prizefights are such uncertain things nowadays.

Johnny Evers wins a game with a Cincinnati base hit and calls it strategy. Some people would call it boneheaded luck.

Well, perhaps it was strategy for Evers.

But we don't see how anybody working under C. Webb Murphy has any time for strategy.

Talk may be cheap, but several ball players who have tete-atteted with umpires assure that our idea is erroneous.

We have no more of the famous Tinker to Evers to Chance, but we still have Cleveland to Toledo to Portland.

No, Geraldine, Pitcher Schauer's first name is not April.

Dodge is the name of a ball player the Cincy Reds secured from Philadelphia. He ought to be there with the ducking when the pitcher throws the ball at him.

C. Murphy is one man who has hit the bull many a time, but never received any money for doing it.

Joe Jackson can't read or write, but he can carve his initials in the American league records.

Chicago has a Phelan with them. O, that funny Phelan! For Heaven's sake!

There is no use to Randy words about the ability of Mr. Crane in the high jump.

Kill him like you would a dog.
