LAST GAME IN OLD PARK PROVES TO BE FINEST BATTLE EVER STAGED IN SEATTLE

BY JAMES W. EGAN

Seattle's ball park on Yeeler Way, "Dug's bandbox," is no more. This is something to be thankful for. Yesterday's game betwixt the Bengals and the Tillikums within its bounds marked the end for the microscopic lot.

It is probably not without tears that Dug closes up that park. Many a time has a little pop fly won a game for him—yes, even yesterday—but of that, more anon. However, he has decided to do away with it, and we sincerely hope nobody is sorry.

In company with a number of other Tacomans, I went over yesterday to see the demise of the park and did see it, although with its last dying breath it yielded the game to Seattle.

The struggle yesterday was one of the best games ever played in Seattle, if not the best. When it is considered that both teams went 15 innings, before the Tils won 1 to 0, and in a bandbox at that, it can be readily seen that it was some game. It was.

Both pitchers, Kid Kurfess and King Kelly, pitched magnificent ball. The Kid has not hurled better since joining the Tigers, and although he lost, it is nothing to his discredit, for the measly fly, by which Cadman ended the game would have been out on any real ball field in the country. The Yeeler way lot—peace be to its ashes—cannot be termed a real park.

Time after time Kurfess and Kelly pulled out of holes by great pitching and support of an Al quality. The Tigers went through the entire game without a semblance of an error, and although Nill and Brown are credited with errors, each of the chances they had were hits, in my opinion.

Seattle had a splendid chance to score in the sixth when Charlie Fullerton started with a terrific triple. But Kurfess was invulnerable, and Charlie could not get across.

Twice Frank West, our new first sacker, came up with two outs and the bases loaded, but was unable to land on the globe safely. Once Hunky Shaw came in and dove headlong to catch his liner over short and he did it, too. That is a sample of the way both teams were fielding. Even Kelly and Kurfess fanned an even dozen, and they generally forced their opponents to whiff when hits would have meant runs.

In the fifteenth frame, after Fullerton had pulled a great catch on Fries' fly and retired Tacoma, Kelly started out by belting chunks out of the ozone, one of his favorite amusements. Jackson batted to starboard, although Cy Neighbors nearly threw him out at Angle A.

Fullerton met one right on the bugle—a liner to deep center. Fries leaped in the air and plucked it with one hand. Some catch in itself, and it was getting even with Charlie. James walked, and Shaw singled, but Millon's quick fielding held Jackson at third. Then Cadman lofted a high one, an essay but on any field big enough to turn around in—it cleared the Seattle stockade and gave the Tils the game.

The Tacoma rooters were much more in evidence than those of the home team, to judge by the noise. One man particularly enjoyed himself. Whenever Kurfess pulled out of a hole he would rise, together a kid rooter from the City of Destiny, and let forth a warwhoop.

"On to Richmond," he would cry when the Bengals came to bat. At first he was sure Kelly's right name must be Levinski, but as the game progressed, he admitted he must be Irish.

Skin Harris was the batting star of both teams. The first four times up he glommed three double-cushion bings and a single station swat. Frank West secured a double and was robbed of a blow by Shaw's drive, before mentioned.

And, although he did not win the game, we are glad of this much. Dugdale's cheesebox has passed over to the Great Beyond.

CROSS GETS HIS FROM BARRIEAU

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 2.—Although the bout was pronounced a draw, it was plain to be seen yesterday that Frank Barrieau had the better of Leach Cross in their 12-round mill. Barrieau displayed greater cleverness and landed many hard punches. Cross showed signs of the punishment he had undergone. It was agreed that the bout be called a draw if both men were standing when the bout was over.

INDIANAPOLIS LEADING IN FEDERAL

Indianapolis is the pennant winner of the Federal league. Manager "Bill" Phillips, remembered by old-time fans as one of the great guns of former days, has gathered some fast youngsters and has toiled his team to the front rapidly in the last few weeks.

The team now has a comfortable lead over Cy Young's Cleveland team and ought to win the flag without trouble.

Phillips hasn't any players who figure as great "stars," but he has drilled team play into his kids until they play a game that is a winner all the time.

The team fields tightly, and with good pitching and hard hitting, is easily the class of the tight little league which has been a thorn in the side of organized baseball all season.

Unnoticed by papers in some of the cities, the standing not published and only meager accounts of the games given; annoyed continually by the hirelings of the baseball trust, the Federal league has gone along minding its own business and has shown a quality of baseball at popular prices that meets with the approval of the fans in every city.

Encouraged by the success it has met, the league plans to strengthen this winter and by next season the officers expect to be able to compete for patronage with the bigger leagues of organized baseball.

MEN WHOM BASEBALL HAS ENRICHED

The president of the Detroit American league club is the second of the shoestring brothers, the other being Murphy of the Cubs.

To elucidate: Navin and Murphy came into the National drama with just about enough cash to ward a crutch, and today never complain of a gnawing sensation in the region of the solar plexus, due to hunger.

Navin is a native of Adrian, Mich., and was admitted to the Michigan bar (judicial) before he graduated from the Detroit college of law, thus demonstrating how bright he was at an early age.

Having graduated, he hung out his ubiquitous barrister. He was interested (extent not reported by biographer) in the "hooky" end of the Canadian racing circuit; although not a bookmaker himself. But he followed the gee gene so successfully that he made money, meanwhile permitting stocktons to suffer, for want of earnings. Today Frank Navin is one of the best posted race followers in Detroit and can shed a tip at any time without exertion.

It was because of Navin's intimacy with kings of a sporting nature that he was employed as secretary of the Detroit club by S. F. Angus when the latter was trying to make Detroit a big league town.

Just about the time that Angus was groggy from his effort along came one William H. Hawkey, youthful, a sportsman and with an eye like an eagle for a good thing.

Navin became part owner of the Detroit club with Hawkey, his experience and what money he happened to have getting him some stock. Later, when Hawkey's interests demanded his attention, he slipped the club into the hands of Navin, with a large amount of stock that was then being sold, our leading manager naturally referring to a "big thing."

It was Navin who employed Hugh Bennett to win three American league pennants in as many years—and Hugh did it.

SOME PITCHER

Harry "Kid" Kurfess, who pitched the game of his life in Seattle yesterday, only to lose it on a popfly over the rightfield fence in the Yeeler way park. For 14 innings the Kid blanked his opponents. His control was almost perfect, and he struck out a dozen men. He also secured two hits himself. Although Kurfess lost he is entitled to all credit.

WOLGAST LICKED

OAKLAND, Sept. 2.—Ad Wolgast was handed a good licking yesterday by Joe Azevedo, and plainly displayed that his championship days are over. At first Azevedo suffered somewhat from stage fright but soon recovered and pounded Wolgast unmercifully. Wolgast tried to rough it and was hissed by the crowd.
