Society

At the first meeting of the College Women's club, held in Seattle Saturday afternoon at the Washington Annex, Miss Marjorie Johnson, pure food inspector of Tacoma, was entertained as guest of honor. Miss Johnson gave an address on her social work in the London slums. She was given an ovation by the assembled women.

Gesang Verein LaSalle, one of the newer Tacoma musical organizations, held its first anniversary Sunday evening with decided success. One of the features of the program was a bass solo by J. P. Conover, formerly with the Bostonian Opera company. Carl Bach, conductor of the LaSalle, deserves much credit for the success of the organization.

The Homesteaders are entertaining this evening in Eagles' hall with cards and dancing.

Miss Pearl Chapple Mann and James M. Canon, a well known printer of Tacoma, were married last Friday evening.

Miss Neida Jaeger, a prominent young woman attorney of Tacoma, will leave next week on a month's trip through the east, combining business and pleasure.

Mrs. Charles Drury, Mrs. Verona Bell and Mrs. Dorothy Claussen will be joint hostesses tomorrow for a bridge, followed by a large reception, at the Drury apartments. The affair will honor Mrs. T. B. Claussen of Vancouver, B. C.

Chapter C of the P. E. O. society will meet next Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. N. Garlick, 3724 Thompson avenue.

Lucius Manning, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Manning, left Monday night to resume his studies at Hotchkiss school, in the east. The serious illness of Mr. Manning delayed the son's departure.

Mrs. C. E. Peterson of North 20th street, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. F. M. Balcom, returned to Tacoma yesterday after a three weeks' visit on Hood's canal. Mrs. Peterson is convalescing from a serious illness.

Mrs. F. A. Lucas, 1613 South 8th street, gave a pretty luncheon Monday in honor of Miss Frances Murphy. The guests were Mrs. Douglas Redburn, Mrs. Louis McIntosh, Mrs. Frank Dillon and Miss Murphy.

The Altrua club, one of the leading literary clubs of Tacoma, will study modern drama and music during the coming year, according to the new year-book, issued this week.

BLACK AND WHITE PLUSH

This is a stunning model by Norhand of Paris. The skirt is of white plush, which will be the most popular fabric of the winter. The blouse is of black plush with ermine, without the tails, on collar and cuffs. No dress will be complete this winter without a touch of fur on it. So you can cut up your old fur sets into dress trimmings and be right in the mode.

FOR EVENING WEAR

Lafferrere also uses satin more than any other fabric this season and he has designed a beautiful hand embroidered evening gown of white satin, with beaded tulle tunic, which ends in beaded tassels.

NEWEST ADVICE TO BEAUTY SEEKERS

If you would get rid of the lines between the eyes—first stop scowling. The best application for such lines and all wrinkles is a solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, 1/2 pint. Bathe the face in this daily until entirely relieved. A yellow neck should receive similar attention to that given the complexion so color and texture of the skin will be the same. A yellow neck and a white face give a discordant effect. You do not need to experiment with cosmetics. Ordinary mercerized wax will help you more than any or all of them. It will gradually absorb the withered, discolored complexion and you will soon have a new, youthful and healthy looking skin. You needn't get more than an ounce of the wax, which will cost you little at any drugist's. Apply nightly, like cold cream, washing it off mornings. "Advertisement."

Cynthia Grey's Answers

Dear Miss Grey: I am 18, and considered cute; but not pretty, and when people throw compliments at me, I do not appreciate them at all, and do not consider the above a compliment. Kindly give your opinion. By the way, I am a blond.

A boy friend, one I do not care for, comes over most every night, and sits around and talks to all of us. I want to know, do you think he comes over on account of me? I often see him watching me out of one corner of his eye. He is nice, but I am not boy-struck. DIMPLES.

A.—He may be watching to see if you are going to live up to your reputation, and act cute. I really can't read the boy's mind at this distance, but think he may just enjoy the whole crowd. I wouldn't take it to myself, if I were you.

Compliments are very poor things to go by. Our own assurance that we have accomplished something worth while is all we need.

Dear Miss Grey: Every evening I read your good advice, and want you to give me the proper definition for the word "Rain-cat." I have a friend who always uses the expression in this way, "He or she, is as nifty as a rain-cat." IRBNE.

A.—Can't do it. I could make you acquainted with the rain-bird, rain-crowd, rain-fowl, rain-goose, rain-quail, and our old friends the rain-deer, and rain-bow, but I have not yet met the rain-cat. Maybe some good reader can give us an introduction.

Dear Miss Grey: I am a girl 14 years of age, and have red hair, and nobody seems to care for me. Do you know what color to bleach it, and what is least harmful? A YOUNG GIRL.

A.—My dear child, there are numberless women who would almost give their two eyes to have red hair. I wouldn't mind it, myself. This seems a grievance to you now, but I bet of you not to think of bleaching it. I know of nothing that is absolutely harmless, and if you once begin it, you will have to keep eternally at it. Don't do it.

Dear Miss Grey: Does anyone ever die of a broken heart? And, will one ever get over a true love? I love a man, who does not care for me. I don't know whether I have more romance about me than other girls, or not, but I would lay down my life for him. I have no interest in anything any more. His face is always before me, and his words always ringing in my ears. I do nothing but brood. I am old enough to know what true love is, and have met many men, but none like him. I am 28. Please tell me what to do.

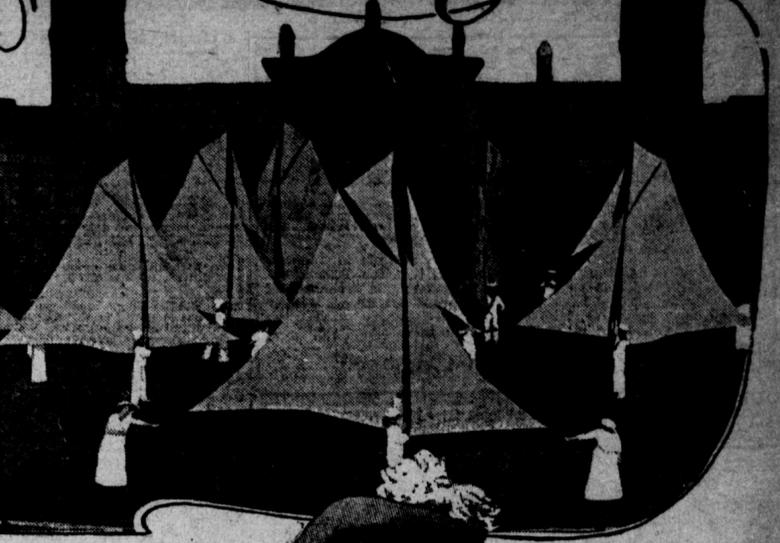

A.—The age does not seem to make any difference when a thing like this occurs. I know just how hard it seems to you, but you, nor I, nor anyone else can tell whether or not it is best for you to marry this man. If you will thoroughly believe that if it is best, it will come about, and at the same time be willing to give him up, if that is best (not in your eyes, but by guidance of a Higher Power) I know the best for both will happen.

Remember it is much easier to die for a person than to live for him. Use this experience as a chance for development of the best in you, and you will one day rejoice.

Dear Miss Grey: Noticing a request for a method of ex-tripating fleas, I will give you three cauliflowers, cut into small pieces; one quart of lima beans; one dozen small green tomatoes, sliced; one dozen cucumbers, cut into pieces about an inch long. At night put cucumbers and tomatoes into crock, with layers of salt, using one pint of salt. In the morning drain. Put onions in strong brine over night. Wash off in morning and drain. Three red peppers, cut in rings. Steam cauliflower and beans until tender. Heat three pints of vinegar and one pint of water. Add three cups of granulated sugar, one small teaspoon of red pepper. Blend four tablespoons of Coleman's mustard, one teaspoon of powdered tumeric and one and one-half cups of flour, with enough cold water to make same oth paste. Four slowly into hot vinegar. Stir constantly that it may be smooth. Put in all pickles. Scald fifteen minutes. Do not boil. Seal in jars while hot.

Norman's Stage Letter

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Half-close your eyes and you're all at sea.

A dozen white-sailed yachts are skimming back and forth, in and out, cutting across one another's bows in a fashion that seems to promise disaster at any instant.

But there are no collisions and no upsets. The spread of snowy canvas only it happens to be silk) is upheld by human maids that start about the Hippodrome stage in the steps of one of the most unique and fascinating ballet novelties ever devised.

There are other wonderful things in the new Hippodrome spectacle "America." The Panama canal scene is, perhaps, the greatest triumph of stagecraft. A most realistic representation of a section of the great waterway extends across the enormous stage, and through it there passes majestically a huge steamship. A fire scene, too, is particularly well done. An East Side tenement burns, and there are thrilling rescues by firemen who slide down ropes from the fourth story with their unconscious burdens, leaps from the roof into nets held below, and other startling performances.

More daring, however, than any of the feats in the fire spectacle is the performance of four men who ride down a mountain road in an automobile which strikes a bump at a sharp turn, makes a half somersault and lands, bottom upward, in a lake. The men leap clear of the car just as it strikes the hummock, which overturns it, and land in the water on either side of the overturned machine. A moment's wrong timing of the jump or a miscalculation of direction would be bad business for any one of the quartet who do the nightly splash.

Tacoma Playhouses

Tacoma Theater—Edison's wonderful talking pictures, all week, matinee Wednesday and Saturday.
Pantages Theater—Four Marx Brothers and company of 18 in "Fun in a High School," with good vaudeville acts.
Princess Theater—Miss Josephine Dillon, new leading woman, in "The Dawn of a Tomorrow."
Melbourne—Latest movies, with Gaumont weekly special performance at 12:30 o'clock daily.

PANTAGES

Returning to the Northwest with a company of 16 dainty young women and clever chorus men, the Four Marx brothers, who carry off all honors at Pantages theater this week have improved their act immensely since they were last here. In fact, their "Fun in a High School," although still carrying the same title, has been transformed into an entirely different comedy act. Their "Mr. Green's Reception," showing a reception given to the old school master 10 years later, is entirely new, elaborately staged, and delightfully active throughout.

The Marx brothers scored individual hits with opening audiences Monday by their musical offerings. Leo Marx at the piano is a whirlwind; Arthur Marx with his harp solos easily leads the vaudeville field in this instrument; and Julius Marx's "Hello, Mr. Stein," is screamingly funny. Both acts are far above the average musical comedy feature attempted in vaudeville.

The Harris Boys have probably the fastest dancing act ever seen here. Greve and Greve, in "A Page From Minstrelsy," have a black-face act that is laughable every minute. Eddie Howard, a rockier tumbler, opens the bill with an acrobatic act of utter abandon, in which one imagines he will break a bone or sprain himself with each new stunt. The entire bill is free of any tinge of the suggestive, and is one of the best all-laugh-act shows seen on Pantages circuit in weeks.

"Talkie-Movies" Astound Audiences at the Tacoma

Persons who have already attended the Tacoma theater this week, where Edison's famous talking moving pictures are exhibited, have expressed unfeigned amazement at the latest invention of the Wizard of Menlo Park. The pictures are excellent, and no person attending the performance will have cause to regret it. One might think it simple to operate a talking machine with a cinema jointly so that voices could be heard in conjunction with the pictures. But when you see a figure on the screen moving his lips, and hear the words appar-
