And Lincoln Though! His Gettysburg Address a Failure

Fifty years ago two addresses were made at Gettysburg—at the consecration of the national cemetery there.

One was by the most cultured man in American public life. Himself the scion of a distinguished ancestry, he had received the utmost training of our most aristocratic university; had been a governor of the New England states, an ambassador to Great Britain, a secretary of state, a senator of the United States.

Upon the preparation of his oration he had spent months of research and then had polished it until every phrase had become classic in form, every word precisely fitted to the expression of his thought.

Did you ever read the speech of Edward Everett? Did you ever know a person who has read it? If you should now become curious to read it would you know where to lay your hand upon it?

The other speech on that somber November day was made by a gaunt and homely man; the child of abject poverty, painfully self-taught. Pressed upon by the relentless duties of the most difficult office in the world at the time of its greatest crisis, he had put off the preparation of it until aboard the train which was taking him to the historic site. And then, with a stumpy pencil, he had scribbled it, between train jolts, on pieces of brown wrapping paper which a fellow-passenger—no less a personage than the haughty secretary of state, William H. Seward—had tossed away!

But who has not read, who has not been thrilled by, who does not know by heart, the immortal address of Abraham Lincoln, the rail-splitter? Who has not, as was the great host of blue-clad warriors which listened, in rapt silence, fifty years ago, been dedicated anew to "highly resolve" that the dead in whose honor that touching service was held "shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth?"

Yet AT THE MOMENT Lincoln himself thought his speech a failure, because it lacked the classic illusions, the wealth of scholarship, the polished periods of the Everett oration; because, instead of noisy applause, its conclusion was followed by tense, almost painful silence.

And it was not until days afterward, when there was borne in upon him the instinctive response from the beating hearts of the plain people of whom he was THE PERFECT TYPE, that he began to realize that in his simple utterance he had caught the full spirit of the occasion and added to the literature of human-inspiration a contribution which can NEVER DIE.

FOR IT ISN'T SCHOLARSHIP, IT ISN'T POLISH, IT ISN'T PEDANTRY WHICH COUNTS IN THE BIG CONCERNS OF LIFE. IT IS VISION, INSIGHT, HEART. THE GREATEST HAVE ALWAYS BEEN THE SIMPLEST AND IT IS FROM AMONG THE POOR THAT OUR FINEST GUIDANCE COMES!

Forty-one hundred Clevelanders have applied for hunting licenses. They say there never were more rabbits out Superior avenue way than this season.

Anyway, Foss came pretty near proving that he is his own party—and all of it.

Chicago's chief probation officer announces that all drunkards tell the truth. If this doesn't start a rush for the water wagon in Chicago, nothing will.

Articles of clothing from wood fibre are being made in Europe. The material for a suit of clothes costs about 50 cents. The clothes cannot be washed, however. Big saving in laundry.

Business man in Berlin gets a 14-day jaial sentence for staring at a policeman. It must make the women who are stared at wild for equal rights.

Ohio doctors are all hot up over the growth of a blond hair from the third finger of the left hand of a man with black hair. The ends of science were defeated when the hair was accidentally broken off.

Pennsylvania girl dies while washing dishes. That'll be a fine excuse for girls who want to shun the dishpan.

Saloon keeper in Cincinnati dropped dead when his friends told him his application for a license had been granted. There were several hundred saloon men who almost dropped dead in Ohio, recently, when their licenses were cancelled.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

ISN'T IT AWFUL, MR. TRUE, THE WAY THE NEWSPAPERS ARE PRINTING THE DETAILS OF THE SMITH-JONES SCANDAL?

Yes! THE FACT THAT YOU READ IT, MADAM, MAKES ME BLUSH FOR YOU!

BRALEY'S POEM TODAY

THE CRIMINAL'S APOLOGY

Oh, yes, I'm guilty, right enough; It ain't no use to throw a bluff, An' yet, I guess, Society Kin share the guilt along o' me! I ain't the kind to weep an' whine, But, say—wot chance, wot chance was mine?

Born in a dirty, reeking slum Where decent sunlight never come, An' starved for food an' starved for air Through all my years of boyhood there, While evil things an' low an' mean Was nearly all the life I seen, Of course, I grewed to be a tough, A hoodlum and a bad young rough!

But even then I might uv been Reformed to be some use to men If every time I left the trail They didn't slam me into jail Where thieves an' all that rotten crew Would teach me worse than all I knew.

Oh, yes, I'm guilty; that is clear, But every guy who's listenin' here An' all you swells an' goodly folks Who sniffs at me an' such-like blokes Is guilty, too—along o' me An' will be till the world is free Of stinkin' slums an' rotten holes That poison people's hearts an' souls An' cheats 'em from their very birth From any decent chance on earth, I ain't the kind to weep an' whine, But, say—wot chance, wot chance was mine? —BERTON BRALEY.

HIS DEVOTION.

"Young Mrs. Flitter tells me that her husband is going to teach her how to skate this winter," says Mrs. Gooph, in the tone a woman employs when she conceals a reproach in a morsel of conversation. "Isn't it nice to see a man so devoted to his wife?"

"Devoted—shucks!" grumbles Gooph, from behind his magazine. "He's so blamed jealous of her he won't take a chance at having any other man near her."—Judge.

HABITS FORMED EARLY.

"A good deal depends on the formation of early habits."

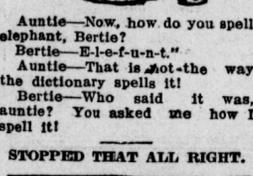

"I know it. When I was a baby my mother hired a woman to wheel me about, and I have been pushed for money ever since."

THEN HE SHUT UP.

He—the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world. Don't forget that.

She—Then you come in and rule the world a while. I'm tired.

HIS WAY.

Auntie—Now, how do you spell elephant, Bertie?
 Bertie—E-l-e-f-a-n-t.
 Auntie—That is not the way the dictionary spells it!
 Bertie—Who said it was, auntie? You asked me how I spell it!

STOPPED THAT ALL RIGHT.

"The time has passed," said the orator, haughtily, "when any man can hide himself behind a woman's petticoats."
 "You bet," commented the cynic in the back seat. "Those X-ray skirts have stopped that."

STOP CATARRH!

Unless Properly Treated With Hyomel This Disease May Become Serious. If you have catarrh, usually indicated by sniffing, stopped up head, droppings in throat, watery eyes, and morning choking, there is an irritative state of the mucous membrane which affords an ideal condition for the growth of disease germs, especially those of consumption. Do not allow the dangerous germs which may be breathed into the throat and lungs to begin their work of destruction.

The easiest, simplest, quickest, surest and cheapest way to check catarrh is by the direct method, breathing Hyomel. This wonderful medicated air treatment does not drug and derange the stomach, but is breathed in through the Hyomel inhaler, directly following and surely destroying all disease germs that may have been inhaled—heals and vitalizes the tissues of the throat, nose and lungs as to effectively render catarrh infections no longer possible.

The unusual way in which Hyomel is sold by Crown Drug Co. is the best evidence of confidence in the treatment, and dispels all doubts as to its curative properties. Money refunded to anyone whom Hyomel fails to benefit. A complete outfit, including inhaler and bottle of liquid, costs but $1.00. Extra bottles of liquid, if later needed, 50 cents. Drugists everywhere sell Hyomel.

Speaking of "Elastic Currency," a wise husband in Kansas has attached a strip of elastic from his purse through his trouser leg to his large toe.

D. D. D. In Hospitals; Standard Skin Cure

How many hospital patients, suffering the frightful itch, the raw scorching pain of skin disease, have been soothed to sleep by a soothing fluid washed in by the nurse's hands? That fluid is the famous D. D. D. prescription for eczema. THE SUPERVISING NURSE of one of our prominent Catholic institutions (name of nurse and institution on application), writes regarding a patient: "The disease had eaten her eyebrows away. Her nose and lips had become disfigured. Since the use of D. D. D. her eyebrows are growing, her nose and face have assumed their natural expression."

ly writes "D. D. D. is superior to anything I have ever found. Soft and soothing, yet a powerful agent." To do the work, D. D. D. Prescription must be applied according to directions given in the pamphlet around every bottle. Follow these directions—and see!

And it certainly takes away the itch at once—the moment the liquid is applied. The skin is soothed, calmed—so thoroughly refreshed and delightfully cooled.

All druggists of standing have the famous specific as well as the efficient D. D. D. Skin Soap.

But we are so confident of the merit of this prescription that we will refund the purchase price of the first full size bottle if it fails to reach your case. You alone are to judge.
