

BOY AND GIRL BASKETBALLERS OF U. P. S. ARE HARD AT WORK

With the basketball season now in full swing, both the boys' and girls' teams of the University of Puget Sound are hard at work. The boys have already played one game, but the girls are not yet in readiness to play, no sextet having been picked as yet.

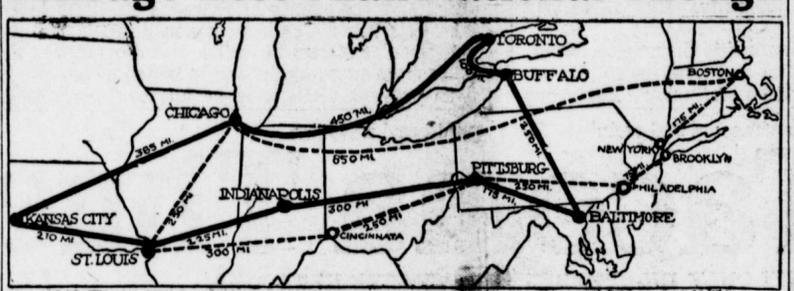

Miss Haselbrook, who is in charge of the domestic science department at the university, is coaching the girls in the game, and quite a number have turned out for practice. Miss Ruth Reynolds, who is very popular among her fellow players, is captain of the aggregation.

Prominent among the candidates for the team is Anna Fry, who won fame last year as a yell-leader, leading out several boy candidates for the job.

The U. P. S. sextet will play a regular schedule, and will meet girl teams from Cushman, Stadium High, Parkland and so forth. The Methodists have always been noted for turning out an extremely fast five among the boys.

Federals Cover Lots of Territory Mileage Less Than National Though

The war map of the Federal league. The heavy lines show the air lines between Federal league cities, and the light lines the air line distances between National league cities. The Federal league circuit is 2,005 miles; the National, 2,125 miles.

The completed circuit of the Federal baseball league shows a fairly compact organization for traveling purposes, with one exception—Kansas City.

John B. Foster, business manager of the New York National league club, predicts the long jump from Kansas City to Toronto and vice versa will be the rock upon which the Federal league will be wrecked.

Foster says the Giants lost money on western trips last season, despite the fact that the club was a triple pennant winner, because of the big expense entailed by jumping from New York to St. Louis. He does not believe the Federals can overcome this handicap.

And right away newspapers which can see nothing but organized baseball print paragraphs like this:

"It is the consensus of opinion that the long jump between Toronto and Kansas City will break the Federal league."

"The consensus of opinion" being the idea of Mr. Foster, business manager of the Giants.

And now to ascertain how much Foster's prediction is worth:

At a glance, the fact that the National league circuit as shown on the above map is longer would seem to turn the laugh upon Foster, but, because of physical conditions, it is probable the Federals will have more miles to travel than the National—or the American league, for that matter—but the difference will not be so great at the end of the season when the total mileage is figured.

No one believes the Federals are going to trot around the country with teams of 22 or 23 men, and in some instances 30 men, as has become a habit with major league clubs. The fact is the new league will get along with road teams of 15 or 16 men and probably play better ball as a result.

Foster's opinion doesn't seem to have frightened the men back of the Federal. At last accounts they were going ahead just as if he had not exploded his bomb.

ENGLISH WIN A WEE GAME FRAE SCOTCH

Hoot mon! We dinna ken haw i' was doon, but the English won a wee game o' soccer frae th' Scotch yesterday.

My word, yes!

At that, the Scotch were one man short, and played the game with but 10 players. It was a good speedy game all the way through, and closely contested. The final score was 3 to 2.

BUSH SOME PHENOM

Carl Zamlock, of Pacific Coast league, and (right) Joe Bush, the phenom of the big bush this year.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10. — "He had been recommended by a traveling man from his home town. Then, somehow, Connie Mack got hold of him.

"Even before the world series Connie told Danny Long that Bush had the making of a great twirler.

"Just watch that kid and you'll not think I haven't pitchers with flying colors. In the world series, after being knocked out of the box in 15 games, is only another indication of Connie Mack's great judgment."

When Joe Bush broke into baseball he was just a raw country boy earning a livelihood by singing for a motion picture theater. Now he owns an auto and has money in the bank.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

No, Cuthbert, fencing does not mean the gentle art of placing pointed pieces of wood at stated intervals around a plot of earth known as a yard.

Otto Knabe says he will sign nine big leaguers for next season, and probably Larry McLean, also.

HE SPOKE THE TRUTH
Jess Willard was doubtless correct when he said his bout with Bull Terrier was an exhibition affair. Jess generally makes an exhibition of himself in every bout in which he participates.

The English must indeed be an easy-going, forgiving race. They are going to allow Bombardier Wells to fight there again.

VOILA!
They say France is taking baseball seriously. We did not know France ever took anything seriously.

The report that Heine Zimmerman's contract with the Cubs has still two years to run, does not cheer the National league umpires any.

HE MEANT IT
The fact that Packey McFarland admits being a welterweight only goes to confirm the rumor that he is thinking of retiring.

The Federals' attempt to get Catcher Wilson of the Giants has served one good purpose. It has brought his name into the papers.

Our idea of nothing at all: Our excitement over the selection of next season's golf courses in the east.

SUMNER MIDDLEWEIGHT MAKES AN IMPRESSION

The boxing game seems to be picking up in the small towns around Tacoma. That is, the young men are taking more interest in the game, and pretty every young man now has some promising youngster of whom it is usually boasted.

The latest to crop up is Young Wilson of Sumner, a husky and clever young middleweight, who is reported to be one of the best men in the valley city.

They say Wilson is pretty handy with the gloves, and can make any of the Sumner boxers cover up. He is fast, fairly clever, as well as being able to take one. His friends are enthusiastic over him, and say that he is sure to make good. Efforts are being made to find an opponent.

Interest in boxing in Sumner was revived last fall, when Joe Bonds interested himself in the town's athletic club and promised to give them an aid he could.

TWELVE BOXERS ARE READY FOR GONG

Both Joe Bonds and Frank Farmer announce themselves in fine shape for their 4-round bout next Thursday night, and will soon be over their training. Bonds and his manager, Joe Gorman, are each of the opinion that the young collector will be returned a winner, while Farmer naturally does not see it that way.

The card for the Moose entertainment is now complete, Harry Bishop of South Tacoma having been matched with Henry Krieger of Portland. Bishop will have no cinch in this bout, as he is outweighed by Krieger. Henry is also fast and clever, and Bishop's vicious kick must bring home the bacon if he wins.

A lot of fans are picking Claud McQuillan to win over Leo Bishop, owing to his decisive victory over Billy Ross at Morton Saturday night. Ross sustained a fractured jaw as the result of this encounter.

Joe Hill and Pat Dyer are expected to furnish some fast milling in their little session. George Marcel and Andy Potts, and Meyer Harris and Billy Williams will furnish preliminaries.

No referee has yet been selected for the main event.
