GLADYS HULETTE IS ONE OF MANY GIRLS YOU SEE AT MOVIES

You'll Find It Here

Marguerite NeMoyer

Pretty Marguerite is noted for her fascinating eyes and her striking brunette beauty. But the jolly thing about this girl is that, though she has been called a picture beauty, she does not decline to "dress up" in any manner and hide her beauty if the occasion or part demands it. She is one of the Ne Moyer sisters who won a good deal of success on the Australian stage a couple of years ago. Since then she has been with the Lubin players. Exhibitors who want to get tags to mark their exhibits for the Rose show, can get the same by applying for them at the Times office and several of the leading stores in Tacoma.

Elaine Ivans

Elaine Ivans is one of the host of young girls who have chosen the photo-plays as their profession. She is good looking, acts well, and photographs well. So it is a foregone conclusion that success will lead her up its pleasant ladder. One of the largest features Miss Ivans has had an opportunity to appear in is "The Littlest Rebel," a "movie" in several reels, which is practically ready for release. Lule Warrerton

Playing character parts, the more difficult the better, is the work and the pastime of Lule Warrerton. She is one of the star people in the stock company of the Universal Film concern at the western studios in Hollywood, California. She has played thousands of parts on the speaking stage, and now she is doubling that number on the screen. Miriam Nesbitt

Miriam Nesbitt, than whom there isn't a better known or better liked player in the moving picture companies, was one of the interested spectators and participants in the big ball given at Chicago by and for moving picture players and their friends. The box where she and Marc McErmitt of the same company sat with friends, was literally besieged by devotees of both players who wished to shake hands with them and make their acquaintance. The city market will be open until 10 a. m. and until 10 a. m. tomorrow. It will then close for the rest of the day.

Gladys Hulette

Girls, girls, girls! That's what it seems when you peep into any one of the big moving picture studios in the country. They are always young and always pretty. And scarcely a day passes when a new face isn't seen somewhere about the dressing rooms or the stages. Gladys Hulette is one of the new ones, although she has been with the Kalem company several months.
