TIGERS LOSE DOUBLE HEADER TO PITCHER

SPOKANE, June 8.—Joe McGinnity's Tigers are returning to the coast today on their way to Vancouver after an inglorious defeat at the hands of the Indians in a double-header Sunday in which the Tigers failed to score a run as against 15 for Spokane. Pitcher Lou Stanley, formerly of Portland, who was let out recently because of ill luck, and later captured by Mike Lynch, performed the remarkable feat of pitching in the two games and winning both. Another feature of the contest was the use of only one ball during the entire session. Usually balls to the number of seven or eight are walloped out of the lot.

FEDERALS PROMISE BASEBALL SENSATION

Tom Seaton and Claude Hendrix

Three pitchers or Federals who will find themselves back in organized ball if the Feds are taken in.

By Hugh S. Fullerton. Can the Federal league last? The question has been flung broadside at me so frequently since the slump in attendance that I have made as thorough an investigation as I possibly. Here is the situation, so far as I can figure it: The Federal league can last—practically is forced to last—if the club backers are game enough to stand their losses.

Short Jabs at All 'Round Sports. A Dip Into the Past. March 13, 1890; Jake Kilbrain beat George Godfrey 44 r., in 2 h. and 55 m.; San Francisco, Cal.

Tom Jones is taking Ad Wogast and the rest of the string to the coast. This is not printed as news, but as a warning to Los Angeles and San Francisco sport writers to hang up the busy sign.

A friendly official scorer and a good crony contribute much to no-hit records.

The reason the hyena laughs is that 10,000 persons will howl with glee when a foul ball hits the umpire on the head.

Willie Ritche opines that the beating Charles White gave him was valuable. If that one was worth a million dollars he wouldn't give four cents for another.

Joe Tinker is sick—and after watching his team we don't blame him. But if he has tonsillitis George Stallings ought to have tuberculosis.

Dr. Channing Barrett says the ills of mankind are due to their quitting living in trees. It must be true—look what happened to Joe Wolcott.

Tom Jones declares Jess Willard is driving all his opponents across the sea. If Tom doesn't quit talking he'll drive the rest of us.

A Glimpse Ahead. Preliminary tennis matches for Davis cup team, Aug. 6, 7, 8.

FULLERTON'S FLASHES

One color-blind baseball reporter announces that Chief Johnson is in the pink.

Bob Long, former California State league pitcher, struck out all twenty-seven of the men who faced him in a semi-pro game at Cincinnati—the remarkable part of it being that no one signed him the next day.

It seems, from Bennett's performances in eastern track meets, California's hat is always in the ring.

Judging from attendance figures at the Cubs' park, in Chicago, most of the fans quit when Murphy did.

Perhaps the Cincinnati Reds are merely trying to double-cross Garry Hermann and disprove his statement that Chief Johnson was the strong point of his team.

We are a queer race. Many a man will give a woman his seat in the lifeboat who wouldn't think of doing it in a street car.

The senate adjourned the other day for lack of quorum because 50 per cent of the senators were at the ball game; and an examination of the gate receipts proves that at least 40 per cent of that 50 per cent must have had passes.

"Busting 'Em" by Ty Cobb, shows that Ty's sub as a writer hits about as well as his sub as a batter usually does.

The Black Tulp having at last been developed, there still remains a hope that some day the White Sox may find an outfielder who can hit.

Quoting the Bible to John D. Junior reminds us of a bushier teaching Ty Cobb how to hit.

That scientist who discovered that the human soul weighs three-quarters of an ounce is lucky that he didn't try to weigh that of a baseball magnate.

Experts say this is a great year for bugs; but baseball club owners refuse to believe it.

ON RANGE. Company B, Second Infantry, W. N. G., was on the American lake range all day yesterday practicing for the rifle tournament in which troop B and First company, C. A. R. C., will also compete, at the 200, 300 and 400 yard targets.
