HOQUIAM, Oct. 5.—The bodies of three men and a boy, victims of the wrecked steamer Francis H. Leggett, off the Columbia, have been found on the ocean beach west and north of Hoquiam. The body of the boy was identified as R. B. Schneider and that of one of the men as J. Nass. The bodies were discovered by Indians.

CASCARETS FOR COSTIVE BOWELS, HEADACHE, COLDS

To-night! Clean your bowels and stop headache, colds, sour stomach.

Get a 10-cent box now. Turn the screws out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and bad colds—turn them out to-night and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels, or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret to-night straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.

Movie Actress Designs Own Frocks and Bonnets for Picture Dramas

Ella Hall

Ella Hall—The Photo of Herself She Likes Best.

By Esther Hoffman
Ella Hall is an exquisite combination of youth, beauty and intelligence and film critics predict great things for the young ingenue who is doing such splendid work in Universal pictures. Many girls of her age would be thinking of "beaus and parties too, but her parties are mostly "sewing bees." She designs new frocks and bonnets for future productions and she makes the affair very private, inviting her mother only.

Ella Hall shares with her mother or one of the prettiest bungalows in Hollywood, Cal., with roses, roses everywhere. Not long ago she appeared in a picture, "A Bowl of P—ces." Each rose was a different color—tea rose, pink rose, American Beauty and a beautiful white rose, and each represented a different girl. Miss Hall as the white rose was the heroine and ended up in a beautiful home, with a husband worth while and a darling baby. Out of pictures she is just a wisp of a girl in her teens but some day she will probably end up as the pictures and "live happy ever after."

INVITE TACOMA TO HEAR WOMAN

Dr. Nena Jolidan Croake, Mrs. Governor Teals, Mrs. Walter Thompson and Mrs. Stanley Warburton, the press committee of the Women's Progressive League of Tacoma, have issued an urgent invitation for Tacoma men and women to attend the lecture to be given next Thursday evening by Miss Anna McCue of Philadelphia. She is one of the women touring the west in the interests of woman suffrage under the auspices of the Congressional Union for Equal Suffrage.

"The Union was formed," explains the committee, "with the support of such women as Dr. Anna Shaw, Miss Jane Addams, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Mrs. Robert LaFollette, and Mrs. Mc-dill McCormick. These women with many others have endeavored in every way possible the past eighteen months to have congress recognize the justice of considering a federal suffrage amendment, known as the Bristow-Mon-dell amendment, for woman suffrage, which was introduced in the senate April 7, 1913, by Senator George Chamberlain of Oregon. After having been reported upon favorably in the senate, and without recommendation in the house, it was later discussed almost continuously for seventeen days last March and voted upon, failing to pass by eleven of the necessary two-thirds vote."

War Geography

NOGENT—A small village on the left bank of the Marne, 7 miles southwest of Chateau-Thierry. The village is at the entrance of an important railroad tunnel on the route from Paris to Nancy.

WATTIGNIES — A hamlet about 8 miles to the south of Maubeuge. When Maubeuge was invested by the prince of Saxe-Coburg in 1793, it was relieved after a fierce battle fought at Wattignies.

DUFFEL — A small railroad station, 18 miles north of Brussels, and only nine miles from Antwerp.

TETE DE FLANDRE (Flemish, Vlaamsch Hoofd)—A small community across from Antwerp, on the left bank of the Scheldt. Behind it is the great fortified position of the same name. The fort is surrounded by a triple moat.

POLA—Austria's chief naval station, on the Adriatic about 60 miles below Trieste. There is a great naval port, surrounded by arsenals, naval drydocks, etc., all of this fortified area being carefully guarded from casual visitors and possibly spies. Pola was one of the most important war harbors on the Adriatic during the Roman period, and today boasts extensive remains of Roman buildings. Among the most interesting of these is the Temple of Augustus, built in the year 19 B. C., and still in a remarkable state of preservation. In the center of the town rises the citadel hill, with a strong castle built by the Venetians, to whom the town belonged till it was taken by Austria in 1815. The present population is 36,000.

SCHNELLFAHRER — Germany's fast motorcycleists, subsidized by the government in time of peace, and subject to instant call for dispatch carrying, reconnaissance, and the like, in time of war. There are 2000 of them on a peace footing. They are allowed to exceed the speed limit at any time, are cared for by the government if hurt, and the machines are repaired by the government. When war breaks out, their machines are taken and paid for by the government.

LANDWEHR—The second line of the German army into which every able-bodied German passes after his seven-year service in the active army, which begins at the age of 20. Service for the Landwehr is divided into two "bans"—the first of five years, the second of six to seven.

LANDSTROM — The final reserve, a force intended merely for home defense. It is composed of two "bans," of which the first is made up of all men between the ages of 17 and 35 who for any reason have received no military training. The second "ban" includes all men between the age of 39 and 45, trained or untrained. After his two years of compulsory service in the active army, the German soldier is divided into a total of about two months' service with his corps during the next five years. While he is in the first "ban" of the Landwehr, he is given from two weeks to a month of active training.

SHOOT AT BIRD; FANCY IT IS A PRUSSIAN--THAT'S PAUL PAU, THE GRAND OLD MAN OF FRANCE

"General Paul Pau is the one hero of the war so far—this declaration was made recently in a cable dispatch which told of a brilliant victory over 50,000 Germans won near Guise, France, by this gallant veteran of the Franco-Prussian war. So far brilliant victories have been scarce in the Allied lines. French military policy has limited the operation of its troops to masterly retreat. In Alsace, Mulhausen was taken by the French. Then, for the first time, a bulletin of the French war office mentioned the capture of a general."

German cannon shot away the right hand of the young and unknown Lieutenant who is today the hero of France. For forty-four years Paul Pau has waited for his revenge. No sooner had the pitiful stump which had been his right arm healed over than he began to learn to shoot with his left hand. To-day he is one of the crack marksmen of the French republic, and in later years whenever the French president has organized a hunting trip General-of-Division Paul Pau, commander of the Legion of Honor, has always been among the guests and invariably has brought down the largest bag.

Who is this one man who has maintained the superb traditions of Napoleon and Louis the Great in the midst of national disaster? His full name is Paul Mary Cesar (note the Cesar) Gerald Pau and he was born at Montellmar on the 29th of November, 1848, and educated at Saint Cyr, the famous military college instituted by Louis XIV. In 1870 he found himself part of that ill-fated French army which was led by Marshal McMahon through successive disasters. At Frostwiller a

"How is it that you never miss?" former President Fallieres once inquired of the one-armed marksman. "The answer is easy," replied General Pau. "When I take aim I say to myself always that I am firing at a Prussian." Small, with smoldering dark eyes, and the grizzled mustache which marked the grandiers of the great Napoleon, this man has kept himself alive for forty-four years on the hope that he would once more meet face to face the despoilers of France.

PERSON NOT GUILTY OF MURDER

LINCOLN, Ill., Oct. 5.—Carl Person, the editor of a labor magazine, tried here for the killing of Antone Musser, is today a free man, having been found not guilty of murder by the jury which deliberated over the case for 26 hours before returning the verdict. The shooting took place Dec. 30, 1914. Musser was killed after he had assaulted Person.

opinion is cowed. It dare not displease the provider. A fair trial for Person was impossible in Clinton. A change of venue was finally won and the case now is up at Lincoln, Ill., a locality hardly less prejudiced than Clinton.

THE PERSON CASE IN A NUTSHELL

Carl E. Person is the young machinist-editor who started his paper, The Strike Bulletin, in Clinton, Ill., when the railroad shopmen employed by the Illinois Central in that city went out on a strike because the road refused to recognize a committee representing all the unions at work. The road flooded its shops with strike-breakers and twice Person was slugged by them.

FAREWELL SERMON
Rev. T. W. Lane, pastor of the First Methodist church for four and a half years, preached his farewell sermon last night before a congregation that filled the building. He will enter a new field of work in Portland, Ore., while Rev. Delmar H. Trimble, of Portland, will take the pulpit here.

OBSERVE PEACE DAY
CENTRALIA, Oct. 5.—President Wilson's peace Sunday proclamation was observed with special services yesterday at all Centralia churches. The ministers of the city dealt with the European war in their sermons and observed the day of prayer for universal peace.

On December 30, 1913, Person was lured from his office into the neighborhood frequented by strike-breakers. Here he was set upon by one Tony Musser, a man of gigantic physique—Person is a little fellow of 125 pounds—and beaten into insensibility. When he recovered consciousness Musser was making another rush at him. He pulled a gun—carried since the previous attacks—and killed his assailant. Whatever money that comes into Clinton and other towns is through the I. C. Thus public
