USE YOUR BEAN

The largest mail order house in the world, now doing a business close to $100,000,000 a year, owes its origin to the quick wit of a boy telegrapher, who once received as a present a watch sent by mail. No doubt many boys, and girls, too, had received presents by mail and had never thought twice about them. But Richard Warren Sears turned the incident over in his mind and tried to locate a business meaning. The result was that when he was 45 years old he retired, worth $20,000,000, the result of seeing a chance which others had overlooked.

In the east there is a great correspondence school, with something like a million enrolled students, scattered throughout the earth. There is hardly a year when its profits don't exceed $2,000,000.

It, too, had a curious origin. In the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania, nearly two-score years ago, a young man was running a newspaper for miners. A law was passed which required a man who wished to become a miner to pass an examination involving some scientific knowledge. The editor of the paper for miners started a "Question and Answer" column to coach readers for the examination.

It was flooded. Then he printed a separate paper given over to this work. It couldn't supply the demand. So many letters came asking for replies by mail that, in self-defense, Thomas J. Foster had to open a correspondence school. The rest was simply growth.

We marvel at the size of great enterprises, but each stands for a timely idea whipped into workable shape in the acute mind of some enterprising pioneer. Chances are as numerous today as ever; indeed, they're more numerous because there are more needs. The moral is:

ANOTHER QUESTION

"The very idea! haven't you enough will-power to make your husband do as you wish?"
"My will power is all right, but it's his won't power that's the trouble."

ON WITH THE NEW

"I see Mrs. Kathem has got a divorce."
"Confound it, that means I've got to go and buy another wedding present."

A SLIGHT MISTAKE

"Tickets," said the collector as he opened the door of the car in which sat a man who looked as if he was anchored to his seat. The man handed over the pastebord, which was duly inspected. Then, looking around, the collector said: "Is there another gentleman in the car?"

"Is that other portmantou yours, then, too?"
"Other portmantou?"
"Yes; on the floor there by the other."
"Those," said the traveler with dignity, "are my feet."—Houston Chronicle.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

WAIT A MINUTE, MAN! DO YOU WANT ME TO LISTEN TO WHAT YOU SAY, OR SHALL I WATCH YOU WAVE YOUR HANDS?!

Anyhow, the New York baseball fans won't have to riot over somebody's not touching second base.

Fifty thousand families have been evicted for non-payment of rent in New York city during the past six months.

All Men Love a Lord

Is it a human instinct to love an aristocrat? Don't we all retain a fondness for the scion of a family upon which mankind during many years has lavished distinctions and privileges?

It would seem so. The New York primaries offer a new illustration. The republican nomination for Elihu Root's seat has been easily captured by Jimmie Wadsworth, the fox-hunting nobleman of the Genesee valley, who was projected into politics on a silver spoon, and is a ruddy-faced, thigh-slapping believer in the right of a few to inherit and rule the earth.

Congressman Calder, whom he defeated, is a commoner, about whose brow there are no social halos. It wouldn't surprise us, either, if Jimmie were elected and perhaps made the nominee of his party for the presidency two years hence.

For he has ability as well as lineage and money; and he accurately personifies the Hamiltonian tendencies of his party.

Needs House Cleaning

Notice, please, that the "war" tax bill, as it left the house, put no levy on checks and drafts but instead assessed $2 on each $1,000 of bank capital and surplus—in other words, so far as possible, it taxed wealth and privilege.

Now observe that in the senate, under the guidance of Finance Committee Chairman Simmons, who also led the "pork bill" grab, the proposed tax on bank capital has been stricken out and the tax on checks and drafts put back.

The senate was improved by popular elections but it still needs house cleaning—especially its southern wing.

Greeley, Colo., found a man who couldn't read, write, speak or hear, so she raised a fund and sent him to Frisco. Isn't that insulting?

Globe-Trotter Dwight Price of New York has got back to San Diego. Mexican bandits stripped him of his clothes. Chinese robbers stripped him of his jewelry. But San Diego real estate agents will carefully look him over, just the same.

Real hard sledding has been reached in settlement of Mexican matters when the government repudiates Huerta's concessions to foreigners.

Lately abusing Wilson for not shooting up Mexico, Willie Hearst is now singing hymns of peace. But maybe Willie has sold that bunch of long-horns down in Sheewaw-waw-waw.

Cutting off a morals officer and the telephone exchange operator at the city hall is quite typical of the idea of a majority of our astute commissioners of "economy" in revising the budget.

BEN WAS WISE

A young Lanchashire mill-worker had a mental relapse which resulted in his being sent to the county asylum.
"Hallo, Benny!" said a visitor, "how's tha gettin' on?"
"Oh, Ah'm gotin' on first rate, thank ye," answered the afflicted one.

"Ah'm very glad to her it, lad," said the visitor pleasantly. "I suppose you'll be comin' back to work soon, eh?"
"Vot!" exclaimed Ben. "Leave a big house and a grand garden like this to come back to work! Mon, dost tha think Ah'm wrong in my head?"
