

DIANA DILLPICKLES IN A 4-REEL "SCREECHER" FILM
The Hallow's'en Trap Worked Well

It Is Surprising

The leading military journal says: "This war has been full of surprises and military men are changing their views of actual warfare."

A good many non-military men have been surprised, too. They expected much from the British navy which "ruled the waves," and, thus far, that navy hasn't earned its salt. The German navy is safe behind the mines and not a single German waterfront has been bombarded.

France and England have some 1800 aeroplanes, and yet the German aviators make a Sunday pastime of bombing Paris.

The fortifications at Namur, Liege and Antwerp were advertised as the strongest possible, and yet the kaiser comes in with an 11-inch howitzer that easily blasts turrets, forts and entrenchments on high, proving that had he got within gunshot of Paris, that city would have fallen in no time.

On sea the most deadly work has been performed by the underestimated submarine and on land by a new gun with which Wilhelm surprises everybody.

What England and Russia learned in their recent wars doesn't get anywhere because of Germany's thorough preparedness for whatever may be needed.

When mines render almost harmless the navies of Great Britain and France and a new gun makes "impregnable" fortresses practically worthless, everybody has a right to be surprised. At any rate military theory is becoming pretty ragged.

Johnny Rockefeller's Tank Steamers

Your good old Johnny Rockefeller misses nothing that glitters in this world—not so you can notice it. Out of the worst wind that blows he plucketh the pence. Comes the automobile and Johnny makes it add hundreds of millions to his store of lucre. Now he's frisking old Mars for what he can get.

It appears that coal oil is very necessary, these halcyon days of war, in burning cities, villages, factories and homes. In at least one army they carry it in canteens. Also you need coal oil and gasoline to run war aeroplanes and dirigibles, and you absolutely MUST put kerosene in the bombs you drop from the clouds upon homes and frightened women and children and innocent babies in their cradles.

So Johnny Rockefeller sends the stuff across in big tank steamers, and when it is seized as contraband of war he shrieks bitterly to Uncle Sam about it.

Johnny's right hand is a good Baptist and believes war is terribly un-Christianlike. But his left hand cares nothing for the terror and desolation so long as the gold rolls in.

President Wilson might give Holland a few kind words of advice on how to handle war fugitives.

Civilization's progressing in the Dominican Republic, boasts the Bureau of Insular Affairs. In spite of weekly revolutions, the customs receipts are rising. 'Rah for civilization!

One little 16-year-old country girl's seeing the sights in Chicago has resulted in the arrest of 16 cafe owners, four hotel men and six others.

A MILD REQUEST. "Excuse me, sir," said the strap-hanger, "but would you mind moving your portmanteau from the gangway? I really can hardly find room to stand."

A CELEBRITY. A palatial touring car had attracted the attention of a visitor to Boston and he asked his friend: "Who is the man seated in that large car?"

MORE TO THE POINT. The little girl visiting the farm wrote home a sixpage letter about the flowers and scenery. Her brother wrote this on a postcard: "Grandma is a bully cok. I am having a good time eating. Dinner is ready now. Good-bye."—New York Mail.

Answer the Alarm

"Every Picture Tells a Story" If your kidneys are inflamed, don't stand around and do nothing. Like a fire, it will soon get beyond control. You will get the alarm in time — backache, or dizziness or disorders of the urine. Heed the warning. Live simply, "flush the kidneys by drinking plenty of pure water, and use Doan's Kidney Pills to help stamp out the cause of the trouble. There is no other kidney remedy so widely used, nor so well recommended. TACOMA PROOF: Mrs. G. L. Rynning, 5445 South 1st St., Tacoma, Wash., suffered from kidney complaint and inflammation of the bladder. Torturing pains in my back bothered me and I was so lame and sore that I could hardly stoop or straighten. The kidney secretions were unnatural. After using Doan's Kidney Pills, the kidney secretions became natural and the lameness left my back."
