CARRANZA REIGNS AT VERA CRUZ

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 27.—The city is in the hands of General Carranza and his followers today. He arrived here yesterday from Cordoba. Today, Carranza set up headquarters and proclaimed Vera Cruz his capital. From here his campaign against Villa and Zapata will be directed, he announced. The populace seems pleased that Carranza is here and he is accorded an ovation whenever he appears on the streets. Troop trains poured into the city today, bringing nearly the full strength of the Carranza forces. Gen. Carranza's headquarters will be in the lighthouse building. Just in front of this structure is moored the training ship Zaragoza of the Mexican navy. The Zaragoza arrived today. Near the lighthouse building are parked cars containing four aeroplanes, which are in charge of Joe Dean, an Englishman. Troops are camped all about the building.

ANOTHER BRITISH WARSHIP IS GONE

SHEERNESS, Eng., Nov. 27.—It is now estimated that there are only 14 survivors out of a crew of 700 or 800 men on board the British battleship Bulwark, which was blown up yesterday off the coast here. The explosion is believed to have been caused by an internal explosion. A commission has been appointed to determine whether the cause was accidental or by design. Houses on shore were shaken by the force of the explosion. Bodies of men and pieces of timber were blown high in the air.

Hero of Hanalei Wreck Taken Ashore On Stretcher

CHIEF STEWARD SIDNEY ASTON, hero of the wrecked Hanalei, as he was carried ashore at San Francisco from the U. S. revenue cutter McCullough. To the right is Mrs. Aston, wife of the Duxbury Reef hero, and at the extreme right is Capt. of Police Henry Gleeson, in charge of the police squad at the dock. The heroism of Steward Aston was officially recognized by Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco. When Aston saw that the vessel would break up he strapped the 15-month-old daughter of Mrs. Val Franz, a passenger, to his back and swam to a piece of wreckage. He managed also to get the mother aboard. For four hours he fought to keep mother and child from being swept away. Mrs. Franz managed to cling on until picked up by the lifeboats, but a comber at the last moment swept the child away.

GERMANS CAUGHT IN HUGE WAR TRAP DECLARES SIMS

(Copyright, 1914, by United Press; Copyright in Great Britain.) WITH FRENCH ARMY AT THE FRONT, via Paris, Nov. 24.—Delayed in transmission.—Caught, as if in a great trap which has been largely of their own making, the Germans are being slowly led to death without any apparent means of extrication. After three weeks of observation along the western battle front, this, it appears to me, is the situation in the European war at present. I am convinced that the allies are highly satisfied with the situation and feel perfectly content to let Germany wear herself out. From a notable and trustworthy source I gather that Germany is dissatisfied with the progress of the war the past month, but is unable now to either force the issue or to withdraw without losses that would stagger even the "perfect fighting machine" of which Germany boasts. The only remedy or hope for Germany now would be a decisive battle, but the German force is in no position to bring this about now. It is too late. Germany, in the west, is hemmed in. Its lines are so widely extended that it is an impossibility to concentrate its forces. In an endeavor to force matters, the Kaiser's lines have been extended to the sea. This move, however, has left him worse off than ever. The necessity for shortening his lines is urgent, but he cannot do it, for the allies can checkmate his move anywhere along the lines. The Germans, therefore, are condemned to hold on, despite the urgency of turning loose and the realization that Germany is growing weaker every day, as the allies receive re-enforcements, is admitted. Even if Germany had more troops to rush into France they could not break down the allies' wall and reach their companions' lines. The allies have nothing to gain by immediate action; immediate action to the Germans is vitally necessary.

Maclean Bros. (Incorporated) "QUALITY GROCERS"
Before a crowd of 10,000 spectators, the strong Oregon Agricultural college gridiron machine rode over their lighter opponents of the University of Southern California, in the Stadium yesterday afternoon. When the smoke cleared away at the end of the fourth quarter, O. A. C. had won by a 38 to 6 score. It was an unusual football game, aside from the fact that the teams were hardly well matched. The great amphitheater was almost silent during most of the contest, because the Tacoma football fans had little interest in either team, and did practically no cheering. There were no colors in the crowds representing either team. The Oregon boys outplayed the U. S. C. team, both through superior skill and overall weight. Nevertheless, it was a fast and spirited contest from start to finish.

Woman Carries 1000 Letters For Sailors of Interned Cruiser

Mrs. H. Fasshauer, an elderly German lady who arrived in San Francisco from Honolulu recently on the first leg of her journey to the Fatherland. Mrs. Fasshauer carried with her 1000 letters from the German jackies on the gunboat Geler, which was forced to intern in the harbor of Honolulu, Hawaii. She posted the letters at San Francisco from which place they will gradually, as occasion permits, filter into Germany to their various destinations. Mrs. Fasshauer is said to bear secret messages to the German government. She will go from San Francisco to New York, and from there will attempt to run the blockade to some German port.

SPY MAY HAVE BLOWN UP BIG BATTLESHIP BULWARK

LONDON, Nov. 27.—A secret investigation of the explosion which resulted in the loss of the dreadnaught Bulwark in Medway with the loss of nearly 800 men was begun here today. Naval experts are unable to account for the internal blast within the great fighting ship on any theory at all but that of deteriorated ammunition. This theory is regarded doubtful because frequent tests are made of all ammunition in the battleship's magazines. Rumors are being circulated today that a spy on board the ship, or a German submarine, caused the destruction of the Bulwark. That a submarine succeeded in penetrating the mine fields to reach the scene of the catastrophe is not thought likely by the experts. Many believe that a spy was on board the Bulwark and caused the explosion from within. Several newspapers are severe in their criticism of the admiralty's lack of vigilance in permitting strangers about the government docks. In the house of commons there is a disposition to scoff at the government version that a magazine explosion wrecked the Bulwark. The disaster is almost the sole topic of conversation in the parliament houses and on the streets. The statement was issued that the vessel's hull was split in three parts and that the funnels and masts were completely destroyed.

WET AND DRY FIGHT IN HOT SENATORIAL RACE

The race for state senator in the 25th senatorial district, comprising the Puyallup valley, today developed into a "wet" and "dry" fight. Dr. Frank Kilgore of Puyallup, "dry" fighter, and County Tire Inspector Short of Milton, who will also file this week, has taken up a "dry" platform. Mayor White of Sumner and Hugh Herren, republican and democratic candidates, will take the "wet" platform. "It has developed into a wet and dry fight," declared Short today, "and I think that the drys will win, because most of the district is already dry."

FOOTBALL IN STADIUM DRAWS BIG CROWD BUT NO CHEERING

Before a crowd of 10,000 spectators, the strong Oregon Agricultural college gridiron machine rode over their lighter opponents of the University of Southern California, in the Stadium yesterday afternoon. When the smoke cleared away at the end of the fourth quarter, O. A. C. had won by a 38 to 6 score. It was an unusual football game, aside from the fact that the teams were hardly well matched. The great amphitheater was almost silent during most of the contest, because the Tacoma football fans had little interest in either team, and did practically no cheering. There were no colors in the crowds representing either team. The Oregon boys outplayed the U. S. C. team, both through superior skill and overall weight. Nevertheless, it was a fast and spirited contest from start to finish.

STEAMER TACOMA RAMS LAUNCH

Passengers on the steamer Tacoma were given a fright last night when a launch vessel rammed the launch Fossberg of the Foss Launch Co. in the fog off Brown's point. The launch was so badly damaged it was beached to save it from sinking. Capt. Charles Berg, his son Chester and a deckhand were taken aboard the Tacoma, given dry clothing and taken to Seattle, returning on the same boat at a later hour.

PORTLAND GIRL'S FOOTBALL' FATAL SLAYER CRAZY, SAY EXPERTS

PORTLAND, Nov. 27.—That Fred Tronson, confessed slayer of Emma Ulrich, has the brain of a child and is irresponsibly mentally will be the plea made by his attorneys when he is placed on trial. It will be urged that he did not know the difference between right and wrong and that he is not only mentally incompetent, but that he is a victim of arrested development. Attorney Dan Powers, representing Tronson, will enter a motion for the examination of his client by expert alienists when the case of the state against Tronson is called before Judge McGinn. This probably will come within two weeks. The grand jury will investigate the alleged crime within a week. District Attorney Evans having delayed the case until he was certain of the statute of the anti-capital punishment law. Now that it has passed, a charge of second-degree murder probably will be placed against Tronson because of the fact that the recent amendment leaves life imprisonment as the heaviest punishment for murder.

FIRST MOVIE FILMS OF ACTUAL FIGHTING

Palace Will Show How Antwerp Was Defended Thrilling Scenes Pictured at the Front as British Hold Back Germans

Antwerp's brave defense is graphically told in motion pictures taken right in the beleaguered city that will be shown on the screen of the Palace theater Sunday and Monday next week. These war films, the first shown in Tacoma since the war began that picture actual fighting. Credit for obtaining these master war films is due to John Slaughter, manager of the Palace theater, who got the exclusive right to exhibit them in Tacoma during his recent trip East. No other theater in the city will have these war films. The principal part of these films show the British defense of Antwerp. The monster British guns that poured a rain of shell onto the advancing Germans are pictured coughing out smoke and shell at a lively rate. The retreat of the British is then shown and the oncoming victorious Germans can be seen in the distance. Even civilians helped defend Antwerp and the films show thousands of the citizens of this city digging trenches to be used by the soldiers.
