THE WORKING MAN

The conditions in a country like the United States that breed such a large army of unemployed and the consequently unusually long bread lines are a reproach to our civilization. All the charity bestowed upon those workers will not atone for the methods of exploitation practiced on them when they were employed.

The optimistic prophecies coming from time to time from the great corporate employers through their kept press will not feed hungry families. Men who have built skyscrapers and battlements are about to become the objects of "industrial paternalism," a new fad. Moral investigators are still investigating what the worker does with his $1.50 or $1.60 per day, while many a worker has unconsciously declared a "monotium."

Those workers are now working and will continue to work long hours for a mere pittance until they organize industrially for it is on the job and in the pay envelope that they are robbed. Their employers are banded together like "thieves at a fair." When labor secures justice there will no longer be need of charity for those who are able and willing to work. But I maintain that any method pursued by the workers outside their own economic strength to better their condition must certainly be unavailing.

Respectfully,
R. P. GILLESPIE,

Specialist Explains Cause of Stomach Trouble

Valuable Advice to Sufferers

"There are many different forms of stomach trouble," said a well-known specialist recently, "but practically all are traceable to excessive acidity and food fermentation. That is why the results obtained from the use of drugs are usually so disappointing. Admitting fermentation and consequent acidity of the food contents to be the underlying cause of most forms of indigestion, it naturally follows that the use of a reliable antacid, such as the pure bisaturated magnesia which is so frequently prescribed by physicians, will produce better results than any known drug or combination of drugs. Accordingly I almost invariably advise those who complain of digestive trouble to get some bisaturated magnesia (note the name carefully, as other forms are unsuitable for this purpose), from their druggist, and take from one to two teaspoonfuls of the powder, or two 5 grain compressed tablets, with a little water after meals. This by immediately neutralizing the acid and stopping the fermentation, removes the cause of all the trouble and insures normal and healthy digestion."

CUBANS CAN TEACH AMERICAN HOW TO ENJOY LIFE IN TOWN, SAYS BABSON

(Roger W. Babson, famous writer, statistician and business expert, is touring South America with the idea of making a close study of the people and trade conditions in the republics to the south, especially as they bear relation to American trade. This is the third letter on Cuba—Babson's first stop en route.)

HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 17.—Cuba is a great big garden lying ninety miles east of Key West, Florida. It is 780 miles long and varies in width from 20 to 100 miles. It has 2,000 miles of coastline and a total area of about 45,000 square miles. About three-fifths of the island is made up of fertile plains, with scattered hills and valleys; about one-fifth is mountainous, and the remaining fifth is swampy.

An officer of my steamer—the Red Star S. S. Kroonland—formed me that Cuba is sometimes called the "Island of a Hundred Harbors." Certainly she is greatly blessed with harbors, which, by the way, are very scarce on the coast of South America.

The chief interior cities are Camaguey, Santa Clara and Matanzas.

The climate in winter is like our April and May; and in summer like our July and August—only hotter. However, it is always possible to get into the breeze.

Each day in summer the wonderful trade winds swept over the island. If you will get on an elevation so as to take advantage of these winds, you can be very comfortable. Moreover, these people do not go out into the sun, as do we foolish Americans, but plan their work and play to take best advantage possible of both winds and shade.

I have just come in from the "Prado."

For the last hour, I have been sitting upon a bench in the central park—a beautiful spot with concrete walks, flower beds, laurel trees, cut in formal shapes, and statuary.

From four o'clock in the afternoon until late at night, crowds come to this great municipal playground. Around about are the hotels, restaurants, theaters, club houses, and public buildings; but the park itself is a garden and playground for all the people.

During the entire evening the famous municipal band has been playing—and they tell me it plays five times each week.

I know of no city in the United States which gives such pleasure to its people and yet this same scene is being repeated this very night in hundreds of Latin-American cities.

CUBANS OF THE RURAL DISTRICT.

the meaning of the word recreation. Our play must be of a nature which truly recreates health, energy and tired men and women.

I often think that the children of our schools not only need to learn about Cuba, Central and South America, but also to learn from the countries.

As I said before, it is your fault that your city does not have its municipal band play in a great public square each night. The fact of the case is that if it did play you would not go to listen to it. You're too busy. You're too nervous. You had rather sit in a hot, ill-ventilated moving picture theater, or be tossed about in the scenic railway of your nearest "pleasure" park.

We Americans must learn to play and rest. We must learn

FIRE IN MINE BURNS FOR 62 YEARS, WON'T GO OUT

SUMMIT HILL, Pa., Feb. 23.—Mine operators of Panther creek valley are seeking to conquer the fire which has been burning sixty-two years in the mines here which are owned by the Leigh Coal and Navigation company. Owners of the burning mine thought they had the fire extinguished, but recently dense volumes of smoke were discovered pouring from the abandoned shafts in the vicinity of McCready's old mines. Flames can now plainly be seen during the night belching from the earth.

During the sixty-two years that the mines have been after millions has been expended by the Leigh Coal Navigation company and millions of dollars worth of coal has been reduced to ashes. Powerful pumps for many years were constantly kept working at an enormous cost pumping water into the valley in the hopes of getting control of the fire. The work, however, proved to be without avail.

One million dollars was then expended to sink an immense concrete wall deep down into the earth in front of the underground conflagration with the hope of checking it. Quite recently all the caves and abandoned shafts were sealed or filled in to prevent any draughts reaching the fire, but this seemed only to increase the activity of the flames. The blaze after raging for some time died out of its own accord and mine owners thought it would be only a question of time when work could be resumed in shafts adjacent to the fire which had to be abandoned because of the intense heat and danger of explosions.

The fire breaking out fresh, however, will cause renewed efforts on the part of the operators to prevent the fire reaching the rich veins of anthracite coal throughout the valley and cause the destruction of millions of tons more of coal.

ZEPPELINBOMBS KILL FIVE

WORLD'S ALMANAC NOW HUGE VOLUME

If there is anything new under the sun, the chances are that it's in The World Almanac. This is a sweeping statement. For its justification one may point with much confidence to the files of this most regular of annuals. For particular and correct instances, reference is recommended to the issue for 1915, now just at hand.

Here, set forth, besides election and census returns, sporting records, industrial and financial reports, a New York city gazetteer, and the countless formal information departments to which the years have accustomed readers of The World Almanac, are a review of the war in Europe; notes on the wars of the world; the political state platforms of 1914; details of the special or emergency tax; analysis of the prison population; factory statistics; workmen's compensation laws; occupations in the United States; the Federal Reserve Act; the Federal Trade Commission; statistics of foreign born population in the United States; a description of the Mexican situation; facts about the Chinese republic; the progress and plans of the Pan-American Drive; a paper on the aeroplane and aviation generally in war, and too many other things to receive even a reviewer's bare mention.

Engerbrith Messon, pioneer, is dead today, aged 83 years. He was stricken with paralysis in a local hospital. He leaves a number of relatives here.
