

Allies May Not Force Embargo

LONDON, March 2.—Strong approval of the determination of Great Britain and France to place an embargo on the shipment of any commodities to and from Germany is expressed here today by the newspapers and general public.

The press expresses regret that neutral commerce must suffer, but supports Premier Asquith's statement that the allies must not allow themselves to be swayed from the course by the protests of other nations.

In spite of this, there is a strong undercurrent of feeling that the proposed embargo may not be enforced. Some men have said they cannot see how the British government could establish such an unprecedented in the face of combined protests of neutrals.

It is pointed out that Premier Asquith, in his speech in the house of commons, carefully avoided making a statement of a hard and fast policy. He said that the British and French warships would "hold themselves free to detain vessels."

Many believe that this may prove the loophole with which the allies have provided themselves.

MOSQUE OF CONSTANTINOPLE, WHICH ALLIES MAY WIN

Greatest among Constantinople's 370 mosques is that of Agia Sofia, formerly the Church of Saint Sophia, 250 by 235 feet. It was begun in 532 and was built in five years. Its shape is that of a cross. The dome rises to a height of 180 feet.

TUBERCULAR CATTLE BILL PASSES HOUSE

OLYMPIA, March 2.—House bill 139, providing for the slaughter or quarantine of tubercular cows, was passed by the house today by a vote of 67 to 24. Five members were absent. The Pierce county members all voted for the bill.

The measure is intended to protect the meat and milk supply throughout the state. The owner of tubercular cows is given the option of killing the animals or placing them in quarantine under the supervision of the department of agriculture.

The house passed to the third reading the bill giving public service corporations the right to have their employers made officers of the law. In discussion, Lane, of King, declared the bill tended to create strike-breakers.

The bill introduced by Robe, of Snohomish, providing for a 35 per cent inheritance tax increase advanced to third reading in the house. It provides for a half million dollar increase for the biennium.

AFTER SPEEDERS

Justice Graham today issued warrants for the arrest of R. H. Genereaux and G. Olsen, both of whom were told by a motorcycle patrolman to report in court, but are said to have failed to obey.

Olsen is charged with having speeded on the valley road to Puyallup with his auto Feb. 14, at a rate of 33 miles an hour. Genereaux, it is alleged, rode his motorcycle over the same highway at 55 miles, Feb. 21.

Cops Don't Have to Join Y. M. C. A.

Tacoma policemen will not have to take physical culture exercises at the Y. M. C. A.

Commissioner Mills announced today that the Y. M. C. A. deal was off. The association will have to pay its bills for city light and water when they come due March 10, or the city will cut off the supply.

In a raid conducted by Police Sergeant Guy and two detectives three women at the Windsor hotel, 1506 1/2 Pacific avenue, were arrested last night. Della Cloud, age 29, proprietor of the hotel, was charged with selling liquor illegally. Florence Dixon, a "dressmaker" and Cecil Grey, a "stenographer," were charged with disorderly conduct.

READ WHAT IT HAS DONE FOR THE WIFE OF TACOMA'S CHIEF OF POLICE.

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 16, 1915.
Mr. P. H. Hebb, Kar-Ru Chemical Co., Tacoma, Wash.

Dear Sir: I had been in a very nervous and run-down condition for many years, subject to agonizing headaches and periodically prostrated, being confined to my bed for weeks at a time. Medicine of all sorts failed to help me, and no doctor was able to give me any relief, although I tried many of the best physicians. My life was a burden to myself and family, when in June, 1914, a friend told Mr. Loomis of the wonderful work you were doing with Kar-Ru. Within a few days after starting the remedy, which you so kindly sent me, I noticed a great improvement, and within a month I ceased having any pain or further trouble. My general health improved beyond belief, and today I am in perfect health.

For the sake of women suffering as I did I wish the world to know what Kar-Ru did for me.

Gratefully yours,
MRS. A. P. LOOMIS.

JURY EXONERATES DRIVER OF AUTO IN RECENT CRASH

George P. McCann, a saloonman of Old Town, is today free of any responsibility for the deaths of Dougald McDonald and William Reidy, who were killed last Wednesday when McCann's auto plunged off a bridge along the Old Town waterfront.

The coroner's inquest jury yesterday afternoon returned a verdict declaring the slippery condition of the road the cause of the accident.

Mrs. John Anchor, 2414 1/2 North 30th street, testified that at the time the automobile driven by McCann plunged over the Old Town bridge last Wednesday killing two and injuring Patrick McGraw, employe of the Puget Sound mill were returning home from work and were eye witnesses to the tragedy.

None of these workmen was called by the prosecuting attorney nor the coroner, but a great number of McCann's closest friends were admitted as witnesses.

Mrs. Anchor said she was sitting in the window when she saw the automobile fly past at a rate she estimated at between 30 and 45 miles an hour.

Patrolman Strickland, who took McGraw to the Tacoma General hospital, where he now lies, testified that McGraw had repeatedly said after the accident, "why did I get into the machine? I told them not to go so fast."

INSANE, BITES TWO OFFICERS

City Detectives A. C. Brown and Price Robe were severely bitten on the fingers last night while attempting to subdue Gabriel Arbjornsen, an insane man. The detectives had gone to Arbjornsen's home to place him under arrest.

RUNAWAY YOUNGSTERS SENT BACK HOME

Edward Peoppel, age 12, and Frank O. P. Walsh, 14, ran away from Seattle yesterday and were caught by Patrolman Bell at the Tacoma Union depot at 9:30 last night. After spending the night in a detention home, they were turned back to their parents today.

Frank Walsh is a brother of Edward Walsh, one of the runaway Seattle lads caught here yesterday. Frank had a huge revolver strapped to his belt. This was confiscated.

VOTE TO RESTORE GALLOWS

OLYMPIA, March 2.—The senate has passed senate bill 220, which restores the death penalty for murder, but leaves it to the discretion of the court whether the punishment shall be life imprisonment or the extreme penalty. The vote was: Ayes, 28; noes, 14.

Both sides quoted figures from the criminal annals of the state to show either the abolition of capital punishment encouraged premeditated murder or that it had the opposite effect.

Senator Sharpstein asked Senator W. S. Davis of Pierce if a member of his family were slain by a murderer, what would he consider a fitting punishment? Senator Davis replied: "Death would not be the punishment I should choose. It is a mark of civilization to show restraint in the impulse to kill. It is just as important that the people as a whole should exercise this restraint as the individual. If the penalty for the crime which you have mentioned were left to me I should impose life imprisonment."

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

All people are warned against unscrupulous persons claiming to represent the Tacoma Labor Advance in any way whatever unless such person has credentials dated in the year 1915 and bearing the signature of the managing editor, R. V. ROY.

FAILED TO MAKE GOOD

THE GREATER TACOMA CLOAK AND SUIT COMPANY failed to see any chances of making money so they quit; giving us their store room for a mere trifle of what they had paid. We, being overstocked are taking advantage of this opportunity. We are not in the least backward in telling the public that we can't pay bills with goods hanging on the racks. We therefore have taken this means of disposal. We will not figure former cost, but mark prices at a mere fraction of their original selling price.
