Confessions of a Wife

(Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Enterprise Association)
"And now, my dear, what are you going to do?" I repeated. Hatton's words to Mollie after she had told me what had happened over at Mr. Hatton's.
"As soon as Chadwick is able we are going to put his yacht into commission and go for a long cruise," she answered calmly.
I jumped up and grasped her shoulder. "What—what did you say?"
"We are going on a long cruise as soon as Chadwick is able."
"No, Margie, I am perfectly sane, but I can see no reason why Chadwick and I should be punished for the sins of that terrible woman who is down in that insane asylum, a creature who would not know him if she saw him.

"It will be marriage to me."
"Oh, you must not do it dear, you must not do it."
"Why not? We love each other. It will be no sacrifice for me to do this for my lover who has only me in all the world. Besides other women have done this. George Elliot did it. George Henry Lewis' wife was in the insane asylum when she went to live with him.
"I expect every girl who has read of George Elliot and who has or thinks she has fallen in love with a married man and been tempted to fly with him has solved her conscience by citing as an excuse for her action, George Elliot, which shows that the old adage, 'Actions speak louder than words,' is true.
"Well, I cannot see anything wrong under the circumstances," said Mollie defiantly, "in Chadwick and I taking our lives into our own hands. We do not need the law to make our love moral."
"But you need it to make it legal."
"Mollie, dear, I don't believe Mr. Hatton will allow you to do this thing. It will kill your mother and estrange you from all your friends."
"Will you cut me off, Margie?" asked Mollie suddenly.
"No, dear, I wouldn't cut you off no matter what you might do, but for your own sake, dear, for your happiness in the years to come I want you to renounce this mad project."
"Don't you think our love will last?"
"My dear Mollie, passionate

Keep the Children Bright and Happy

Happy youngsters must be healthy. The digestive organs of children get out of order as readily as do those of their elders, and the result is equally distressing. When the bowels are clogged with an accumulation of refuse from the stomach the child naturally becomes cross and fretful from the discomfort, and is often punished for temper when medical attention is really what is needed.
The next time your child is cross and unhappy, without apparent reason, try giving it a mild laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a mild, pleasant tasting combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, and is especially recommended for children because of its freedom from all opiate or narcotic drugs and its gentle action. It is sold in drug stores everywhere. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 453 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

love never lasts, and that is the only love that makes one defy the law as well as public opinion.
"Do you mean to tell me, Margie, that the love you have for Dick is different from that you had when you married him?"
"Yes, dear. When I married him I felt as you do, that all I would need to be perfectly happy would be to be with him."
"To belong to him," interrupted Mollie. I smiled to myself although my heart was aching with the knowledge that I used the same words to you, little book, the night before I was married.
"That feeling of exaltation does not, cannot last, my dear Mollie. Life is greater than love. Whatever the poets and idealists may say love must take its place with the other things which go to make up the sum of human existence.
"The greatest lovers in the world have said that passionate love lasts but two years and we must know that in all successful marriages it is succeeded by conjugal affection.
"I am sure you, who are such a clever girl, cannot help, when you look about you, noticing how differently lovers act from married couples. I think men recover from passionate love much sooner than women. If you have read Addison, dear, you will certainly remember his remark, 'When man becomes familiar with his goddess she quickly sinks into a woman,' but the English philosopher and man of letters failed to say further that until he is old and gray, having lost his 'goddess' he goes out hunting for a new one."
"Margie, Margie, you are cynical."
"No, my dear, for even you must realize that after goddesses, women must be rather tame. Mollie, dear, let me tell you something that I have learned since marriage: No man's love is worth the sacrifice of everything a woman has to give, because it is only the passionate love of man that will ask this sacrifice and no man can love a woman passionately to the end of his life, and in nine cases out of ten instead of putting the calmer and vastly more enduring conjugal affection in its place, he goes out in the world again to seek his 'goddess.'"

CYNTHIA GREY'S LETTERS

Q.—I have read so many of your letters and find them good, so I thought I would come to you. I am a girl of thirteen and I am in the eighth grade. I can't get along with the teacher and can't understand history. I wish you would please send me the address of the moving picture company in California. I wish to become a moving picture actress.
Yours truly,
BRIGHT EYES.
A.—Dear little Bright Eyes,
FRECKLES
Don't Hide Them With a Veil! Remove Them With the Othine Prescription.
This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by druggists under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.
Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.
Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

Q.—Will you tell me, please how many books constitute the "Tarzan" series and the name of the author of same? Thank you.
W. F. W.
A.—There are just the two books,—"Tarzan of the Apes" and "The Return of Tarzan." They were written by Burrows.

Q.—Will you please tell me how one who had did a deed deserving of a Carnegie Hero medal would go about to get it? That is, to whom must one apply? A. L. D.
A.—Applications should be made by letter addressed to the manager, Carnegie Hero Fund, Oliver Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

You Can't Brush Or Wash Out Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.
Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.
You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.
You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work. "Advertisement."
