A SUGGESTION FOR A SIMPLE DINNER

One day last week I called on a friend who is a very practical, capable housewife. It has long been a mystery to my friends and myself how this woman accomplished what she did without help and on the income which we know she had. My call convinced me that she was something more than practical. She had meat cooking on the simmering burner and cinnamon buns, rolls, potatoes and pudding in the oven. I was astonished and asked how she could accomplish so much, apparently at one operation. She replied, "During the time I was putting my rolls on the pans, I browned my veal for fricassee on the large burner, then removed it to the simmering burner to finish cooking. I then prepared the balance of my meal so as to have it ready to go into the oven, so it all could be baked with the one heat."
The following are some of her recipes and menu for dinner:

Fricassee of Veal With Dumplings, Baked Potatoes, Lemon Carrots, Hot Rolls, Queen of Bread Pudding.

Brown Fricassee of Veal.
Cut in pieces 2 pounds of veal from shoulder. Season with salt and pepper, dredge with flour and brown in butter or hot fat. Cover with boiling water, add 1 small onion, 2 stalks celery and 6 slices carrot. Simmer 2 hours. Remove the meat and thicken liquid for gravy.

Dumplings.
One pint flour, 4 tablespoonfuls baking powder, 1/2 teaspoonful salt, 1 scant cup milk. Mix the dry ingredients, stir in the milk gradually to make a soft dough. Drop quickly by the spoonful into the boiling water, letting them rest on the meat. Cover closely to keep in the steam and cook just 10 minutes without lifting the cover. Serve at once. To make a successful dumpling, two points must be observed: First, if liquor covers most of the dumplings, it off and save for gravy, as dumplings must rest on the meat and not in the liquor; second, the cover must not be lifted before 10 minutes.

Cinnamon Buns.
Make a sponge of 8 cups of scalded milk, 1 cup water, 1 yeast cake and enough flour to make a stiff batter. Beat well and set away to become light. When batter is full of bubbles, add 1 cup pulverized sugar, 1/2 cup melted butter, grated rind of 1 lemon, 2 eggs well beaten, 1 teaspoon salt, flour enough to knead lightly. When well risen, cut into rounds and place on pans some distance apart and let stand until very light. Cream together 1/2 cup butter, 1-4 cup of sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. When buns are ready for oven, make slit in top of each one with a sharp knife and place some of the dressing in it. Roll together 1 teaspoonful corn starch with 1 cup of boiling water for 3 minutes. When buns are ready to come from oven, brush each one over with the starch mixture, sprinkle with granulated sugar and return to oven to glaze.

Queen of Bread Pudding.
One pint bread crumbs soaked 1 hour in 1 quart of milk. Beat 2 eggs; mix 1-4 cup of sugar, 1 teaspoonful salt, 1 scant spoonful cinnamon or nutmeg and 1 tablespoonful softened butter. Stir into the eggs and then stir all into the milk. Bake 1 hour in a buttered pudding dish. Four eggs may be used when a richer pudding is desired. This becomes the "Queen of Puddings" by leaving out the whites, and after baking, spreading a layer of jam or berries over the top. Then a meringue of the whites and browning slightly in the oven.

YUAN SENDS NOTE

PEKIN, May 7.—China today submitted a new note to Japan which is expected to avert the serious crisis in the negotiations growing out of Tokio's demands on Pekin.

While the text is kept secret, officials declare, that in effect it concedes, under protest, the chief Japanese demands.

This new reply was framed after an all-night conference between President Yuan and his advisers.

LONDON, May 7.—Dispatches received here from Pekin lead diplomats to believe that the action of China surely will prevent an Oriental war.

It is thought China has conceded practically all of Japan's demands and that only the details remain to be worked out.

BUSINESS MEN BACK C. OF P. S.

In addition to the notice which will be read in all the churches Sunday morning relative to the meeting in the afternoon at the First Congregational church in the interest of the College of Puget Sound, a committee of business men backing the movement today issued a special invitation to the general public.

This committee includes: Dr. E. A. Rich, George H. Stone, J. H. Davis, George Milton Savage, George R. Osgood, Herbert Hunt, W. L. McCormick, George J. Chapman, Lind Messinger and C. H. Grinnell.

MILLER TO PLEAD "UNWRITTEN LAW"

court yesterday at her husband's appearance.

Shows No Emotion.
However, the defense is confident that she will stand by him in this case, and the evidence which she is expected to give concerning Chatten is expected to form a most effective part of the Miller defense.

Miller sat in court without showing the least emotion. He heard from Judd Greenman, foreman of the Union Mills, who was an eye-witness to the tragedy, tell OLYMPIA, May 7.—A. L. Miller, charged with the murder of his employer, William Chatten of the Union Mills, will make the unwritten law his defense.

Indications were clear as to this yesterday when in a preliminary hearing, his attorney made not the slightest attempt to contest the plea of the state that Miller had left home deliberately to trap whatever man should visit his wife in his absence, and that as a part of this deliberate plan, he had shot and killed Chatten.

Miller will rest his fate with the jury on the claim that he never has taken just vengeance on the man who ruined his home.

Wife Not Present.
His arraignment will be next Monday forenoon. Meanwhile he is in jail, pending the finding of a bondsman.

The defense will attempt to show, so the actions of Attorney T. S. Vance for the murderer indicate, that William Chatten, president of the mill, long had had improper relations with Mrs. Miller.

It will be contended that as Miller's employer, he would know just when the latter, his sales manager, was away from the city, and even that he would direct him to be absent, so as to enjoy immunity in his meetings with Miller's wife.

The latter, a strikingly beautiful woman, did not appear in all the details of how he returned home, found Chatten just leaving, and shot him.

Greenman testified that he tried to prevent Miller from shooting. Pick Up Dead Body. "Think of your wife and the penitentiary," Greenman urged Miller, so the former testified. Miller answered: "I am thinking of the man who ruined my home," and shot twice more. It was not until then that Greenman saw what Miller was shooting at—the body of Chatten lying beside the road. He called Chatten's brother, and the two of them carried the wounded man into the mill office and laid him on a desk.

FIND MORE PAY ON CREEK NEAR FAIRBANKS
FAIRBANKS, Alaska, May 7.—Following the lining up of a paystreak on Livengood creek and the beginning of mining operations at the mouth of Olive creek by Gus Peterson and others, comes the news fresh from the new camp that pay has been opened on the right limit bench of Livengood in two places. Elijah Success Assisted by the Philharmonic orchestra and several soloists, the choir of the First Presbyterian church last evening presented the oratorio Elijah successfully. The soloists—F. W. Wallis as Elijah, Mrs. Chandler Sloan as the widow, Kathleen Morris, contralto, and R. Festyn Davies, as Obadiah—had full command of their parts. The chorus gave satisfactory support. George H. Stone gave a brief talk on the life of the composer, Mendelssohn, in intermission.

1,500,000 BIRTHS IN TACOMA!

"One million, five hundred thousand flies have been bred in Tacoma during the hot weather of the last three days," said Health Officer Wall today.

"Preventative methods taken a week ago might have saved us the bother of combating these million and a half pests. Now we have to kill them," said the health commissioner.

Every warm day causes thousands of flies to be hatched out. If Tacoma would fortify itself with fly traps, clean up its rubbish, protect its manure and garbage, the breeding places would be done away with.

Dr. Wall said today that he had heard nothing from the city schools, and had received no notification concerning the schools' plan to build fly traps. "The city is handicapped by having no funds for public health protection," said Dr. Wall. "With a few dollars we could build enough fly traps to prevent the breeding of all these germ-carriers. But we have no money, and can't do a thing unless the public will assist us by taking voluntary action in the fly campaign."

Bridge's Collapse Foreseen

Within four days after Commissioner Owen Woods had notified the city council that the North Union avenue bridge was in a precarious condition and liable to collapse at any time, the big structure yesterday afternoon buckled and dropped into the Menter gulch, big timbers flying 100 feet in all directions.

The city council had taken no interest in Woods' warning, and the bridge had been left open to traffic. A truck had passed over the structure less than two minutes before it fell.

The bridge stood between North 31st and 33rd streets, on Union, and was in plain sight of the Point Defiance street car bridge on Proctor street. It was the highest street bridge in the city, had been built in 1890, and was decayed beyond repair.

Four years ago the bridge roadway was narrowed to 25 feet, and at that time a notice was posted of pending heavy traffic from using the structure. The warning was generally disregarded. It is believed that the last few days' warm weather hastened dry rot in the bridge timbers, and that the vibration of the heavy truck yesterday caused the timbers to snap off. Only 50 feet of the two-block bridge remains standing. It will not be rebuilt.

KAISER WARNS ITALY!

ROME, May 7.—Italy will find herself confronted by a great German army should she enter the war on the side of the allies. This is the warning sounded by the Kaiser himself.

With the Germans on the western front making steady gains and the Russians being driven out of Prussia, William III, telegraphing to Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador at Rome, has let it be known that he will be in a position to spare thousands of men to oppose any army Italy may put in the field.

Despite these warnings, however, Italy continues her preparations for war. The service of 45 passenger trains on main lines has been suspended to facilitate the movement of troops and munitions.
