

Eastland Tragedy Sired By Greed, Says Father of New U. S. Seamen's Act

CHICAGO, July 30.—"Sired by greed and fostered in corruption—by men who have allowed profit to chloroform their conscience!"

"There is your answer to the capsizing of the topheavy steamer Eastland and the loss of more than 1000 lives," declared Andrew Furuseth, father of the La Follette seamen's bill and president of the International Seamen's union of America.

"The shipowners are to blame because of the system which they have fostered," asserted the "grand old man of the sea."

"But the UNITED MARINE INSPECTION SERVICE IS DIRECTLY TO BLAME because the service, although warned repeatedly, has disregarded these warnings. It is rotten from end to end."

"I put this directly up to George Uhler of Washington, D. C. for, as supervising inspector general, he has had evidence after evidence placed before him pointing out and forecasting just such calamities as the Eastland and yet HE HAS DONE NOTHING and has let his subordinates go on issuing permits to vessels which they knew should not be permitted to sail the lakes, let alone carry passengers."

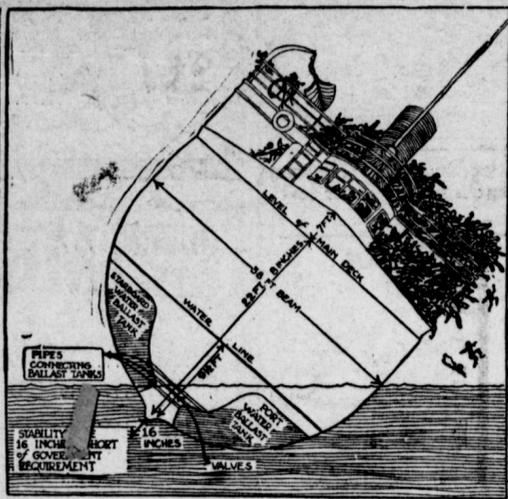

"One year ago we submitted to the department of commerce reports of an investigation which showed that boat after boat was being allowed to operate on the lakes overcrowded and underballasted and in other ways unseaworthy, even predicting loss of life on a boat tied to the pier as the Eastland was."

"Yet the department did nothing."

"Secretary Redfield I do not hold responsible, for in the multitude of his duties he has to depend upon his bureau chiefs."

"Inspected in Cleveland in 1913 the Eastland's excursion permit only allowed 533 to be carried in addition to the crew. The inspectors knew her faults and knew that more than 700 people would prove dangerous."

"But in Grand Haven in 1914 she was issued a permit for 2,000. Then this year a permit is issued allowing the shipowners to load

Human Ballast: The sketch above shows how the weight of 2500 passengers on top instead of sufficient ballast below toppled over the Eastland and caused the loss of more than 1,000 lives. It is said by seamen that the Eastland's stability line, the imaginary line indicated in the picture above, was only 4 inches deep, 16 inches short of the government requirement. Below is a picture, the only one ever taken, of Andrew Furuseth, father of the Seamen's Act, who puts blame for Eastland disaster on United States inspection service.

"And the inspectors are appointed mainly upon the recommendation of shipowners. And what happens? If an inspector develops a conscience, out he goes. There are lots of good men in the service, but they can do nothing—they are helpless. If they do anything they don't last."

"And it is this system—the shipowners—that the fighting for a repeal of the Seamen's Act. A law which, had it been in force now, would have prevented the loss of 1000 lives on the Eastland."

"It would have been impossible to carry the necessary number of lifeboats and rafts for 2500 as made necessary under the new law which goes into effect Nov. 1, and therefore the number of people would have had to be cut—probably to less than 1000."

"Of course, they are fighting the Seamen's Act! It puts a value upon human life without considering the cost of operation or of lifeboats."

"Naturally the owners want to carry the maximum of people, regardless of danger, at the minimum of expense. Can you blame foxes for eating geese?"

Desertion, Jail, Court, Divorce

Anton Karabarch deserted his wife Kathrin a month ago, because, he says, she kept the house dirty.

Kathrin had Anton put in jail for 10 days for desertion.

Anton, upon getting out, had Kathrin put in jail for 10 days, alleging conduct unbecoming a wife while he was languishing.

And today Anton started the fish by launching proceedings for a permanent vacation, in the nature of a divorce action in Judge Card's court.

ANTI-JAP RIOTS WORRY CANNERIES

BELLINGHAM, July 30.—It became suspected today that a secret mass meeting by unemployed white men was held Saturday night to frame up some method to drive out the Japanese working in the Bellingham canneries, and it is thought by the sheriff that this meeting explains the blowing up of the main supplying this city with water.
