"POSING RANCH," WHERE GIRLS SAY THEY WERE PHOTOGRAPHED UNDRAPED, UNDER U. S. PROBE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—A "posing farm" where attractive girls and women, under the direction of a self-styled connoisseur, J. T. Valpey, allowed themselves to be photographed in the "altogether" ostensibly for motion picture purposes, is under investigation here today by the federal authorities.

The detention of Miss Muriel Doris Copping of Vancouver, a captivating young girl, who admits posing undraped on Valpey's ranch near Covina, Cal., brought out some startling revelations. Valpey's arrest followed.

According to the story she has told the authorities, Miss Copping is a law student, Grecian dancer and physical culturist.

She says she met Valpey through an advertisement. He told her that a moving picture company was to be organized, according to her statements, and asked her to secure for him five women models.

She sent several girls to Valpey and they posed for him, though none received any money, according to her story.

In acknowledging that she had posed undraped, Miss Copping declared she had a beautiful body, and maintained that if by showing it in pictures she could teach other girls the way to become physically beautiful, she believed she had the right to do so.

The officers said, after closely questioning her, that they did not believe she had been a willful party to any wrongdoing, if any had been committed.

Valpey denies any guilt, asserting the pictures were merely made for artistic purposes. His arrest was brought about through the agency of Miss Leona Eames, who went to the "posing farm" at the direction of Miss Copping.

The "posing retreat" is about a mile from the car line, in a secluded, woody spot near the ranch bungalow.

Miss Eames became suspicious, went to the federal authorities and explained the whole matter so far as she knew it.

WASHINGTON COMPANY HAS A GREAT DISPLAY

A visit to the showrooms of the Washington Parlor Furniture Co. near the Eleventh street bridge, will amply repay any Tacoma man who happens to be curious as to what is manufactured by this Tacoma concern.

With a floor space of 170 by 120 feet, three stories high, one can see the goods in process of manufacture in every conceivable form of solid comfort.

Rocking chairs, settees and davenport, including the new Monarch push button chair, are on display in profusion.

Special attention is called to the new patent davenport bed, which the firm claims surpasses anything that has been manufactured up to the present time.

POLITICS AT SCHOOL MEET

OAKLAND, Aug. 19.—The day's session yesterday at the 52nd annual convention of the National Education association took on an appearance of a state political convention, preparatory to the nomination today of a presidency. Indications pointed to the nomination of David B. Johnson of South Carolina over Miss Grace Strachan of New York.

GREECE EAGER TO REGAIN ALL HER OLD TIME LANDS

ATHENS, Aug. 19.—The policy to be followed by the new cabinet which King Constantine has authorized Premier Venizelos to form, will be for Greece to regain former possessions.

The culmination of such an idea can come only through war with Turkey, it is said.

This realization would have been easier before Italy entered the war. Her possession of Aegean islands, claimed by Greece, complicates matters now.

HEXAMER TO SPEAK TONIGHT

The hyphen a menace to American liberty? The hyphenated American an "undesirable citizen"?

Say not so to Dr. C. J. Hexamer, national head of the German-Americans of the nation, 18,000,000 strong, who visited Tacoma today preparatory to an address this evening at 8 o'clock in the Tacoma theater.

His talk will be on "The Other Side," and it will be an answer to those who have objected to the activities of Teutonic Americans.

"Every American but an Indian is a hyphenated American," said Dr. Hexamer, who arrived here from Seattle this afternoon.

"The fact that we wish fair treatment for our Fatherland is no sign we are not true, loyal Americans."

Dr. Hexamer's father was a noted abolitionist before the Civil war who encountered the fury of a Hoboken, N. J., mob because of his love of freedom. His uncle was head of the famous "Hexamer battery" which fought for the preservation of the Union in the Civil war. Not until pro-slavery papers began their assaults was the loyalty of a Hexamer to the United States ever questioned.

ABATEMENT CASE TO BE FILED SOON

Abatement charges will be filed against the Alaska hotel, which was operated by Rose Foster, by Prosecuting Attorney Reman the latter part of this week, he said today.

Mrs. Anna C. Satterlee, owner of the building, probably will be forced to bond the building at its full value, which is in the neighborhood of $70,000.

This bond will then be underwritten for possibly $5,000 to insure the district attorney's office protection against expense, it is thought.

Attorney Browder Brown said this morning that the forfeited bail of Mrs. Foster and Carl Bradshaw, amounting to $1,000, would be paid at once.

It is thought that the furniture of the Alaska hotel transferred to Brown, will be used to pay the bond.

Was It Good Cow Or a Bad Bull?

Edward LaFleur, a farmer living near Puyallup, was released on a $25 bond yesterday by Justice Linck, pending trial next Friday, before Justice Graham, when he will be tried for alleged cruelty to animals.

Mrs. Mary Belcher, a neighbor of LaFleur's, had the warrant sworn out, charging him with beating the cow.

Belcher claims the "cow" was a bull, and he had just cause for administering the assault on the animal as it was chasing his little boy.

ALLEGED MACQUES FACE BIG TRIAL

Following the failure of Carl Bradshaw to show up in court yesterday, proceedings were started against him and Rose Foster by Prosecuting Attorney Fred Remann on a charge of living off the earnings of fallen women.

W. W. Wingard, at liberty on $1,000 bond, and T. W. Gosney, confined in the county jail, charged with tampering with witnesses in the Foster-Bradshaw case, will be arraigned as soon as Judge Card returns from his vacation for trial in September.
