

This week is "BUY TACOMA-MADE CLOTHING WEEK." WE APPEAL to every loyal man and woman in Tacoma to personally see that every shirt, every overcoat, every pair of pants bought this week in Tacoma bears the label—"DAY'S BIG 5."

BECAUSE 150 of us depend for livelihood upon employment in making these high class garments.

BECAUSE WE help support Tacoma homes, which pay taxes and are units of Tacoma's existence.

BECAUSE A PART of our force will be laid off during fall and winter, and our earnings diminished, UNLESS your support is given us.

BECAUSE, HARVEST OVER, the agricultural demand slackens and WE NEED the sustained demand of employees in Tacoma industries whose work is continuous.

BECAUSE YOUR well being and OUR well being are MUTUAL—we need you and Tacoma needs us.

BECAUSE YOUR SUPPORT costs you nothing but a THOUGHT—MEANS ONLY buying TACOMA-MADE garments—the garments you wear daily. Why, bless your hearts, if Tacoma bought only Tacoma-made shirts, overalls and pants, Tacoma would have at least three garment factories.

THANKS FOR OUR APPEAL.

THAT every man and every woman in Tacoma ENACT A PERSONAL TARIFF LAW to keep the foreign-(eastern)-made garments out of Tacoma and thereby keep your money circulate in Tacoma.

Put your hand on the clerk's shoulder and say: "Give me DAY'S BIG 5. I am going to help put another row of girls at work in the BIG 5 SHIRT FACTORY."

CONFESSIONS OF A WIFE

(Copyright, 1915, by Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

"What is Mollie going to do with those three men who have suddenly gone crazy over her, Margie?"

Isn't it queer, little book, that no man can see why any man should fall desperately in love with his sister. Dick thinks Jim Edie, Chadwick Hatton and Pat Sullivan are insane because they are all interested in Mollie.

"Mollie is a minx, Margie. She should make up her mind before long. It isn't right to let those fellows dangle. It was only a little while ago that she was ready to run away with Hatton even when she knew he had a wife living. Isn't he 'such a much' now that she knows she can have him lawfully without scandal? Personally, I hope she won't marry him. I think Pat is worth two of him, and so is Jim. They are regular fellows.

"I always distrust a chap who is musical. Hatton plays the piano too well to be a real man. I don't want any Paderewskis in the Waverly family—never saw a musician yet who did not have a lot of silly women toddling around after him."

Dick was quite working himself up to a high pitch of anger.

"My dear husband, you must remember it is Mollie who is getting married and not you," I said.

"For a chap who has always had more money than he knew what to do with I am quite sure Hatton proves up pretty well with the rest of you. He is greatly in love with Mollie and it seems to me that he acted very honorable when he ran away after all the encouragement he received from Mollie."

"I want to see Millie marry the man she wants to marry, but I confess I would like to see her marry a man younger than any of them."

"Well, if she doesn't look out they will all get sick of playing scalps to hang at her belt," grumbled Dick. "Of course Mollie is a dandy girl. I know that, for she is my sister, but I want to tell you one thing, she is much too independent for a man like me to be happy with as a wife. Why any girl ought to jump at the chance of marrying any one of those men."

"Honest, Dick, do you think any one of them is too good for Mollie?"

"Well, Hatton, you know, is worth a million dollars, he—"

"Do you measure the worth of a husband by his money, Dick?" I interrupted with a laugh, "that was the standard in your case, my dear, you could not have been very worthy."

I could have bitten my tongue out the moment I said this and I hastened to add, "I said that, Dick, dear, just to show you how foolish your idea is, that money has an influence on a true woman's choice of a husband. I did not know when I married you whether you had five cents, and I am sure that Millie never thinks of her three sweethearts; besides, Pat Sullivan commands a big salary as managing editor of the Daily—" and Jim has enough from his ranches to keep any girl in comfort."

"She don't know in what luck she is playing," Dick asserted sullenly.

"Rather, the man that gets your sister Mollie will be playing in the greatest possible luck. Dick, I have come to think that the loyal love of a true woman is the greatest thing in the world for a man to receive and I am afraid that few men appreciate it."

"Are you going to preach?" asked Dick with a yawn as he put on his coat preparatory to going out.

THE TRUTH ABOUT CATARRH

A Germ Disease That Can Be Stopped by Killing Germs Which Cause It.

A good many claims are made for this and that remedy for Catarrh and doubtless, if you are a sufferer from this disease, you have yourself tried many of them and received no permanent benefit.

The fact remains, however, that there is a way to get rid of catarrh forever and certainly the most likely to succeed and to cure where all else has failed is one that your own druggist has so much faith in that he will sell it to you on a positive guarantee of success or money back.

That's exactly the way that Crown Drug Co. and many other leading druggists in this vicinity are selling Hyomei, the great Catarrh germ-killer, a wonderful medicated but pleasant smelling air which you breathe into your nose, throat and lungs through a small inhaling device that druggists furnish with it. Hyomei is made from the pure healing oil of Eucalyptus, combined with other powerful germicidal ingredients and it not only clears up the head and air passages and heals the sore, swollen inflamed membranes of your nose and throat, but it goes farther and does more. Its penetrating air is absolute and positive death to every catarrh germ in your system. It destroys them utterly. And when the germs go the disease and all its disagreeable symptoms stop. If you have Catarrh breathe Hyomei. It's the only sensible thing to do, and you gain nothing and lose much by waiting until the cold, damp season sets in. Cure that case of Catarrh now while you have the weather in your favor. Don't trust to memory. Cut this out of the paper now and take it into your druggist the very next time you pass his store. Insist on getting the complete outfit which includes the rubber inhaler as it is very necessary to use this inhaler to get best results.

THE LAST FLY OF SUMMER

The last fly of summer. Left buzzing alone; All his nasty companions Are swatted and gone. No bugs of his kindred, No larva is high No echo his buzzing, Or give sigh for sigh.

It'll not leave thee, thou lone one, Upon the shade's hem; Since thy brothers are sleeping, Go sleep thou with them. Thus kindly I swat thee, My hand on thy head; Like thy mates of the summer, Thou'rt buzzless and dead.

Sister (before grate fire)— Bobby, do come and look. Here's a fine picture of the kaiser in the red coats.

Bobby—Wait a minute, Sis, while I go and get my squirt gun!

WOULDN'T WORK

Mother—If you can't keep the children quiet, send them up to me for awhile and I'll sing to them.

Nurse—Oh, that won't do any good. I've threatened them with that already.—Philadelphia Ledger.

SECRET STUFF

Ethel—Bella told me that you told her that secret I told you not to tell her.

Madge—She's a mean thing! I told her not to tell you.

Ethel—Well I told her I wouldn't tell her she told me—so don't tell her I did.
