HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS READY FOR WHISTLE

The opening of the interscholastic series this afternoon finds the two city high school teams hopeful for victory, but each somewhat doubtful as to the results.

Stadium suffered several setbacks during the last week of practice and will not enter the game as strong as Coach Perkins had hoped.

Lincoln Park will put a heavy team on the field. The line will average considerably more than 153, while the north enders will be somewhat lighter.

A large turnout is expected in the Stadium, both from outsiders and students.

The lineups of today's game follows:

Stadium: Gilbert, 1 e; Smith, 1 t; Hall, 1 g; Geiger, c; Moore, r; Nelson, r t; Carlson, r e; Norton, q; Shields, 1 h; Todd, r h; Crumb, f.

Lincoln: Alger, 1 e; Staplos, 1 t; Brouse, c; Nelson, r; Brothers, r t; Hunt, r e; Parker, q; Todd, 1 h; Danielson, r h; Anderson, f.

STUDENTS PARADE TO BOOST BIG GAME

Every available automobile owned by Stadium high school students' families was drawn into commission this morning when the north end students conducted a football parade through the business section of the city.

Cowbells, horns and several scores of husky lungs drew the attention of the citizens to the game this afternoon on Stadium field.

Coach Perkins drilled his team yesterday afternoon on signals, while Assistant Coach Bell worked with the punters. Geiger, Todd and Gilbert were all given a chance at booting the ball.

Capt. Todd declared the team was running smoothly and believed the team from the south end would get the surprise of its life today.

Stadium Debaters Selected

Robert Shaw, Beatrice Wright and Herman Theil were chosen to represent Stadium high school in the state debate this year.

A large number of candidates debated informally Friday afternoon before the pupils of the sixth study hour in the auditorium.

They spoke on the subject which will be used during the state debate series, "Resolved, that the Monroe doctrine should be discontinued."

The western part of the state is divided into three divisions. Tacoma is in the Puget Sound division. The schools of this section will debate until a winner is declared, which will in turn debate against the winner of the other two sections.

Nov. 12 has been set as date for the first debate, but as yet it has not been decided who will be Stadium's first opponents.

Old Stadium Star to Play Here Today

Ching Johnson, former Stadium star, will be seen in action this afternoon with the University of Washington freshman when that team plays the fast Tacoma Athletic club at Athletic park.

The university freshman have a fast aggregation, it is said. They have been under the tutelage of Cal Hazelett, a former student of Gilmour Dobie, and have all the tricks of the canny Scotchman up their sleeves.

The Tacoma club is a heavy team, composed of former high school players and college stars. Johnson will play half back.

Hear Talk By Businessman

Seventy-five students of Stadium high school listened to an advertising talk by James McCormack last evening. He briefly outlined the essentials for a successful salesman. The talk was made before the class in advertising.

He declared that a salesman was born and not made. One must have resources, honesty and a smile. Above all one must approach a customer with a cheerful expression. He emphasized the necessity of knowing the stock.

Mr. McCormack told of his trip east before he started his talk on salesmanship.

Sixth Grader Wins Prize

First prize in the recent "Buy-at-Home" contest held at the Lincoln Park high school was won by Flossie Van Alstyne, the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Van Alstyne, 2521 Center st.

Flossie is a sixth grade pupil at the Oakland school and wrote her essay as a language exercise, entirely by her own effort. In winning first place she won over students in higher grades, many of them being high school students.

Flossie, besides being a good student, is interested in athletics. She is captain of the Oakland volleyball team and last year won third place in the basket ball throwing contest contested for by all the girls in the city grammar schools.

Grant Pupils' Teeth Sound

Dr. E. A. Montague, school physician, yesterday completed an examination of mouths of 16 Grant pupils who will be graduated in February, and found the teeth of every one in perfect condition.

Some had fillings placed, but none at the time of the examination needed dental work of any kind. This is considered an unusual state of affairs.

Mrs. Preston at Assembly

Mrs. Josephine C. Preston, state school superintendent, will speak at a special assembly at Stadium high school Monday morning. Mrs. Preston will visit Tacoma schools during the day.

There's Lots of Good Ball Players--- But Only One Tyrus Raymond

There are a lot of near Cobbs in this old baseball world but—

There's only one Tyrus Raymond and he played this year for Detroit.

There's Bob Bescher, a few years ago hailed as the Cobb of the National league. Bob still is a good player but—he's not a Cobb. Ty has left Bob so far behind in stealing bases, the one department of the game in which Bescher seemed to rank with Cobb, there no longer is any comparison between them.

In his own league Ty has found it easy to distance Zeb Milan, Eddie Collins and Joe Jackson. This Speaker is giving Ty a battle but for all around brilliance and results Ty still is a long way from classing with the jungle speeder.

Fritz Maisel perhaps can run as fast as Cobb and slide as well but he doesn't steal the bases like Ty.

George Sisler, who's doing all kinds of fancy stunts for the St. Louis Browns, is the latest "second Cobb."

But will Sisler go on year after year being a leader in all the offensive departments of the game as Ty has done? Only time will tell, but he won't deserve the "second Cobb" handle until he does.

THE GIRL WHO CHEERED HIM IS NOW BILL SPEAS' BRIDE

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 16.—When the Portland Coast league team started play in this city last spring a girl in the grand stand cheered wildly every time outfielder Bill Speas copped a fly.

Of course Bill noticed. One day Bill bought an ice cream soda in a "swell" candy shop here. Lo! the girl fan was cashier!

The other day Bill asked Manager McCredie of the Beavers for a day off and he returned two days later with a bride. She was formerly Miss Jewel Kautson, the candy shop cashier.

Speas is well known on the coast and in the East. He formerly played ball in Toledo, Ohio, where he owns a bowling alley. Speas will take his bride for a honeymoon in the Eastern states after the baseball season.

THREE U. OF W. TEAMS PLAYING

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—All three underclass teams of the university are playing away from home today, the varsity being the only eleven left on the campus. Varsity's first game will be played next Saturday, with Gonzaga university at Spokane.

The freshmen are playing the Tacoma Athletic club at Tacoma; the sophomores are battling with the Bellingham normals and the juniors are matched against the Everett high school squad.

TACOMA JOCKEY HURT BY FALL

TYGH VALLEY, Ore., Oct. 16.—(Special.)—Harry O'Hearn, a well known young jockey of South Tacoma, received three broken ribs and a serious fracture of the collar-bone this week as the result of a fall from his horse during a half mile dash.

He was removed to the local hospital, and will be in bed for several weeks. Although unconscious for some time, a book in one of the jockey's pockets indicated that he resided with Mr. August Leaf, 6035 Montgomery street, South Tacoma.

FREAK MATCH AT LAKESIDE

An open handicap one-club match will be staged on the Lakeside Country club course tomorrow, and the club is extending an invitation to all golfers to enter.

Each player will be allowed to use only one club for all shots. The machie or midiron are invariably selected for such a match and some interesting complications arise through use of the single iron.

Outsiders will be welcomed at Lakeside tomorrow.

TAHOMA CLUB IN INITIAL BATTLE

The Tahoma Athletic club's football team, organized by Stadium high school graduate players and by other football enthusiasts as a protest to the school board's anti-inter-city athletic edict, is staging its first 1915 contest this afternoon.

The team is meeting the University of Washington freshmen, and a hard-fought battle is anticipated.

Tahoma has a faster and stronger team this year than last, however, with good chances of making a Northwest record for itself.

Among the players on the Tahoma club's team are: Pringle, Barek, Pollen, Shumake, Magill, Angle, Dr. Spiegler, Anderson, Cromwell, Norton, Tanner, Beardsley, Brautigan, Ives and Horejs.

Gardenville Boys Form New Basketball Team

A new basketball team entered the athletic field Wednesday evening when a group of young men in the Gardenville district organized the Gardenville basketball team.

Gardenville is a few minutes' ride on the Puyallup short line interurban.

The team will arrange a schedule of games for the coming season, and is anxious to meet other teams. Anyone wanting games should call Art Erspamer, 7801 R.I.

There is a large, well-lighted basketball court in the basement of the Gardenville school, where all home games will be played.

Bantam Dispute Leaves Ring Title In Doubt

The dispute over the bantamweight championship, arising from the bout between Kid Williams and Johnny Ertle, in St. Paul, in which Ertle was fouled, leaves one half of the six titles of the ring without absolute ownership.

Willard is the heavy champ, all right; the feather title belongs to Kilbane and the lightweight crown to Welsh, but no one knows who are the middle and welterweight champs and now two are claiming bantam honors.

The referee gave Ertle the bout when he was fouled by Williams and the state commission backed up the referee, but it is hard to see how a boxer can lose his title in a state where only no-decision bouts are allowed. That much for the official side of the proposition.

As for the moral side, Williams is still champion. He was punching Ertle all around the ring when the foul blow was struck. Williams, in fact, was giving Ertle such a fine trimming, folk at the ringside wondered just how long the "Kewpie" would last.

There is no doubt but that Williams is the better of the two. Ertle, even in claiming the title, is carrying empty honors. Fans do not like to see titles won that way. Another bout is needed to put the title proposition in the clear. Then if Ertle can win, barring a foul, all well and good.

FRANK ROSS STILL ASSERTS HIS HUNTING LAND IS FREE

Hunters who have returned from the Nisqually flats with reports that all property on the flats is reserved, and that the island of Frank C. Ross at the mouth of the river, is leased by a gun club, are mistaken, according to Ross today.

Ross announced several days ago in The Times that his property was open to the public for hunting at any time and he still makes his offer.

"I own 21 acres on the island—the best portion of the island—and it is high and dry even at high tide," said Ross. "There is a large section of land on the flats owned by my wife's mother, which is leased to a gun club, and the hunters are probably confusing that land with mine.

"I am willing to show anyone a blue-print of the flats, which will tell them exactly where my land lies."

Ross is the only person owning free hunting land on the flats. He asserts that if there are "no trespassing" signs on the land, they have been put there by outside persons.
