HOW TO EDUCATE YOUR CHILD

Mrs. Stoner Says "Your Baby Is a Human Being: Talk English to It TOLD BY WINIFRED SACKVILLE STONER.

Exponent of Natural Education. Never let a baby cry! It will cry for three chief reasons: Because it's hungry; because it's uncomfortable; or because it wants to be entertained.

Most parents, I am convinced, do not talk enough to their kiddies during the cradling days. At that period a child's mind is just like a blank phonographic record, sensitive to every sound and impression.

- TEN COMMANDMENTS OF NATURAL EDUCATION: Thou shalt not administer to thy child physical punishment. Thou shalt not scold thy child but give rewards for good behavior. Thou shalt never say "Don't to thy child. Thou shalt never say "Must" to thy child. Thou shalt not give thy child occasion to disrespect thee. Thou shalt never frighten thy child. Thou shalt not allow thy child to say "I can't." Thou shalt always answer thy child's questions. Thou shalt not tease thy child. Thou shalt make thy home the most attractive place thy child can find.

13-year-old Winifred Sackville Stoner, most marvelously developed child in the U. S., and her class of infant pupils. This girl passed her examinations for college at the age of nine. She has written nine books; speaks eight languages; sews, cooks, plays several musical instruments and is expert in many outdoor sports.

grown-up! Let me tell you how I amused my daughter, Winifred, as a baby. I gave her brightly-colored toy balloons—something that caught and held attention; that stimulated curiosity. I tied these balloons up where she could strike them. At first she hit them quite accidentally; later she got co-ordination between desire and her wee muscles. It kept her quiet and amused.

correctly to the grave, without having to worry much about the rules of grammar. Don't say "Oo" for "you," "chuchu" for "train," and so on. And now a word about putting kiddies to sleep: Unless you are bleat with a singing voice don't attempt lullabies, so-called, because the discords and screechings may keep your babe awake in place of putting him to sleep. By all means sing if you have a voice. If not, I would suggest you had better recite poetry or nursery rhymes, as I did to Winifred. I scanned Virgil to her as a lullaby. I remembered how in school I always got drowsy when my teacher chanted Virgil, so I turned him to account as a sleep-producer, and found him excellent for the purpose. In fact, the result was two-fold, for Winifred could scan Virgil freely at an early age. Remember: Don't let your baby cry, and talk to it a great deal.

TACOMA SCHOOLS

Tahoma Coming Friday

Classroom Uniform Downs Snobbery of School Girls

The Autumn number of the Tahoma after two postponements will appear Friday, according to an announcement made yesterday by Editor Merritt Stiles. The school magazine was first to have appeared Monday.

At a late hour yesterday it was decided to hold the magazine until the last part of the week. Business Manager Ralph W. Pinkerton of Lincoln Park, said that ads were coming hard.

The fall edition will have a cover done by Whitney and frontispiece by Muriel Kobel. Literary contributions by Marjorie Dixon, Virgil Anderson, Ruth Wahlberg and William Yerkes will be featured.

Art features will be represented by a puzzle page in which the answers are names of high school teachers. Another will be a five-picture comic strip of a Stadium high school teacher, who was surprised in an awkward position by several of his class.

HOLDS A BALLAD ASSEMBLY

Lincoln Park held an "Old Ballad" assembly this morning in the chapel.

There were six ballads portrayed, representing three different periods. The first, superstition, was composed of the "Twin Sisters of Binhoris" and was given by Hildur Cronquist "Tom Thumb," given by Choria Pnems, finished the superstition period. A ballad by the girls' glee club and "Robin Hood" and "Allan Dale," by Inga Andrews, represented the tradition age. "Sir Patrick Spens" by Kenneth Hazen, and "Elin, a Forester," by Mary Pockenhan, represented the domestic period.

A sketch of each ballad was given by Miss Dowd, of the oral expression department. She explained the origin of each one and the methods of handing it down from generation to generation.

AKRON, O., Nov. 2.—Akron uniform, and, incidentally, tabbed the smart designs of fashion which a certain few had exhibited at the expense of the pride of that "other girl"—that girl whose widowed mother, perhaps, was pinching the family exchequer to give her the best education the city had to offer. And that school uniform cost: not more than $3 if the garments are sewed at home.

A middie blouse and a blue skirt. These pieces of apparel symbolize the new democracy these Akron high school girls are preaching to the world.

The idea which these girls have made real was born a few days ago when one of them slipped, by mistake, into a vacant recitation room and found a little bundle of humanity, her head buried in her hands, sobbing.

She was one of "the other girls."

And the classmate who found her there didn't listen in vain to the "other girls' sobbing story.

Now "the other girl" casts no glances of envy at her fellow students' finery; now the girls who formerly wore the chic, pretty costumes don't frivel away precious moments admiring the dresses of one another.

The uniform dress idea has already made for better school work, greater fellowship and real democracy.

STADIUM MIDGETS CHAMPS

Stadium Midgets defeated the Lincoln Park Midgets yesterday by a score of 12 to 6, thereby winning the city championship.

Stadium scored within the first few minutes of play and the game looked as if it would be a walkaway.

Lincoln Park braced and held until the third period, when Stadium smashed over another touchdown. Both goals were missed.

Lincoln obtained its touchdown in the last frame when the ball was advanced to Stadium's 40-yard line and Hall skirted the end for a try. McMullen, for Lincoln Park, got some good punts out of his system.

POPULAR MUSICAL NUMBERS IN "WHEN DREAMS COME TRUE"

The music for "When Dreams Come True" was composed by Silvio Hsin, who has many musical comedy successes to his credit. The principal numbers are: "When Dreams Come True," "Come Along to the Movies," "You Dear You," "America," and "Love Is Such a Funny Little Thing." This charming new musical play comes to the Tacoma theater Saturday night.

Club Holds a Meeting

The College-Professional club of Stadium high school held its regular meeting this morning at the high school with a local attorney speaking.

Dr. Brown, class advisor, and Robert Shaw, president of the club, have planned an interesting list of speakers for benefit of high school students interested in college and professional futures. It is said.

The speakers will be chosen with a view towards giving the students some definite information in the respective professions which they hope to follow. The club has a membership of considerable more than 100.

REGULAR LITTLE MUSICAL SHOW HEADS PANTAGES BILL

An exceptionally clever musical comedy tabloid, that takes one back to the days of the big girl-shows of the past, is the star feature of a splendid bill at Pantages this week.

It is called "Brace's Broadway Revue," and the company of five men and five girls is headed by Billy Bachelor and Miss Helen Wirt. The chorus men and girls have some new songs and good dances. The fun is of the bubbling spontaneous type. It's a new show, throughout.

There are two old favorite companies on the bill. One is Ed Vinton and his dog Buster, and the other is Virginia Thornton, Charles King and Erman Seaver, former Tacoma stock stars, in "The Greater Price," a problem drama.

Alexander and Scott present a
