FINE SPECIMENS OF HARES OWNED HERE

Charles Gibson, judge at the Tacoma Pet Stock show, paid Tacoma a high compliment last night while judging the exhibits. He declared that two of the animals, Steel Grey Flemish hares, were the finest specimens ever benched.

additional interest from the fact that several of the matches are inter-city affairs between Tacoma and Seattle boxers. The big event is between "Billy" Weeks and St Gotchy. Weeks' home until recently was in Vancouver, B. C. Gotchy is an Aberdeen boy. Weeks displayed his cleverness last season, and fight followers say that Gotchy, a smaller, boring-in boxer of almost unlimited vigor, is just the man to show him the time of his life.

SPEEDWAY IN GOOD SHAPE

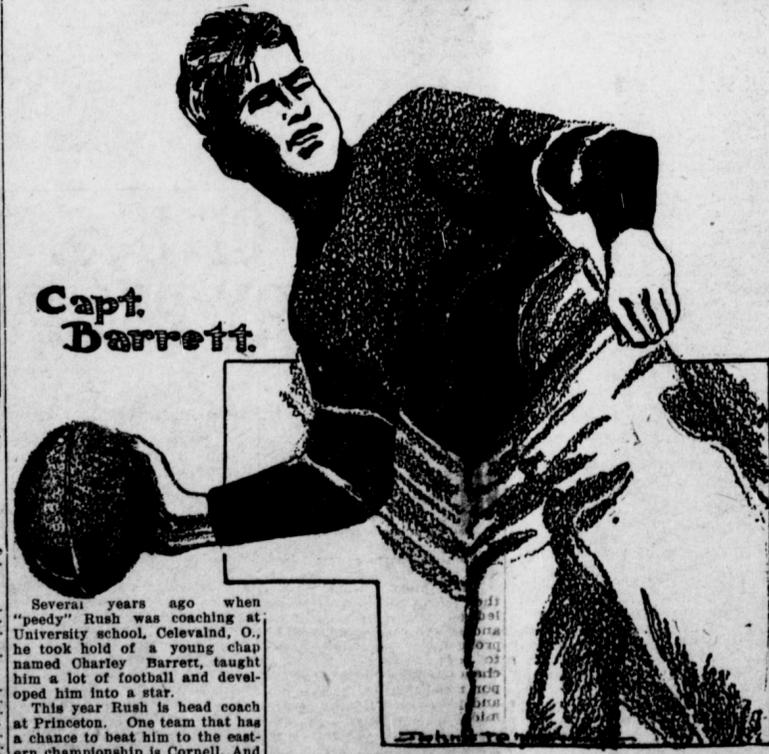

Tacoma's speedway is in better financial condition than any other course in the country, according to the announcement of Secretary George Dunn at yesterday afternoon's annual session of stockholders of the Tacoma Speedway association.

It was shown that a gross profit of $7,000 was produced from the 1915 races despite the fact that large sums of money were spent on resurfacing the course, and the stockholders vot-

FEDS STILL IN DEADLOCK

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 11.—The Federal league magnates, who adjourned here Tuesday to meet at French Lick yesterday afternoon, went direct to their homes and there were not enough present for a meeting at French Lick. The Fed league troubles are as unsettled as they were before the annual session.

PUPIL MAY BEAT TEACHER TO CHAMPIONSHIP OF GRIDIRON

Several years ago when "peedy" Rush was coaching at University school, Celevaland, O., he took hold of a young chap named Charley Barrett, taught him a lot of football and developed him into a star. This year Rush is head coach at Princeton. One team that has a chance to beat him to the eastern championship is Cornell. And Cornell has a great team because this same Charley Barrett is captain and using his tricks. Rush taught him when they were teacher and pupil back in the "bushes."

Barrett is the leading candidate of the east for the quarterback position on the All-American eleven. He has put Cornell on the football map. His selection of plays has been great and he has run his team with a master hand. Barrett has also starred in so-

Mothers Are Champions In Three of the Most Popular Outdoor Athletics

Mrs. Almert, trapshooting champion, Mrs. Bundy, tennis champion, and Mrs. Vanderbeck, golf champion.

This is the year of mothers as athletic champions. In three branches of sports mothers who divide their time between play, household duties and the raising of children, have triumphed over single women. Mrs. Harold Almert of Chicago, mother of two, is national woman champion trapshooter. Mrs. W. F. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia, Pa., mother of two, is national woman golf champion. Mrs. Thomas Bundy of San Francisco, mother of one, is woman tennis champion of the Pacific coast and picked to be national champion when she meets Miss Mollie Bjurstedt, Norwegian, who won the title while Mrs. Bundy was in temporary retirement.

The career of Mrs. Almert is unusual. She never had a shotgun in her hands until the latter part of May. In less than two months she was champion. In the Grand American handicap meet, when she helped the Chicago Diana club win the woman's team championship, she broke 25 straight birds, then 21 of the next 25. Later in a private club shoot, she broke 25 straight, then 23 of the next 25. In the past six weeks she has twice beaten L. B. Clarke, Grand American champion. She has won two club trophies and a cup offered by the Sportsmen's club. Mrs. Almert says she took up trapshooting to find an outdoor sport she could enjoy with her husband and children. Mr. and Mrs. Almert shot at a club where there is a sand pile in which their children play while a target event is being held. "Since I took up shooting I have lost interest in teas and cards," says this unusual champion. "I believe that if housework is systematically arranged mothers can find time for outdoor games."

CALIFORNIA COACH QUILTS

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 11.—Because of the University of California's defeat by a 72 to 0 score in Saturday's game against Washington, Coach James D. Schaeffer tendered his resignation last night. It was accepted. No announcement has been made as to the coach's successor. Schaeffer was formerly Rugby coach at the university, and went into the American game this season admitting little knowledge of it.

SALARIES LIMIT TO GO LOWER

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Further cutting of salaries of minor league players will result from the session of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, here. The convention adjourned last night until Friday, with instructions that all delegates of the same classification leagues get together today and determine the proper salary limits for the coming year. A big reduction in the salary limit is promised.
