The judging of the contest and the awarding of the prizes was a mere matter of tabulation and mathematics for the judges. The Stadium was duly declared Wonder No. 1, not because the judges thought it should be, but because the greatest number of Tacoma school children so voted. The same rules applied throughout.

It came as a matter of surprise to the judges that the Stadium should have just nosed out the Mountain in the finals. This seems to have been due to a misunderstanding on the part of a few contestants who went under the impression that they were restricted to marvels inside the city limits. Thus they did not include the mountain in their lists.

Call At The Office - The original announcement of the contest, however, had been very explicit that this was not to be the case, but that any wonder which takes life in this city more pleasurable and characteristic might be submitted.

The three winners of cash prizes may call at the office for their awards. The remaining winners will be sent magazines to the addresses given in the letters unless notification of a different address is made by telephone or in person.

Honorable Mention - Honorable mention was voted by the judges to the following pupils: Millicent Hall, Beatrice Robbins, Florence Fuchek, Nora Edwardsen, Marlon Duffell, Charles McFarland, Harold Weingarten, Sumner Orr, Laura Adams, Richard Robert, Alfred Johnson, Henry Rieflin, Crescent Washburn, Helen Kildall, Dorothy Daniels, Natalie York, Dorothy McLane, Howard Hansen, Agnes DePuy, Paul Alfar, Edwin Clarke, Gilbert Hilliard, Andro Tadich, Doris Hall, Esther Thomson, Arthur Kribb, Willis Kirkpatrick, Henry Carlhom, Andrew Hanson, Florence Pageot, Clara Smith, Violet Robbins, Signa Wickstrom, Willie Bryanes, Dorothea Slesby, Elsie Katzenberger, Ione Sutherland, Doris Gilbert, Elva Simpson, Forrest Monzingo, James Curtright, Ruth Pflaeving, Elizabeth Wight, Francis Parris, William Gallagher, Winston Jones, Charles Steere, Dorothy Wintler, Dicie Stanford, Harry Loflin, Erna Silversten, Helen Adams, Blanche Kurtright, Theodore Gordon, Cecilia Gaffney, Perry Mead, Hildur Rud, Clayton Rubidge, Perry Scheibler, Gladys Johnson, Judson Mathews, Egner Tegen, Willie Snyder, Hazel Day, Dorothy Dumermuth, Leonora Granger, Mildred Smith, Emory Heuston, Dorothy Powell, Ray Tiesh, William Rieflin, Agnes Dond, Margaret White, Russell Green, Wesley Olson, Laura Adams, Helen Paulson, Mamen Hobbs, Gladys Swanson, Kurt Wiel, Joseph Jurich, Harold Sherrill, Mack Barnett, Grace Owa, Drew Silvers, Margaret Healy, Maud Carroll, Kenneth McLellan, Dorothy Burnand, Sarah Husberger, Arnold Cassidy, Olive Hatfield, Hazel Earl, Pauline Williams, Clara Stauch, Louise Hunt, Margaret Van Amburg, Ethel Bally, William Reynolds, Hiram De Puy, Ethel Smith, Herbert Cook, Dorothy Love, Mary Dutton, Ethel Herwood, Jay Van Lake, Avery Hildom, Charlotte Merrill.

TANKER'S FATE IS IN DOUBT

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—The Standard Oil company today received a cable from its agent in Alexandria saying that the American tankship Communipaw, recently reported sunk by a submarine, arrived safely in Alexandria Sunday. The company admitted the possibility that the Communipaw might have left Alexandria later and been attacked. The Communipaw carried a crew of 39. Shipping circles generally believe the tanker was either attacked and escaped or that a vessel of a similar name was attacked. The Standard Oil Co. first heard that a ship named the Columbia had been attacked. It was pointed out that the Communipaw might have been attacked and then escaped as the Petrolite did after wirelessing that she was being pursued.

TUGS TOWING HILL LINER

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—With her boilers crippled, perhaps by spies or mutineers, the food-laden Hill liner Minnesota, which recently cleared from Seattle for England, is being towed into port today by two tugs. Replying to a wireless request, more towboats will be sent, for fear a storm may overtake the liner. Officials still profess to be unable to get information concerning the condition of the vessel or the cause of the trouble. Mrs. Thomas Garlick, wife of the Minnesota captain whose absence for information concerning the plight of his vessel has caused a good deal of speculation and apprehension, has been living at 911 North Third street, Tacoma. It was learned today that she has left for California, for what purpose the neighbors are unable to say. The front entrance of her home was littered with telegrams and letters today.
