Let the Truth Prevail!

The War in the East - Value of a Baby

The Russians have captured the great Turkish fortress of Erzerum, and are pressing on to Trebizond. It is an important victory. What will they do with it?

Will Russia and her allies make the victory effective?

Will they follow it up, working together, to get even greater results?

Or will they sit down awhile and chortle over this success, giving the German strategists time to prepare and launch a counter blow there in Mesopotamia or to worry them in the west.

With 'em. The action of the allies during the next two or three weeks will illuminate.

If they move swift and add more blows, you'll know that they have learned something during the past 18 months.

If they lay back, you'll know that they haven't gotten over muddling and blundering and that the central powers have still got their number.

Just Like a Frisco Knocker

The correspondent who sent out that picture of the submarine H-3 aground in the middle of San Diego bay must be the same heartless wretch who reported that a bunch of cowboys were using Los Angeles harbor for a cow pasture.

But six bits he was from San Francisco.

Sure Thing

Mme. de Thebes, the famous French seeress, had a vision recently, wherefore, she declares that the perils of the United States will come from within.

Thanks, Mme. de Thebes, we appreciate the warning. But we had the same vision long ago and we were wide awake at that.

Uncle Sam's troubles are internal ones all right. The old boy needs to take a good strong emetic and disgorge the Standard Oil and the armor plate and a few kindred trusts before he will feel all right.

Maybe the 64th congress will mix the emetic; maybe not.

One hundred dollars apiece for babies! That is one plan, born of the war, that is advanced by an organization devoted to the repopulation of the German empire.

As an incentive to maternity they urge that the state pay the sum of $100 to mothers on the birth of each child after the fourth baby.

The plan probably never will go through. But even if it did the state would be getting off mighty easy at $100 apiece for babies.

When the war is over and torn empires begin rebuilding why don't the powers that be see that poor mothers are assured of PURE FOOD and CLOTHING and SHELTER sufficient to insure their health while they are bringing future citizens into the world?

And instead of a few paltry dollars why doesn't the state give the mother assurance that her child will be given a fighting chance for life by providing it with its BIRTHRIGHT—PURE MILK AND PURE AIR?

Mills Grind Exceeding Fine

The worm has turned. Since the Russians captured Erzerum and put the Turks to flight fifty thousand Armenians have arised, joined the Slav army and are paying off old scores at a rapid rate with interest. The mills of the gods grind slow but they grind exceedingly fine.

ANSWERS

By CYNTHIA GREY

Q.—I am a young man of 23. When I was 19 I met a girl of my age. We became friends and later were engaged to be married. But she wanted to go to school and was going to work for her board. I wanted her to be popular so paid her way and have supported her the most of the time ever since. While she was going to school she went with a boy and after I found it out, she promised she would not do so again. But later, she did the same thing. Again she promised to be true to me if I would not quit her. Now she has gone with another boy. I told her I was through with her. She said I was cruel and wasted four years of her life; but I think she has wasted my time instead. I feel now that she would not be true to me after marriage as I have lost confidence in her. She begs me to take her back but I cannot trust her and do not want her. Do you think I am in any way to blame?

A.—No. The girl has only herself to blame. When a woman takes advantage of a man's kindness in such a way and fails his trust, she must expect him in turn to lose his respect and confidence in her, and without these, love cannot exist. If the girl has improved her time while at school, indeed she cannot count those years wasted. The only thing you have gained from it all is that it has revealed the girl's true character to you, thus saving you from an unhappy marriage.

Q.—I observe that you give the population of London, England, as only 4,522,964 against New York's estimate of 5,263,885. That's American like to brag about being ahead, but I want to tell you that you are away astray in your figures. Let me inform you that London has a population of close on seven millions, and always will be the largest city of the world, for the reason that Great Britain is mistress of the seas, and holds the world's trade in the hollow of her hand.

I want you to publish this, Miss Grey, and not throw it in to the waste basket as you did a previous letter of mine.

H. B., New Westminster, B. C.

A.—The figures in question were taken from the 1916 World's Almanac which is authentic. According to the Population of Registration, London proper in 1911, was 4,522,964, including metropolitan and city police districts it is 7,252,968.

The population of New York City, including all boroughs, on July 1, 1914, according to Census Bulletin, was 5,339,587. According to Board of Health Bulletin for same date, 5,583,871, making the estimated population of Greater New York, including Westchester and New Jersey suburbs, 7,500,000.

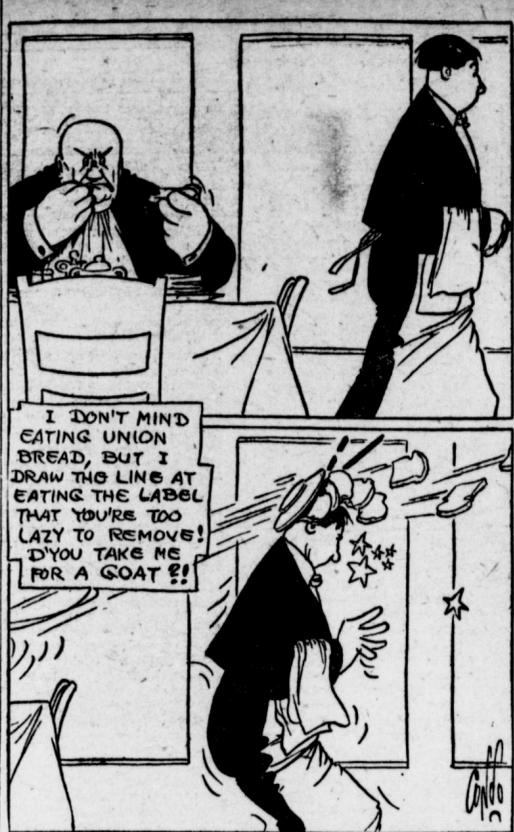

Q.—My place is mortgaged and same has over-run almost a year, although the interest has been paid to date. Are the holders compelled to give me notice before foreclosing? What is the maximum and minimum time of the notice?

Thankfully yours,

A.—It is not necessary to serve any notice. The mortgage can be foreclosed at any time.

Miss Grey maintains office hours each Wednesday from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. when she is pleased to meet any Times reader. On other days she replies to questions only by mail or through her column.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE A FEW YEARS MAKE

A cartoon in Punch showed Britannia pleading for more adequate defense against the war lord lurking in the background. The picture was printed March 25, 1865, and the War Lord was Uncle Sam fresh from his victory over the confederacy and "justing for world conquest."

HOW SHE ENDED TEN YEARS OF SKIN-TORTURE

If you have an itching, burnings, unsightly skin-trouble, you can imagine the feelings of Mrs. C. C. Roberts, when she wrote—"I had eczema on my face for ten years. Little red pimples formed in a small spot on my chin and then spread all over my face. They itched and burned me awfully. It was certainly embarrassing to me, and I would not go amongst people. I tried almost every remedy and treatment that could be used for this trouble, but nothing did me any good. I used Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and was relieved in a day or two. In one month I was cured. This was six months ago, and the trouble has never returned."—Weatherford, Okla., Oct. 28. Every druggist sells Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and doctors have proscribed the Resinol treatment for over twenty years.

THE PACIFIC GROCETERIA WINS

The Groceteria Stores Company of Seattle, which copied the "Groceteria," part of its name from similar companies in California, brought suit against Pierre's Groceteria in Seattle for using the word "Groceteria." Their request for a temporary injunction was denied by Judge Ronold, who said in substance: "If I should grant an injunction against the use of the word 'Groceteria,' I would feel that I had the same right to grant a similar injunction against the use of the word 'Cafeteria,' provided the originator of that word wished it. I feel that this is a term used to describe a kind of 'business, which has come to stay, as it exists in many parts of the country. It is my opinion that a descriptive term used as a trade name cannot be trade-marked."

This is a victory virtually for the Pacific Groceteria, to which the Seattle concern had sent a warning.
