

TROOPS IN HOT PURSUIT OF RAIDERS

The Tacoma Times

25c A MONTH. THE ONLY INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER IN TACOMA. 25c A MONTH. VOL. XIII. NO. 120. TACOMA, WASH., MONDAY, MAY 8, 1916. 1c A COPY

NIGHT EDITION
WEATHER
Tacoma: Occasional rain tonight and Tuesday.
Washington: Same.

You choose your mayor under the non-partisan system. But the party politicians tell you it's dangerous to elect a constable under the non-partisan plan. Dangerous to professional politicians, yes.

THE PATRIOT--As Manly Sees Him

Wilson Clashes With Senate

CLUB LEADERS ENTHUSIASTIC FOR A SURVEY

Letters received today by the editor of The Times from officers of the Tacoma Commercial club not only promise that The Times' suggestion for a building and housing survey will be taken up by the club, but voice enthusiasm for the project and bring out many other interesting ideas.

For instance W. H. Paulhamus, the only trustee who does not approve of the plan, suggested instead that the building survey be left to various city officials.

He then goes on to outline what he considers would be a valuable undertaking for the club; namely, a survey of the city by industries and an effort by the club to help each industry solve its various problems. Here are some of the letters:

Suggestion Opportune, Says Lyle

By J. T. S. Lyle
Trustee, Commercial Club.

Your proposal of a building and housing survey of Tacoma should be adopted at once.

The suggestion is most opportune at this time when Tacoma is entering upon a new period of building activity.

It will be no easy task for the committee you suggest because frequently the old or second-class buildings bring in the greatest net income.

However, I have confidence in the civic pride of the property owners in Tacoma and feel that with your support the committee could accomplish much along the lines you suggest.

I shall be pleased to present the matter to the executive board of Tacoma Commercial club and Chamber of Commerce at its meeting on Tuesday next.

The subject is one that would naturally come within the civic bureau.

Speaking as one of the board I feel that your proposal will meet with favor by all the members.

Your policy of making suggestions for the good of Tacoma means much to Tacoma and I trust that you will keep on with the good work.

Paulhamus Also Has a Survey Idea

By W. H. Paulhamus
Trustee, Commercial Club.

I believe that if Tacoma had the right kind of a fire chief the work you outline could be done by him.

The Commercial club of course, would not have any authority, and the chance are that they would get into a serious dispute with the city council, in an effort to urge the tearing down of a quantity of shacks.

In my judgment, if you would spend your energy on the city council, on the health department, and on the chief of the fire department you would come nearer getting results.

Permit me to suggest something that I believe the Commercial club could and should do and that will be very beneficial to the city of Tacoma.

Up to the present time there appears to be a disposition on the part of the board of trustees to continually talk hoisting for Tacoma, and by boosting they appear to mean advertising to the world what a wonderful place Tacoma is, with a view of seeking more manufacturing plants and more settlers.

To be perfectly frank with you, my activity as a member of the board of Trustees of the Commercial club is extremely limited, for the reason that I apparently do not have much influence with the present board.

In other words--their ideas and my ideas do not run along the same channels, and I am not making this statement in a complaining mood, but because I do not believe that we understand the problem alike.

In my judgment the Commercial club can obtain the best results by first making a complete list of all the different lines of business in the city of Tacoma.

For example say the shoemakers, then the blacksmiths, and then the painters, in fact every other line of trade.

A meeting should then be called. For example, all of the blacksmiths in Tacoma, for the purpose of ascertaining what their real problems are, and how the Commercial club of Tacoma can be of assistance to the blacksmiths of Tacoma.

How they are now buying their supplies, how they are making their collections, and what profit if any, is being made, and whether there is a general system adapted so that a blacksmith really knows whether he is making a profit or not.

In other words, the Commercial club can accomplish greater results by helping assist the various lines of industry now present in the city of Tacoma. No difference how many blacksmiths we have in Tacoma, if they are not making a success of their business they will not be an asset.

The Commercial club can and should assist all of the different lines of business to get on their feet, because a successful merchant, no difference how small his business is, is an asset as

Heiress Will Ask Divorce

JULIET BREITUNG

Juliet Breitung-Kleist, beauty and heiress to millions, will begin divorce action soon in New York against Max F. Kleist, the coachman whom she secretly married three years ago.

Kleist was working on the estate adjoining the Breitung country home in Michigan when the romance began.

BATTALION ON BANDIT TRAIL

ALPINE, Tex., May 8.—American troops today are rushing through the barren Big Bend country in pursuit of Mexicans who raided three Texas towns Friday night, killing three American soldiers, a boy and kidnaping two other Americans.

The entire country is in a white hot rage. Cattlemen and ranchers are rallying to the hunt for vengeance.

At least a full battalion is in pursuit.

Gen. Funston has ordered a machine gun company to join the hunt.

WARREN CARRANZA

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 8.—The American government today wrote to Carranza regarding the latest bandit raid in Texas in which three U. S. soldiers and a boy were killed.

It was suggested that Carranza exert his utmost power to prevent a recurrence of the outrage.

A readjustment of the Carranzista forces was advised in order that scattered bandits cannot cross the border.

A battalion of U. S. troops has been sent in pursuit of the marauders.

The raid Friday night on the little settlement of Glenn Springs by 70 Villista bandits, who forded the Rio Grande and entered 15 miles on American soil, has aroused the government.

Three Killed, Two Injured.
The bandits attacked a detachment of American cavalry, who sought refuge in an adobe hut and stood the invaders off for three hours.

Three troopers were killed and two injured when they finally made a break for liberty after the bandits had set fire to the roof of the hut.

The bandits are being pursued also by a posse of 50 citizens of Marathon.

Two American citizens, J. Deemer and a man named Compton, were kidnaped and carried across the Rio Grande, according to reports. Their throats were cut by the Villistas.

Dumb Boy Killed.
The little boy who was killed was the son of Compton. He was deaf and dumb, and because he could not answer the question the bandits put to him they put him to death.

A hail of bullets poured for more than two hours into the single window of the mud adobe where the U. S. troopers took shelter. The troopers refused to give up.

They continued a steady rifle fire until finally the Mexican leader ordered fire balls to be thrown on the thickly thatched roof of the hut.

Burned and tortured by the flames, the troopers smashed the door and broke for the open, firing as they ran. Two were immediately shot and killed. Another was killed as he tried to climb through a window.

The Mexicans first attacked a store and two houses in Boquillas then hurried 15 miles northward to surprise Glenn Springs.

Congressman Tells Why He Asks Income Tax Probe

By Gilson Gardner.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 8.—I have just asked Congressman Edward Keating of Colorado why he has introduced into congress his resolution calling upon the United States government to investigate the charges of income tax frauds just made by Basil M. Manly for the newspapers served by the Newspaper Enterprise association. Here is what Keating said:

"I introduced my resolution largely because of my faith in Basil M. Manly. Through his work with the Walsh industrial relations commission, Manly has demonstrated that he is an economist of the first rank and an indefatigable investigator who, in his researches, would display neither fear nor favor.

"Manly declares that approximately $320,000,000 is being annually withheld from the treasury of the United States by income tax frauds and evasions.

"You may discount Mr. Manly's figures by 50 per cent and still have a sum which makes all other frauds which have heretofore been perpetrated in federal government seem INSIGNIFICANT!

"Three hundred and twenty million dollars represents the total income of about 600,000 American workmen who have labored every day of the year.

"The nation's pension roll is enormous but with the sum which Basil Manly says the millionaires of this country STEAL from the nation every year we could pay it twice over!

"With this sum you could take all the children out of industry and place them in school and give the nation a virile manhood and womanhood which would render it invulnerable to the attacks of its enemies.

"If you wish to use the money to destroy your fellow beings, you could construct 20 super-dreadnaughts every year with the amount that Manly says the millionaires are stealing from Uncle Sam.

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

"The American people are entitled to know the facts about the charge and therefore, I have introduced by resolution calling on the treasury department for its side of the case. I will ask the committee on expenditures in the treasury department to hold public hearings on the matter. In that way Manly will have his day in court, and if his statements are questioned the other side will be given ample opportunity to be heard."

This Movie Antidote for "Swelled Head"

By Edgar C. Wheeler

Any conceited young fellow whose head has grown light with unearned riches and power, who has the idea that he's just a little better than anybody else, and who has reached the opinion that he has outclassed the good wife who stood back of him when things weren't so rosy, will get some real profitable entertainment in "The Stepping Stone," at the Regent theater today.

"The Stepping Stone" is the kind of a movie that wins, because it is a true picture of life, acted by real artists, staged with extraordinary art and finish.

Frank Keenan and Mary Boland tell in a simple way how the old world takes a fall out of swelled heads that grow empty of everything but a sense of their own importance.

They tell of the priceless loyalty of a strong wife, and of the worthlessness of a weak, whimpering husband.

Albert Beresford, "the lamb," empty headed and selfish, wouldn't have been important enough to sweep the office if he hadn't whimpered and let his wife Mary do all his hard jobs for him.

"There is one woman in a million," said Ellhu Knowlton, the "bull" of Wall street, after Mary had completed for him the job that her husband had neglected.

Thereupon the big man determined to boost the little man along for the sake of his wife.

But riches and power were too much for Albert's little soul. He got the idea that he was the whole show and that Mary was below his class, that when the woman had served as a stepping stone for her husband to climb, her duty was done. He told Mary he was tired of her. She disappeared.

It was then that the "bull" came along and knocked the bottom out of the stock in which "the lamb" had plunged, just at the time "the lamb" was thinking he was a real money king.

What happened to the ungrateful soul that couldn't stand power, when the props had been knocked out from under it, is the story which is holding the Regent audiences spellbound.

And of course the "bull" loved Mary, or he wouldn't have done it all. A strong man and a strong woman make the finest kind of a love story.

If the film needs anything to make it more gripping, it is supplied by Roscoe Knuppe, the Tacoma music loving boy who is a wizard at the pipe organ.

In Line With Clean-up Idea

By E. G. Griggs
Trustee, Commercial Club.

The suggestion is in line with the general beautification of the city and clean up, which has been advocated from time to time.

Citizens should actively interest themselves along the lines you suggest, and also on the lines of seeing that vacant lots are cleaned up and not a continued disgrace.

We have done some little work in this line, and I am inclined to think it will require the activity of all, to bring about the results which we all desire. Particularly in the tourist season, is this beneficial.

Points to Big Building Gain

By S. M. Collins
Trustee, Commercial Club.

A promising sign in the city of Tacoma is found in the building permits of April, 1916, which show an increase of about 300 per cent over April, 1915.

The reorganized Tacoma Commercial club and Chamber of Commerce is thoroughly democratic in character, in government and in its endeavors to do things for this community, and your suggestion for a building and housing survey of Tacoma should be referred to the members council of the club, whereupon their recommendation, it could be placed in proper committee.

Talk o' the Times

Greetings, have you any suggestion for bringing the team out of the cellar?

Would you sign a recall for Russ Hall or for Weather Man Cover? Yes or no? — YGK1.

NO, MACEDO, WE SADLY MUTTER, THERE AIN'T NO SUCH ANIMALS— Truthful lawyers. Homely actresses. Nice May, 1916, days. Rich reporters. Spendthrift millionaires. Polite conductors. Strictly fresh eggs. Flourishing Tacoma booze emporiums.

UPLIFT OOZE (By Herby Cough-man.) SMIRK! No matter what happens be against an unsuccessful merchant being a liability. I believe that this is a line of argument that will get us somewhere.

To Go Before Civic Bureau

By Dr. L. L. Love
Chairman, Civic Bureau, Commercial Club.

We thank you very much for the suggestions and your interest in this matter, and will be glad to take this up with our civic committee on next Friday.

It seems to me the matter is feasible and comes under our department, and we will let you hear further regarding what the committee thinks can be done.

Idea Correct, Says Rogers

By E. R. Rogers
Trustee, Commercial Club.

I had been pleased to read your editorial entitled, "Build This City Up Right."

The idea is correct and one to which our city as a whole should give its best attention. The Commercial club of this city could, if wished, be of considerable help in this regard.

Forces Brandeis Matter

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 8.—The senate judiciary committee prepared to ballot today on the nomination of Louis Brandeis in response to President Wilson's letter urging immediate action.

Two senators objected and the balloting was postponed. Members of the committee refused to say who the objectors were. It is understood that Sen. Shields is one.

The president's letter was received with resentment.

It said: "I am much obliged for your giving me the opportunity to make clear my reasons for nominating Brandeis. I am profoundly interested in his confirmation.

"There is probably no more important duty imposed on the president than nominating members of the supreme court. It is hardly necessary to say that I named Brandeis because he is singularly qualified by learning, gifts and character.

"Many charges have been made against him, but they have been proved false. I looked into them three years ago when I considered making him a member of my cabinet. The charges come from hatred by those whose selfish interests he refused to promote."

"I perceived from the first that the charges were incredible to anyone who really knew the man. I have known and tested him, seeking advice on difficult and perplexing questions."

IRISH COUNTESS IS GIVEN LIFE

DUBLIN, May 8.—Countess Georgiana Markovitz, sentenced to death by court martial for complicity in the Irish rebellion, has had her sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

J. Hamilton Lewis Gov-er's idea of a SOFT SNAP —Feeding the stuffed animals in the park board offices.

YOU SHOULD KNOW DOCTOR DOLLAR

He's a likeable chap for all that he has a new theory on handling criminals.

Doctor Dollar is the central figure in "The Crime Doctor," the new novel-a-week in The Times beginning today.

Why does a fellow turn criminal? Doc Dollar says it's because he's sick, and so he has a hospital to cure 'em.

You'll be mighty interested in seeing how he brings to the light of day many dark secrets in some high offices and prominent families.

E. W. Hornung wrote "The Crime Doctor"—and that's a guarantee that you'll enjoy it thoroughly.

Next installment on page 2 today.