Humphrey is Named In Expose

SEATTLE, May 30.—The announcement that Col. M. M. Mulhall, former field agent for the National Association of Manufacturers, in his forthcoming book exposing secrets of the "insidious" lobby at Washington is going to use names—names men high in public life who have written some of the 250,000 letters which he keeps guarded in a Seattle safety deposit vault—has caused worry in certain quarters.

Mulhall intimates that there will be a lot of local interest in political developments resulting from the letters in his possession. Several of them, it is understood, discuss Congressman Will Humphrey, who is a candidate for election to the U. S. senate from this state.

There is a possibility that Mulhall's book will serve as a campaign document for the republican party, especially if Roosevelt is the party nominee.

T. R.'s Record Clean
"The letters in my possession," he says, "which I have collected during my 30 years of public life, give Theodore Roosevelt the cleanest bill of health of any of the men now mentioned as candidates for the presidency."

"Although there is no blot on my record in Washington," declared Mulhall Friday, "a good many people are inclined to eye me doubtfully because I was, for so many years, in charge of the actual lobbying for the National Association of Manufacturers."

"I would like to have it understood that I left the employ of the association, refusing repeated offers to increase my salary, then $12,000 annually, because the work got too raw and I wouldn't stand for it."

It was shortly after his resignation that he was kept on the witness stand for three months before a congressional lobby investigating committee in Washington.

He revealed many astounding secrets of the lobby's methods. The committee has never made a report of its findings. Col. Mulhall charges its reluctance is due to the fact that a truthful report on conditions will besmirch many prominent members of congress in both parties.

Was Offered $100,000
"I was offered a cool $100,000 at the time of the investigation to lay down and not tell what I knew," he said. "I wanted to go straight and I turned it down. I didn't get anywhere with the matter then, but I think I'll get some action now with my book."

Thirty-five of Uncle Sam's boys in khaki have given their lives for the flag since last Memorial day. Although the United States has been at peace these men have sacrificed themselves to guard our border and the interests of humanity on foreign soil. Most of them met death along the Mexican border or with the punitive expedition which dashed into the southern republic after the tragic Columbus raid. The others, all members of the marine corps, the "soldiers of the sea," were killed in the island republic of Hayti where they went to end a reign of terror and save the inhabitants and their property from the murderous factions that were ravaging the country.

Gen Pisano Plays 'Suwanee' River With Shots from Rifle

Gen. Pisano did stunts with a rifle last night at the Pantages theater that made the patrons' hair stand on edge. He did everything from shooting the ashes from a cigarette held between the teeth of one of his assistants to playing "Suwanee River" on a xylophone with bullets from his trusty barrel.

General Pisano, whose wonderful rifle shooting is a feature of the new bill at the Pantages this week.

KAISER HOPS ON A CAR

ELBING, Prussia, May 30.—The German emperor yesterday had his first experience in riding on a street car. When the trip ended he thanked the motorman, emphasizing his thanks with a 10-mark tip. The Kaiser arrived here unheralded yesterday to visit the Schichau shipbuilding yards.

With his retinue he walked to a crowded car of the bobtail variety and asked the motorman whether the car ran to the yards. When he was told that it did, he called out to members of his suite, "All right, gentlemen, jump on." The Kaiser dropped his grocer into the box like the other passengers.

HARBORS BILL PASSES

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 30.—The rivers and harbors appropriation bill, carrying about $43,000,000, was passed by the senate yesterday by a vote of 35 to 32, after many amendments had been added. The bill now goes to a conference of the two houses. Senator Jones of Washington was one of 23 republicans who voted against it, while Senator Poindexter was one of seven republicans to vote for it. Just before the final vote was taken Senator Kenyon of Iowa predicted the bill would be the last of its kind to pass an American congress.

COAST STRIKE NEARER

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—By the action of the Waterfront Employers' union, which formally rejected the demands of the Riggers' and Stevedores' union, a strike of 12,000 longshoremen employed at Pacific coast ports was brought a step nearer today. This action, according to the statement of the union secretary, means that a strike will automatically take place June 1, unless the employes reverse their action. A strike would virtually tie up deep water shipping of all coast ports.

ROOSEVELT WIRES BUSY

WASHINGTON state republican delegates to the national convention have just received two telegrams urging support of Roosevelt, one from George V. L. Meyer, chairman of the Roosevelt republican committee, which opened headquarters yesterday in Chicago; the other from 14 Detroit bankers and auto manufacturers. Meyer's appeal for support is made on the ground of Americanism, and apparently has the unqualified backing of Roosevelt himself. The telegram from the auto manufacturers is much along the same lines.

SUFFS FEAR FRICTION

CHICAGO, May 30.—A premonition of friction in the suffrage situation is astir here today because of the rival conference to be held here June 6 and 7 by the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage and the National Woman Suffrage association. The Congressional Union leaders fear that the two rival conventions, coming at one time, will not be the best thing for the movement. Some believe that the calling of the second convention was a deliberate blow aimed at the woman's party convention.
