

Footlights Twinkle; Curtain's Up On New York Theatrical Season!

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Are you coming to New York this fall? Then listen, Mawruss; here's what you'll see in the theaters:

(Business of studying on whom to mention first.)

There are American and English plays, and operettas from the German, and farm plays and fashion plays and plays based on motion picture plays, and—

(Ah, we've got it—and maybe she'll write for us the story of her young, eventful life!)

Ruth Chatterton, for instance, who starred first in "Daddy Longlegs," is to have "Come Out of the Kitchen," an A. E. Thomas comedy, from Alice Miller's novel.

Doris Keane will appear in an Arnold Bennett adaptation of his own passionate novel, "The Book of Carlotta."

Frances Starr will be in "The Little Lady in Blue"—but not till Christmas time; that's a costume comedy by Horace Hedges and Wynney Percival.

The Sisters Dolly, those operatic and optic delights, will enter straight drama in a farce, "His Bridal Night," written by Margaret Mayo and Lawrence Rising, Jane Cowl, for the first time in years, will have a humorous role in "Betty Behave."

Ann Murdock will star in "Please Help Emily," the first play by H. M. Harwood, British army officer.

Elsie Janis and Hazel Dawn will open the Century theater, for the Billingham Ziegfeld outfit, Grace George will star in repertory at the Playhouse. Mrs. Fiske will stage Ibsen's "Enemy of the People," and Emma Dunn will act Rachel Crothers' "Old Lady No. 31."

Maude Adams will feature Barrie's "A Kiss for Cinderella." Margaret Anglin will have Somerset Maugham's "Caroline," and Marie Dressler will be a fefale athletic trainer in "Sweet Genevieve," by Jimmy Forbes.

Blanche Ring will star in William Mack's "Broadway and Buttermilk." Pavlova will prance at the Hippodrome. Chauncey Ol-

Oldest Circus Clown Still Working at 78

Of the many groups of performers who will delight the youngsters when the Barnum & Bailey circus comes to Tacoma on Sept. 6, none will give greater joy than the 50 clowns—the "Jokeys," as they are called in circusdom. Among them is the daddy of all clowns, Jerry Madison, 78 years old.

This merry old jester has been a circus clown for 61 years.

During this time he has clowned in both continents and he has traveled with every famous circus in the world. He has been a court jester in his early days and he boasts of being one of the few men that ever brought a smile to the face of the late King Leopold of Belgium.

How Thin People Can Put on Flesh

Thin men and women—that big, heavy, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are probably sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating and eat with every one of those single Sargol tablets. In two weeks note the difference. Let the scales be the judge. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy "stay-there" fat may be the next result. Sargol aims to charge weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh red blood corpuscles—to give the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food, to prepare it for the blood in an easily assimilated form. Thin people tell how they have gained all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol and say that the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a careful combination of six of the best assimilative elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and the Crown Drug Co. and all other good druggists in this vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in every large package.

Don't Boycott Bread Yet, Says Housewife Head

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—"My advice to housewives is: DON'T BOYCOTT BAKERS' BREAD—YET!"

So declared Mrs. Julian Heath, president of the National Housewives' league, with a membership of 7,000,000 housewives in all parts of the country, when she announced today her policy toward the action of the master bakers' association in an attempt to do away with the 5-cent loaf of bread entirely and substitute the 10-cent loaf.

"The Housewives' league will not consider a boycott before an investigation I have just ordered is completed," said Mrs. Heath.

Favors 10-Cent Price.

"If bakers were boycotted the substitute for their services would be simple. The housewives could bake her own bread.

"But it is possible the action of the bakers is along the line of progress and economy.

"I believe in a standard 10-cent price for bread rather than a 5-cent price. There is greater economy in it for all concerned.

"The small 5-cent loaf costs as much to wrap, handle and deliver as the ten-cent loaf, and with the price of labor, flour, oil and other materials rising, the bakers may fairly plead that perhaps a penny should be added to the cost of the small loaf, while the purchaser of the larger quantity should receive it at a trifle smaller price in proportion to the amount received.

Cheaper in Bulk.

"This is an inevitable economic condition. The consumer finds that all commodities are cheaper if purchased in large quantities. But while in the case of ice, milk and butter, housewives of very small means cannot possibly buy and keep the larger quantities, nearly every housewife can afford to buy the ten-cent loaf.

"By a ten-cent loaf I do not mean a loaf of standard size. We have always advocated a standard price and have always recognized that the baker should be allowed to vary the size of the loaf he sells at that price. This is fair because the baker's raw materials constantly fluctuate in price.

"But a sure way to prevent exploitation under this system would be to compel the baker to LABEL EACH LOAF SOLD AT THE STANDARD TEN-CENT PRICE WITH ITS EXACT WEIGHT!

"From the housewives' point of view, why should we not have the ten-cent loaf? Bakers' bread is more healthful the second day than the first and every family will consume practically all of a ten-cent loaf within two days.

It's Never Wasted.

"Even if a little remains it is never wasted. Dry bread is best for toast. It can be used also for French toast—a breakfast in itself. Stale bread can always be kept and used up in breaded meat and fish, in dressings with roasts and steaks, on top of shirred eggs and for all sorts of deserts from simple bread pudding to Brown Betty.

There should never be the slightest waste in bread. There is only one danger, and that is that bakers might juggle the thing and use the ten-cent standard as a means to conceal an unfair profit.

"But the Housewives' league is investigating this. If price juggling and reduction of the nutritive value of bread is proved, a boycott on bakers' bread might well have the same quick effect our famous boycott of eggs did in bringing the price back to rock bottom!

SENATE APPROVES PHILIPPINE BILL

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 17.—The Philippine bill was approved by the senate yesterday. The Clark amendment providing for independence of the islands within four years was omitted, but the bill promises the Filipinos freedom whenever they demonstrate their ability to maintain a stable government.

AINT NATURE WONDERFUL!

(BY GENE AMERI)

EARS.

Each head is equipped with a pair of catching gloves, known as ears, to catch sounds!

They never fail to catch anything, but some HEADS muff everything the ears catch, especially as is the case with policemen.

Some ears stick out prominently on the side of the head like real estate signs, while others lay flat like a pancake on the floor, or a pedestrian in the wake of a flock of automobiles on the asphalt.

Women always keep their ears covered with hair. They seem to have some reason for doing this, although we couldn't find out why.

The mechanism on small boys' ears is remarkably wonderful. They automatically shut off such sounds as this: "Harry! I want you to go to the grocery for some onions."

They can't hear it, even if the sound only came from a distance of two feet. But if somebody in the parlor should whisper "How would it be to send out for some ice cream?" would they hear it? Would, they, well, I guess.

Flynn believes the counterfeiters were well supplied with money and were planning extensive operations, as the plant alone had cost $2,000. The ringleader is said to be an expert photo engraver.

Other musical pieces will be: "The Star Gazer," by Franz Lehár; "Her Soldier Boy," by Victor Leon; "Rund um die Liebe," by Oscar Strauss; "The Girl From Brazil," by Brummer and Grunwald; "Lieut. Gus," by Eysler, Ellner and Rodanski; "Flora Bella," by Cosmo Hamilton and Chas. Cuvillier, and "Little Miss Springtime" and "The Czar's Princess," both by Emmerick Kalman, of "Sari" fame.

Also there will be an Irish opera by Victor Herbert and Henry Blossom.

Flynn believes the counterfeiters were well supplied with money and were planning extensive operations, as the plant alone had cost $2,000. The ringleader is said to be an expert photo engraver.

Trap Counterfitters

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—William J. Flynn, chief of the government secret service, and several of his assistants, have frustrated a conspiracy to manufacture and circulate $1,000,000 counterfeit silver certificates and U. S. treasury notes.

They made eight arrests, after raids on a house at Grant City, Staten island, and one in this city. A complete counterfeiting outfit was found. Two of the men arrested were operating this plant, it is believed.

Flynn believes the counterfeiters were well supplied with money and were planning extensive operations, as the plant alone had cost $2,000. The ringleader is said to be an expert photo engraver.

Tacoma Elks Lobbying

One hundred Tacoma Elks who are attending the annual state reunion in Hoquiam Thursday are lobbying to have the 1917 reunion in Tacoma. They are making a stiff fight for the convention, but are meeting keen competition, as the Wenatchee and North Yakima lodge also are out after it.

A life and drum corps of 18 Tacoma Elks will lead the parade in Hoquiam Friday afternoon.

Wheat Is Not Ruined

MONTREAL, Aug. 17.—There is much indignation in Winnipeg over reports telegraphed to papers in the U. S. that the wheat crop in Manitoba is ruined. Edward Brown, provincial treasurer, says he has examined the crop and that the report is entirely untrue. The damage, he says, is confined to the southern part of the province. He does not expect the yield to be much below the average.

All leading grain dealers say they are expecting to handle an average crop.

Canneries to Merge

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—The leading cannery interests of the Pacific coast are negotiating in San Francisco for a merger. It was learned today. Its object is to do away with the present duplication of distributing plants. The firms named in the reported merger are the Alaska Packers' association, J. K. Armsby company, California Fruit Cannery's association, Central California Canneries, Hawaiian Pineapple Co. and Balfour, Guthrie & Co.
