PLAYERS EAGER FOR CITY SOCCER LEAGUE

If plans of soccer enthusiasts in Tacoma materialize, there will be a six or eight-club City league formed for the coming season.

Both Dodgers and Red Sox Will Soon Become Orphans

(United Press Leased Wire.) BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 11.—Not only are the Dodgers on the ragged edge of a bottomless precipice so far as this world's series is concerned, but they are about to be orphaned.

South Tacoma Fans Interested In Bout

South Tacoma boxing enthusiasts are showing much interest in the semi-windup of Paul Steele's smoker, scheduled for Monday night.

In order to definitely settle the Northwest semi-pro title, Manager Hans Johnson of the Smelter team has been trying all week to get in telephonic communication with the manager of the Nonpareils, at Seattle.

Centralia High school will play the Houqum High at Houqum Saturday. Centralia's eleven will line up as follows: Hall, l e; Bowers, l t; Maekell, g; E. Hall, c; Ormsby, r g; Webster, l g; Denney, r e; Stephens, q; Barner, l h; Doersch, r f; and Spurgeon, f b.

Roy Wilkowski is still raving because the baseball season closed before the rainy season set in.

Bill Spencer's Outlaw football team will practice on the pavement, under arc lamps, in front of the T. M. C. A. building after 6 o'clock tonight.

Quill, captain and star pitcher of the T. R. & P. baseball team, will captain the car men's football squad this year.

Stub Nelson, the Smelter port-side first sacker, who was out of last Sunday's game because of sickness, is on his feet again and will be going in for football again soon, he says.

Some of the fastest bowlers in the city this season are: Auldridge, Berk, Kellerman, Whisner, Edlt, Pole and St. Germain. All have rolled 200 or more in five games this season.

Joe Daily, the McKenna pitcher who will play with Seattle next season, was in town yesterday, "giving the berg the once over."

Australians Accuse Les Darcy of Being "Slacker"

BY MAXINE QUAYLE SYDNEY, Oct. 12.—I have just had an interview with Les Darcy. I have stepped through the ropes into the cork-padded ring in which he batters his way to victory.

working in his home town, Mattland, for 25 shillings, about $5.50, per week as an apprentice to a blacksmith, a Salvation Army captain.

For weeks past Darcy has been the target of hundreds of red-hot letters shot through the medium of the Sydney newspapers. Not wanting to be a conscript, Darcy clutched to enlist, but was unable to carry out his intention because he is not yet of age and could not get the consent of his mother to go to the front.

Whenever Darcy appears at the boxing matinee run weekly at the Sydney stadium, a huge crowd is always assured. Hundreds of girls and women are sure to be in attendance, many of the women having babies in their arms and several little tads hanging on to their skirts.

"They are having a great time over your enlistment, Mr. Darcy," I suggested. "I suppose you are annoyed about the publicity."

Women members of Lochburn golf club started their fall handicap tournament today with 18 holes of medal play. Several of the women are evenly matched, and some interesting contests expected.

"Do you intend to go to America?" "Yes, as soon as the war is over, if I am still on deck, I want to go to America. I want to see the country and also get some of the money I am always hearing about. I would love to go to England, too. I want to travel and see the world."

Les Darcy is the sporting idol of the Australian public who accept him without question as the middleweight champion of the world and think him unbeatable. Two and a half years ago he was

TRAVELING WITH THE CHAMPIONS

Speaking of the Giants' altitude record, we didn't hear any noise about Connie Mack's record-breaking submarine dive.

"What is so rare as a day in June?"

A Red Sox player eating with the fork in the proper mill, or wearing a collar that fits him or, without a "brakeman" haircut.

If Duffy Lewis could wear one of his screeching sky pieces during a game it would make the belching of the bleacherites sound like a dumb man giving a lecture.

Manager Carrigan and Coach Wagner are the strategy officers of the Red Sox. One of their masterpieces of strategy is "We'll shoot Submarine Mays out before the enemy gets a chance to land on Shore." Some joke, heh! heh!

A short while ago the howl was "Nothing can fill Speaker's shoes but snow." How d'ye account for Tillie Walker's corns?

Scott, sensational shortstop, sure scoops sizzling, stinging shots. Try to break the speed limit saying this while buttoning your shoes and eating lettuce salad.

Michigan May Play Here On Thanksgiving

Tacoma may see a big football game in the Stadium on Thanksgiving day. The Michigan Military academy's team, which is planning a tour of the country, has written here asking for a game in November, and Manager Earl Jones of the Tacoma Athletic club has replied that his team would be glad to take on the Michiganers for Thanksgiving afternoon.

Football at Park Sunday

A big crowd of football fans is expected to turn out for Sunday's game at Athletic park between the South Tacoma Athletic club's first eleven and the Dupont football team.

Manager Karl is putting his South Tacoma lads through strenuous practice almost every evening and they have developed a formidable offense and a stiff defense. New jerseys for the S. T. A. C. team arrived this week, and the players will be "all dressed up" for the game.

Charlie Works In a Pawn Shop

Charlie Chaplin is still grinding out monthly comedies under the Mutual sign.

Charlie Chaplin comes to the Melbourne Sunday in his newest monthly offering, "The Pawn Shop." To prepare himself for the role which he enacts in this funny film, the famous comedian worked a week in a San Francisco pawn shop. Needless to say, he has brought out every bit of humor that could possibly be obtained from the unique play.

'Mister 44' Is Clever Romance

Just such a play as will make you forget the troubles of life in a revel of romantic excitement is "Mister 44," the Metro play which opened at the Apollo yesterday. Harold Lockwood and May Allison have the leads in this play. "Mister 44," tells a unique story, being the pictured version of the novel by E. J. Rath, author of "The River of Romance," and conceived in the same fanciful vein.

Edna Goodrich In Pretty Play

That fashionable society girls are offered in the matrimonial market to the highest bidder is pointed out in "The House of Lies," now at the Colonial. Edna Goodrich is featured in this great expose of the artificiality of society. The story deals with Edna Coleman, whose step-mother endeavors to wed her off to the best advantage. The girl rebels at being regarded as a chattel, and determines to learn if true love can be found in the world. She apparently destroys her beauty and makes the experiment. She learns then that there are men who seek more than merely outward beauty.
