Our Flag

Oh beautiful Flag! our love and devotion,
We sing in thy honor, from ocean to ocean.
We love to watch you throughout the day,
Oh beautiful Flag, while you swing and sway.
In your wonderful color we know you enfold
The love of our nation—to have and to hold.

Our forefathers' blood—your color in red
Is the symbol of love from the brave that are dead;
While the beautiful white, like the angels above,
Is the symbol of undying "Heavenly Love."
And the color quite somber, the wonderful blue,
Is the symbol of hearts that are brave and true.

Three cheers for the Flag we love and adore,
Throughout the land from shore to shore.
We sing in thy honor, oh long may your wave
O'er the land of the free and the land of the brave,
Oh beautiful banner, we pray you unfurl:
Peace to our country and peace to the world.
AGATHA SMITH.
R. 4, Tacoma.

Paint and Powder

EDITOR THE TIMES:
May I say a few words to "An Auburn Girl"? Is there any sane man today who wants to see a girl paint her face, so she looks like a clown, powder her face so she looks as though she had been dragged through a flour barrel, and lace herself so tightly with a corset that every time the wind blows she has to brace herself to keep from falling over?
I much rather think that an old-fashioned girl would make the best housewife and mother. I am willing to gamble on it that your 10 to 1 would soon fade to 100 to 1 in favor of the old-fashioned girl. You couldn't wish for a better companion than your mother, at least I know I couldn't, and I assure you she isn't one who uses paint.
The girl who uses paint, powder, and laces doesn't do it

With their ages ranging from 18 to 65, more than 120 women of Tacoma have volunteered their services to the government in case of need, at the headquarters of the National League for Woman's Service, 913 Broadway.

In the small towns of Pierce county patriotism is running high. Four Puyallup boys and one Bur-ton boy volunteered for service in the navy Thursday. From Puyallup, Ralph Stewart, Glen Harold Nichols, John Rinehart and Otto Mason volunteered and Oscar Allen Carlson of Burton. Mrs. L. A. Hogan and Miss Anna Mitchell volunteered at the navy office Thursday as nurses.

A Forecast

EDITOR THE TIMES:
I will drop you a few lines to notify you that my prophecy stating that Fort Steilacoom shall be called "Gibraltar" will again take effect about Easter, 1917.

This means that W. J. Bryan (Jacob) will meet his brother, Esau (namely Roosevelt) to smoke the pipe of peace. We shall have no war with Germany. This reminds me of a dream I had the other night.

I thought a great battle was going on at the Clover creek bridge, Pacific avenue, when suddenly Henry Ford appeared in an automobile pulling a heavy gun spouting fire. All at once the battlefield was transformed to a multitude of people sitting in automobiles looking at an airship with the flag marked "The Swan Cascade." April 10, 1917.

This dream means that a fatal car accident through a panic may still cause government ownership of the railroads, and that a battle between the negroes and Mexicans may cause the Southern Pacific to start a panic in San Francisco.
Yours in confidence,
Z. A. SKUGRUD.

The Spirit of '17

TACOMA, U. S. A., APRIL, 1917

More than 125 men are needed to fill the coast artillery companies to war strength, Maj. W. Ellison announced Friday.

Thursday 70 men enlisted. New recruits to the 10th company Thursday night were: Cyrus J. Mentzer, Wilbur I. Cooke, Arthur H. Clarke, Donald I. Plummer, Walter C. Burton, Tom H. Weigan, Warren F. Phillips, Donald R. Maxwell, William H. Armstrong, Dewey Kress, Howard R. Crothers, August Felsch, Tom W. Glatrick, Arthur D. Francis, William E. Turner, Herbert H. Holz and Ray L. Turnham.

White-haired and bent with many years of battle with Father Time, a 60-year-old man walked into the navy recruiting office Thursday afternoon and volunteered for the aviation corps. Officer Strickland was dazed for a minute, but told the man to go to the Army and volunteer for this service. The man's parting shot at the officer was, "I may not look like no high flyer, officer, but I bet you a box of crab apples I'll show you yet."

(United Press Leased Wire.) FOREST GROVE, Ore., April 6.—Every man at the Pacific university here today is a member of a military training squad formed by Ray Williams, university graduate and for four years a marine.

Dressed in faded uniforms of the Civil war, four Civil war veterans volunteered their services to the G. A. R., to Maj. Seth W. Ellison Thursday afternoon at the Army. They were told that if enough younger men for the companies could not be obtained, they would be taken. They were offered the job of playing their trifles on the streets today and they accepted. They were Veterans Fiske and Peterson of Tacoma, Neely from Puyallup and West from Port Orchard.

With their ages ranging from 18 to 65, more than 120 women of Tacoma have volunteered their services to the government in case of need, at the headquarters of the National League for Woman's Service, 913 Broadway.

In the small towns of Pierce county patriotism is running high. Four Puyallup boys and one Bur-ton boy volunteered for service in the navy Thursday. From Puyallup, Ralph Stewart, Glen Harold Nichols, John Rinehart and Otto Mason volunteered and Oscar Allen Carlson of Burton. Mrs. L. A. Hogan and Miss Anna Mitchell volunteered at the navy office Thursday as nurses.
