Overalls

EDITOR THE TIMES: More about these overalls for women. Will they actually come to stay and will women wear them? Sure!

It is only one of the little steps in that grand march of woman's emancipation, from the day when she was man's slave to the now fast approaching time when she will stand in all of her God-given glory of intelligence, charm and beauty and be as free to think, do and say as any man ever was.

Why shouldn't women wear overalls if they afford a freer garment for work and exercise? The woman who does overalls and works in the garden for an hour in the morning will have health, happiness and joy of life, which the woman who sits around the house laced up in a tight corset all day will not have.

The one who wears overalls for her free exercise in the day will be the most sought out social favorite in the evening.

Some of the finest women in America already wear overalls. On the ranches of Colorado, Montana and Eastern Washington are hundreds of women who ride in overalls on their ponies or drive their machines over the prairies. If Tacoma women can't learn to wear them they cannot claim to be free women.

ERNEST H. COOPER.

Wants To Help

EDITOR THE TIMES: My sympathy is with the U. S. as I am Canadian. I have often had people ask me which I like the best, U. S. or Canada. I used to tell them, it is immaterial to me, "I like them both the same."

I have always told them in a joking way if anything should happen to America, I would help them just as much as I would Canada, and so I am intending to do. I do not know personally to whom I should refer, but I would be pleased to help anybody in any way that is needed.

It is very kind of President Wilson to favor the German people population, but I have personally seen the Kaiser's people have acted very barbarous to their employes. I have found the Germans to be very barbarous. I had a German say to me the other day that the Germans are very smart. I told him they were not so smart after all. They have been preparing for barbarism for the past 40 years. We Canadians and Americans have never thought of barbarity.

Tourist hotel.

Time For Unity

EDITOR THE TIMES: That article written by Eleanor Vernhart was splendid. She certainly hit the nail on the head. England has done many wrongs in her time which no sensible person would condone.

The English people have many admirable traits of character and I am proud to claim them as my ancestors.

We all respect the Germans, also every other race of people; they are all our brothers. It is not the fault of the German people that they are governed by a war-mad king. None of us wants war, but the president and congress have declared war, and the time for useless repining is past. Now it is our duty to stop arguing and try to help in however small a way it may be.

The Spirit of '17

TACOMA, U. S. A., APRIL, 1917

Enlistments in the U. S. navy through the Tacoma recruiting station are on the increase. Since Tuesday afternoon nine men have signed up with Recruiting Officer Strickland. They are Hubert Schmalhorst, Benjamin Miles, Floyd Leanne Tifflet, Edwin Carlson, Ralph Rider, Gordon Eva, George P. Brown, Walter George Clausen and Larry T. Leahy.

(United Press Leased Wire.) CHICAGO, April 11.—Directors of the most exclusive golf clubs in and around Chicago are considering planting vegetable gardens on the links or letting sheep graze on them.

Officer H. Slaugh, in charge of the marine corps recruiting station in Tacoma. It's Sergt. H. Slaugh now, instead of "corporal." Private W. H. Banks, who is an assistant at the recruiting station, also has been promoted, to the rank of corporal.

CHICAGO, April 11.—War will result in American women's wearing trousers, says Mrs. Mary O'Reilly of the Women's Co-operative league of the United States Employment Service.

Five men enlisted in the U. S. marine corps Wednesday. They are Fred Newman, 94 South E st.; Walter Arthur Riches of Elbe; Keith Broughton, 112 East Harrison st., and John Frank Cromoga of Wilkeson.

CHICAGO, April 11.—Aviation is the branch of war service most in favor with Chicago's young men. In one day 230 signed up.

Paul Bergfeld, assistant city building inspector, who served a year in the German army, has offered to act as color bearer or drill sergeant of one of the home guard companies to be formed of city employes. H. M. Alexander, bookkeeper in the public works office, sergeant whose cousins have been killed in action with the Austrian army, has offered to act as drillmaster.

There will probably be five companies of city employes, all drilled by employes who have had previous military training.

CHICAGO, April 11.—The U. S. bureau of investigation has employed a special telephone operator to receive "spy tips." They come in at an average of one every five minutes.

Declaring that persons capable of blowing up munitions factories or of setting fire to grain warehouses, such as occurred in the east yesterday, are spies and should be treated by the government as such, Police Judge Graham sent a communication to Assistant District Attorney Fishburne today.

The police judge suggested that the rights of habeas corpus be withdrawn in all cases of spies, and that instead of being given a civil trial, they be heard before a military tribunal.

"This is war," declared the judge. "If any spy is caught here destroying American lives and property, he should be lined up before a military firing squad and shot."

CHICAGO, April 11.—John C. Dillon, radio inspector, declared 25 wireless stations are still operating around Chicago in defiance of the navy department's edict.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Suffragists threaten to post sentinels at the city clerk's office to discourage girls from marrying "slackers."

Shackleton Thrills His Audience With Story

(Special to The Times) SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—Sir Ernest Shackleton carried a breathless audience with him last night over two years of adventure in the ice of the Antarctic.

It was all done in less than two hours, but it was done so graphically, with the clearness of the pictures and the quiet modesty of the lecturer's words, that none of the large audience was without a grasp of the heroism of a great adventure and a noble failure.

It seemed impossible that the square-shouldered, youngish-looking man in plain blue serge suit, with the coloring of his title orders above his heart, could have gone through the sufferings he described in terse sentences, yet with an ast that conveyed an impression of intense suffering without harrowing the feelings of his audience.

Peary Pays Tribute The whole affair was simple. The introduction made by Admiral Charles F. Pond was simple and short and the little speech made by Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the North Pole, was a simply-worded tribute to one man who has done things for another of the same kind. There was not lacking in Shackleton's talk a clear vein of delightful humor. The awful clutch of the ice, the sufferings of men who were fighting the bitterness of the Antarctic with a mere hope of coming through alive, the struggle over the barrier of South Georgia, never before crossed by man, all were relieved with some quip that brought smiles to his audience.

In brief, Shackleton's talk was an illustrated description of his attempt to reach the South Pole from the American side of the great continent and to pass on to the New Zealand side to be picked up by another vessel in McMurdo sound. Shackleton dwelt mostly on his adventures on the American side.

The explorer is being honored by the Bohemian club, of which organization he is a guest.

It was announced in New York that Lieut. Shackleton had been elected to the honorary fellowship of the American Museum of Natural History, the highest scientific honor that the institution has bestowed.

The explorer is being honored by the Bohemian club, of which organization he is a guest.

It was announced in New York that Lieut. Shackleton had been elected to the honorary fellowship of the American Museum of Natural History, the highest scientific honor that the institution has bestowed. The election was in recognition of his Antarctic exploration and his efforts in rescuing the members of his party. Sir Ernest becomes the ninth honorary fellow of the American Museum.

Shackleton started this morning for the Northwest, and will lecture in Tacoma Friday.

4 COMPANIES WILL MARCH

All members of the coast artillery companies of Tacoma are to parade next Monday night in the big patriotic demonstration, it was announced Wednesday by Maj. Seth W. Ellison, commander of the south fort command, C. A. R.

Maj. Ellison received word that all married men of the New York companies were discharged Tuesday. Whether this order will come to Tacoma, it is not known. In each of the four Tacoma companies there are about 10 married men.

All members of the companies must wear their uniforms every day, is the order issued by Col. Bliethen. From Saturday night at midnight until daylight Monday morning they may be taken off, if the men care to do so.

Tuesday night the "rookies" drilled under experienced men from each company, learning the first points of marching and squad formations. Friday night they will drill again, and if so call comes each man of the company will get a "shot in the arm," or a typhoid inoculation, Sunday morning.

M'CORMICK IS HELD AGAIN

James McCormick, proprietor of the Seven-Mile roadhouse, fell into the clutches of the law again Wednesday.

Charged with selling liquor without a government license, he was arrested by Deputy Marshal Fleetwood and bound over for the federal grand jury. According to James H. Woods, government special agent, liquor had been sold promiscuously at the roadhouse.

LIST OF VICTIMS GROWING

(United Press Leased Wire.) PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—Most reliable estimates early today placed the death toll of the Eddystone munitions disaster as high as 140, many of the victims having died horrible deaths during the night at the various places used as hospitals.

More than 150 are now placed in the list of injured, although an accurate account is next to impossible.

It is feared that there may be still other dead in the ruins of the plant and a minute search will be made for additional bodies today, now that the fire has subsided sufficiently.

Although many bereaved relatives have identified loved ones as their own, scores left the morgue and hospitals in despair. Most identifications were made by means of finger rings or other trinkets.

Arrest Suspects. Scores of bodies were so charred that it was impossible to ascertain even their sex.

In the Chester morgue alone there are 105 bodies yet to be claimed.

Two suspects of the plot were arrested early today at the Pennsylvania station at Chester by department of justice officials. Their names were withheld. They had been under surveillance by officials.

Federal, state and county officials are co-operating in running down all clues that have bobbed up leading to the belief that it was the diabolical work of an incendiary.

Received Warnings. It is practically the unanimous belief of detectives and other officials that the destruction was the result of a carefully-laid plot.

Scores of employes who were not victims of the tragedy have told the story that warnings were passed around last week, saying, "Don't come to work Saturday or Monday." Most of them laughed at the idea, but it is known that a good number took the hint even to an additional day and thus avoided death.

WOMAN GIVES PROOF (United Press Leased Wire.) TRENTON, N. J., April 11.—Mrs. Annie Keating of this city this afternoon gave federal authorities proof which on its face apparently proves that the great Eddystone munitions disaster was caused by a carefully laid plot.

On March 14 while en route to Pottsville, Pa., she saw a man drop an envelope in the Broad street station, Philadelphia. He was lost in the crowd before she picked it up, found it unsealed and discovered inside a note: "All ready to blow up Eddystone. Send us help."

SAVE YOUR HAIR! 25 CENT BOTTLE STOPS DANDRUFF

Every bit of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Try this! Your hair appears glossy, abundant, wavy and beautiful.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scourf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.
