WAR COUNCIL PLANS HOW TO AID RUSSIA

(United Press Lensed Wire.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28.—Help for Russia and solution of the Irish question were the two immediate Herculean problems before the world war council of the allies here today.

There is reason to believe British Foreign Secretary Balfour's initial report of the war parley, received in London today, will declare that informal inquiries have made it clear that President Wilson believes a speedy solution of the Irish problem will be one of the greatest steps that could be taken to advance the fight for universal democracy.

The American government considers Ireland a subject too delicate to make even informal suggestions concerning England's attitude. It has left the initiative to England.

Look to America. The promotion of world democracy phase of America's attitude dovetails with the Russian situation and plans to meet it.

England, France and Italy are keeping the closest possible watch on developments in the new democracy. And while they are doing all they can to help it along, they look to the United States to take the brunt of the burden.

Ultra-secret conferences between this government and the British and French commission heads and representatives of the other allies preceded and followed the appointment of Elihu Root as head of America's Russian aid committee.

While no official of an allied government would talk concerning the Russian situation because they feel it is too delicate to discuss just now, suggestions here and there from representatives of the different governments piece their attitude together like this:

Two Leading Factions.
The revolution has developed two leading factions in Russia—the duma and the provisional committee of soldiers and citizens.

The duma is thoroughly democratic, utterly opposed to a separate peace with Germany and on complete terms of understanding with the allies.

The provisional committee, the more powerful of the two organizations among the people, is not a unit either for the allied cause or for a separate peace with Germany.

Germany is exerting a gigantic propaganda to swing the committee to a separate peace. Germany is concentrating its efforts on the extreme socialists on the committee, among the people at home in Russia and among the soldiers in the trenches.

ROSEDALE CHURCH PLANS BIRD SHOW

A Bird Festival is to be given May 4 at the Rosedale church. One of the features of the evening will be an exhibition of birds of this section by Mr. Bowles of Tacoma. Thru the courtesy of the Shaw Supply Co., an Edison phonograph will give a number of selections. Several other features will be on the program.

Camels are abundant in Palestine. It is told in Judges VII, 12, that the Midianites and the Amalekites possessed camels "as the sand by the sea for multitude." Job had 3,000 camels before his affliction and 6,000 afterward.

She has known Olaf Bull for years, and as soon as she learned of his recent serious automobile accident offered her services for the complimentary concert.

All male singing societies in Tacoma will meet at the Masonic temple Sunday for their first rehearsal. The members are asked to report at 12.30.

Beginning Thursday, the Sherman Clay company will give reserved seat tickets for the exchange tickets already sold. Tickets are on sale in a dozen downtown stores.

MARNE TURNING POINT

"Had the battle of the Marne been lost by the allies, all the engagements that have since taken place, including the stupendous battle under way today, never would have occurred. There would have been no further fighting on the west front, and the war in all probability would have been over. Germany would have been successful."

Capt. D. Elmer Carlton of the 7th Canadian battalion, describing the great battle of the Marne, at the Commercial club Friday night, called the battle the turning point of the war. Illustrating his talk by sketches thrown on the screen, he told of the critical days when the German forces swept the allies back to the very gates of Paris, and then of how the French broke through the invading line, hurrying back the Kaiser's forces in retreat.

Col. E. W. Colner of the Tacoma home guards, was called on for a speech.

"I am glad," he said, "that we are able, in this great war with the English, the French and the new republics of Russia, to banish the divine right of Kaisers and czars from the earth."

"America is sometimes wrong, but in this war she is right. She sometimes makes mistakes and is slow in getting started, but when she gets to going, all hell can't stop her."

"MOTHERS" TO MIDDIES

(Special to The Times.)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 27.—Mrs. Emma Ferguson Ellis of this city, announced today women in all parts of the country are rapidly joining in a movement to act as "mothers" to orphan boys in Uncle Sam's army and navy.

The organization is called the Mothers' Correspondence club, was formed in this city and now is spreading to all parts of the country where orphan soldiers and sailors may find real homes awaiting them when on leave.

Each member of this unique club has a boy in the army or navy to whom she writes comforting, instructive and pleasant letters at regular short intervals and whom she invites to her home to stay with her as her "son." She addresses him as "son" and signs "mother."

PREPARING FOR DRAFT

(Special to The Times.)
OLYMPIA, April 27.—Evidence that government officials in Washington, D. C., expect the selective draft bill to go through congress is furnished in a telegram received by Secretary of State Howell today from Sam L. Rogers, United States director of census.

Rogers wired Howell asking for the number of voting precincts in each county in the state, and in the five largest cities of the state, including Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane, Bellingham and Everett.

Under the selective draft plan all men between 19 and 25 years will have to register in their resident precincts, and this information was requested in anticipation of the passage of the law, so that the act can be made operative at once.

FAMOUS SHIP COMING

Having served successfully as a coffee warehouse, a hotel and an electric light plant during the nine years she was stranded on the beach on the West Coast, the former Kosmos liner Sesostris will be brought to Puget Sound and repaired at Seattle, it is announced.

The liner formerly operated between Tacoma and Hamburg. She ran aground nine years ago. The floating of the vessel a few weeks ago was considered one of the most remarkable salvage feats on record.

While on the beach the vessel suffered very little damage. Her engines remained intact and she is now on her way up the coast.

Y. STARTS ARMY WORK

A committee of Tacoma business men headed by W. W. Seymour will start a campaign soon to raise $3,000 to build the first Y. M. C. A. "hut" at American Lake, to be named "Tacoma."

Plans for the campaign were made Friday at a meeting in the Commercial club, addressed by George McDill, a Y. M. C. A. worker, who said the national Y. M. C. A. are proposing a $3,000,000 fund for work in the U. S. army camps during the year.

Washington's share, he said, will be $40,000, most of which will be spent at American Lake.

Unlike many business concerns a bank has no bargains to offer—the services which we have to extend remain the same. We realize that our best advertisement must be our customers and friends, and are devoting this space to the encouragement and assistance of all movements which have for their object the promotion of the best interests of Tacoma.

In order to assure the success of the government loan the co-operation of the people must be broad and deep. It must extend far beyond ordinary channels of investment. Thousands of persons who never have purchased bonds, who never have been in touch with financial houses, must become investors in this issue. It has an appeal not only to patriotism, but to reason and to business sense. The whole nation must be quickened to a complete understanding of the spirit and the meaning of this investment. America must enlist its wealth as well as its manhood.

Haughty Spud Forbidden, She Asks Divorce

(United Press Lensed Wire.)
PORTLAND, Ore., April 28.—The high price of potatoes is responsible for a divorce suit on file here today.

For ten years, Mrs. Belle Rogers charges in the suit, she had nothing to eat but potatoes. But when the humble spud became the haughty potato at $4 a sack, her husband decided that potatoes were too good for her.

He forbade their use. She says she had nothing else to eat, so cooked a few potatoes despite her husband's ultimatum.

He came home, saw the potatoes and became so angry he threw the potatoes on the floor and struck her with the pot. She promptly arranged for a divorce suit.

Born to—Mr. and Mrs. Millard Stryker, 1602 No. Adams st., April 19, boy; Mr. and Mrs. William Kincaid, 2914 E.
