

LIFE WITH SAMMIES IN FRENCH WAR ZONE

Staff Correspondent Lyons Sends Times Snappy Album of Soldier Views

Here you see Sammy in his leisure moments at the actual fighting front in France. The trooper above has established an entente with a fair daughter of our sister republic, France. In the upper left a Sammy who speaks French is telling a group of villagers about Uncle Sam's entry into the field of war—he is beset with eager questions. French and American infantrymen are fraternizing in the picture in the upper right, and the poilus are explaining the mechanism of the Lebel rifle. In the middle picture at the left are American fighters at their midday meal, and below a Yankee saluting a new found French friend in the sign-language that means "All right, Old Pal, I'll be over after lunch." All pictures passed by censor.

DRAFTED ROOKIES HONORED

(United Press Leased Wire.) NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—America today began honoring her sons drafted for the army of democracy. For the next four days the nation will pay homage to the flower of her youth called forth to battle under the selective service law. Celebrations of all sorts, banquets, parades, patriotic meetings, will mark the "send-off" day in hundreds of cities, reports to the United Press show. Many occurred today. All will be concluded by Tuesday at the latest. President Wilson is to take his place in the ranks of the new national army men and march with them in Washington. It was the president's own idea of the homage he should pay to the men who will back his words with fighting. In Philadelphia the Liberty bell will be taken briefly from its wrappings and its ancient, hallowed metal tapped, that an echo of the clang which once heralded America's democracy might once again start a parade symbolic that America has not forgotten these ideals. It will give the signal for Philadelphia's marchers. In New York, the greatest city's 38,621 men of the draft army will be the people's guests. There will be a parade, speeches, drills, entertainments—and every man of the national army will find his insignia his admission to baseball parks and many theaters. This will be on Tuesday.

Youngsters Ask Permit to Work

The taking effect of the federal child labor law Sept. 1 brought a visitation of boys and their parents to Judge Chapman's court Saturday morning for permits to work in Tacoma industrial plants. A number were from the Gregory Furniture Co., one from the Northwestern Woodware Co., and others from other establishments. The law provides that children under 16 must have permits in order to remain in industry.

Tangled Divorce Is Placed Before Court

Affidavits in support of the motion of P. J. Olliver to have the divorce which was granted his wife, Florence, last May, set aside, revealed such a tangled state of affairs when the motion was argued Saturday morning, that Judge Chapman took the matter under advisement. Olliver swears that when he was served with the summons and complaint in the divorce suit, and also cited to appear in court and show why he should not pay alimony and attorney's fees, he did not employ a lawyer but came in person and told the court his financial condition; that his wife's attorney, Thomas J. Wayne, told him she had decided not to proceed further with the divorce and that he need not concern himself about it. Later, the attorney wrote Olliver that his wife had changed her mind and if he did Stone and others.

FAWCETT HITS AT LATEST CRITICS

Replying to critics who have censured the city for not immediately granting a two-platoon system in the fire department, and explaining that the city's finances will not permit of such an expense, Mayor Fawcett issued the following public statement Saturday: "C. E. Muckler, editor Tacoma Church Record, says I am 'penny wise and pound foolish' for not rushing headlong to grant the two-platoon system to city firemen. 'Personally, I have a greater respect for the legal advice of our competent and successful city attorney than for the whimsical ranting of C. E. Muckler, and much as I would like to make it easier for city firemen I will not vote to install the two-platoon system until I can do so legally. 'This may be 'penny wise and pound foolish' according to Muckler, but at least it is honest with the people. But possibly that is something that does not count with Muckler."

LATCHEM NEW COUNTY JUDGE

Frank A. Latchem was appointed justice of the peace by the county commissioners Saturday morning, to succeed DeWitt M. Evans, who resigned two or three days ago. Evans received a commission as lieutenant following his course at the Presidio.

DESERTED HER

Frances (Seen filed suit for divorce in superior court Saturday from Frank Stoen, declaring that she has had to find jobs for him and even then he refused to work; that he has failed to provide for her and finally deserted her in July, 1914.

TWO-JURY SYSTEM ADOPTED

The two-jury plan will be adopted for the trial of the army-post condemnation suit, which is set for Sept. 24, Judge Clifford announced after discussing the matter with attorneys Saturday morning. As soon as it has been empaneled and sworn, the first jury will be taken to view the tracts of land on which the first hearing is to be held. While this is being done, the second jury will be empaneled and sworn, and while the first jury is hearing evidence on the first cases, the second jury will be viewing the tracts on which the next case or group of cases will be heard. Advocates of both the one-jury and the two-jury system based their arguments Saturday on the statute passed by the last legislature to permit the bringing of the army post, P. C. Sullivan arguing that the methods of procedure left by the statute to the discretion of the judge, and J. T. S. Lyle, special county attorney, that it was left to the discretion of the county commissioners and the special attorney. "The statute doesn't say a word about the discretion of the court," declared Judge Clifford, "and I think it is clearly within the court's discretion." About 140 of the 2,256 defendants involved in the first suit were represented by the dozen or so attorneys present Saturday. The trial will cost the county approximately $250 a day, Lyle estimated. He will announce on Sept. 15 which cases will be taken up first when the trial begins.
