

FULTON LOSES THRU FOULING

(United Press Leased Wire.)
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 26.—Fred Fulton, claimant of the world's heavyweight championship since December 20, apparently was farther than ever today from a bout with Jess Willard. Fulton last night lost to Harry (Texas) Tate, of Nowata, Oklahoma, in the first round of a scheduled ten round bout by a decision of Referee Bill Haack, who ruled that Fulton was using foul tactics. Early in the first round, Haack declared Fulton was striking too low. Tate's manager asked that the fight continue. Near the end of the round Tate was thrown thru the ropes into the crowd. Tho the fight was a no-decision affair, Haack declared afterward that if it were permissible he would award the fight to Tate.

CRIPPLED TEAM FAST AT SOCCER

Eleven men with ten good legs and eight good arms recently won a soccer football game, 5 to 1, against a football team composed of men who had all their limbs. The game was played at the Tuxedo Park Military Convalescent hospital at Winnipeg, and the one team was composed of wounded Canadian soldiers. The game was fast even tho several of the soldiers raced around on crutches. At Tuxedo Park athletic games all sports comprise as much of the system of recovery as medicine. Races, soccer, basketball and field sports are indulged in by practically all the convalescents. The theory of the medical supervisors is that the more time a man spends in recreation the sooner he will recover. Not only will he benefit by the exercise and fresh air, but his mind will be taken from his injuries and he is not likely to worry. The fields are always crowded from 3 o'clock on and the hospital ground has the appearance of a great athletic field. These games which have been taken up so heartily by Australians and Canadians will undoubtedly form a part of the convalescent routine of American wounded soldiers when they are brought home. The Y. M. C. A. which has aided greatly in promoting sports in the army camps probably will help the government in providing amusements for the wounded men.

CAMP LEWIS ELEVEN STARTS STIFF WORK

(United Press Leased Wire.)
PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 26.—Training of the Camp Lewis all-star football team, which meets the Mare Island marines in a New Year's game here, began in earnest today. Coach Stanton had the entire squad of players out shortly after daybreak. Practice was held under cover at Tournament park and was secret. The army squad was divided into two teams, and Coach Stanton kept the players at stiff work throughout the morning. It is so much warmer here than on Puget Sound that long workouts will be necessary to acclimate the players. Both the Tacoma soldiers and the marines are quartered at the Maryland hotel. Pasadena offered good cheer for the visiting athletes on Christmas, the day's celebration being topped with a great dinner in the hotel Christmas evening.

Bowlers Will Have League

A new City Bowling league will open its winter season January 7 at the Tacoma building alleys. Because of the war, the personnel of all previous teams has been changed, and the new league will have an entirely different appearance than before, but "Doc" Soule believes that much interest can be created thru the league. Games will be played Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights. The names of the teams are not announced.

Goes to Seals

(United Press Leased Wire.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—Harry Morton, semi-pro pitcher, will report to the Seals for spring training. Manager Jerry Downs is very sweet on Morton and will tender him a contract next month. Morton signed a Portland contract, but Downs declared that the man who signed him had no authority to do so.

Strangler Lewis Camouflages Strangle Hold With Head Lock

In New York they are accusing Strangler Lewis of camouflage. Lewis is wrestling in the international wrestling tournament and just now it looks very much as tho he will win it. Lewis is winning most of his matches with a head lock, a hold which is extremely hard to break and which puts a man on the mat in a position which is almost certain to result in a fall. Wrestlers who have felt the head lock insist that it is really nothing more or less than a camouflage of the strangle hold, which is barred. Referees have so far refused to uphold this claim and Lewis keeps on using the head lock with varying success.

Billie Burke and Mack Sennett Comedy On New Bill at Colonial

A scene from Billie Burke's latest film vehicle, "The Land of Promise." With Chester Conklin and Mack Swain, former Keystone favorites, in the leading roles, "The Pullman Bride," Sennett comedy at the Colonial this week on the same bill with "The Land of Promise," is one of the funniest of the new Paramount farces. Pretty Gloria Swanson is the girl who is loved by the two rivals, and great is the fun that results.

Jane Gray Has New Film Play

Jane Gray, handsome and talented, is the star of "The Fighting Chance," a play of emotion and excitement which is at the Apollo until Friday night. Especially good Pathe news pictures are included on the current bill. Another clever program is being arranged for the midnight matinee Saturday night.

Trap Shooting For Officers

Officers at Camp Lewis who indulge in trap shooting as an outdoor sport are invited to join the group planning weekly trap shoots at the camp. Traps have been installed, and regular shoots are being arranged. Lieut. G. P. Raymond is in charge. A trap shooting club will be formed in a short time.

Melbourne Has Mary Anderson

Mary Anderson and Antonio Horeno are the stars billed at the Melbourne Wednesday and Thursday. "The Magnificent Meddler" is the title of the Vitagraph play. The story is that of Monty Emerson, played by Mr. Moreno, and Bob Gill, a cartoonist, who go to Horizon, a frontier town and buy a newspaper. Then they start to reform the community. They accomplish their feat and the editor

Dobie Signs 1918 Contract

Gilmour Dobie, the famous football coach who guided the destinies of the University of Washington for 10 seasons without a defeat, has signed a contract to handle the navy team again in 1918. News came today of the new contract. Dobie has started the east with his work at Annapolis. Taking a raw team, the tall Scot brought it from obscurity up to the top of the ranks, and won more points this year than any other eastern eleven.

Hockey Shakeup

(United Press Leased Wire.)
SEATTLE, Dec. 26.—Changes in the management of Northwestern hockey teams are announced today. Pete Muldoon, manager of the Seattle champions for three years, will take charge of the Portland Rosebuds. Lester Patrick, one of the best hockey players in the west, will manage the Seattle Metropolitans hereafter.
