

Help the Boys Along

The true war time spirit—the spirit that will win the war is to sign up for the "Army that stays at home."

You'll get a chance on the 28th to declare yourself. Go the limit and you'll drive another nail in the kaiser's coffin.

Many Volunteer For Stamp Campaign

If all Tacoma subscribed to War Savings Stamps with the same spirit that men, women and children have volunteered as workers in the campaign, the city wouldn't have much difficulty in topping its quota, and then some.

The many workers who are busy on the streets and in buildings reminding every passer-by to sign a War Savings pledge, testify to this.

A powerful working organization has been built up for the campaign, with the center of activities in Victory hall, and it only remains for Tacoma to respond with the same enthusiasm that these volunteers have shown.

Following are the War Savings Volunteers, as listed at headquarters:

Cora L. Uren, Flora Schoettler, Helen F. Fitch, C. D. Bangs, Winifred E. Smith, Lucy Crocker, Nora Marie Haffley, Alice Hawthorne, Mable H. Oleson, Bertha H. Bosse, G. Parrish, Emma H. ACTORS AID IN CAMPAIGN

Charles McKee, manager of the Tacoma theater and chairman of the entertainment committee of the War Savings Stamps campaign, arranged Tuesday to have the "Oh Boy" company entertain on the streets in front of every War Savings Stamp booth to attract the crowds to sign up their pledges.

A platform was built on a truck and the entertainers moved from booth to booth. McKee expects that any attraction here during the week will follow the footsteps of the "Oh Boy" company.

SPURRING UP HOTEL MEN

James Harding, manager of the Olympus hotel, appointed superintendent to look after the hotel pledges in the War Savings Stamp drive, reports a lack of interest among hotel men.

Harding wants all the men interested in hotels and apartments to see him personally at his office and help him procure the pledges allotted to the hotel men of the city.

War Savings Proclamation

From the President of the United States

This war is one of nations—not of armies—and all of our one hundred million people must be economically and industrially adjusted to war conditions if this nation is to play its full part in the conflict. The problem before us is not primarily a financial problem but rather a problem of increased production of war essentials and the saving of the materials and the labor necessary for the support and equipment of our Army and Navy. Thoughtless expenditure of money for non-essentials uses up the labor of men, the products of the farm, mines and factories, and overburdens transportation, all of which must be used to the utmost and at their best for war purposes.

The great results which we seek can be obtained only by the participation of every member of the nation, young and old, in a national concerted thrift movement. I therefore urge that our people everywhere pledge themselves, as suggested by the Secretary of the Treasury, to the practice of thrift; to serve the Government to their utmost in increasing production in all fields necessary to the winning of the war; to conserve food, fuel and useful materials of every kind; to devote their labor only to the most necessary tasks; and to buy only those things which are essential to individual health and efficiency; and that the people, as evidence of their loyalty, invest all that they can save in Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps. The securities issued by the Treasury Department are so many of them within the reach of every one that the door of opportunity in this matter is wide open to all of us. To practice thrift in peace times is a virtue and brings great benefit to the individual at all times; with the desperate need of the civilized world today for materials and labor with which to end the war, the practice of individual thrift is a patriotic duty and a necessity.

I appeal to all who now own either Liberty Bonds or War Savings Stamps to continue to practice economy and thrift and appeal to all who do not own Government securities to do likewise and purchase them to the extent of their means. The man who buys Government securities transfers the purchasing power of his money to the United States Government until after this war, and to that same degree does not buy in competition with the Government.

I earnestly appeal to every man, woman and child to pledge themselves on or before the 28th of June to save constantly and to buy as regularly as possible the securities of the Government and to do this as far as possible through membership in War Savings Societies. The 28th of June ends this special period of enlistment in the great volunteer army of production and savings here at home. May there be none unenlisted on that day.

(Signed) WOODROW WILSON.

Are You a Citizen

OF THE
United States

Every loyal American and citizen of the United States will sign up on the 28th of June to buy War Savings Stamps during 1918.

Uncle Sam, "your" Uncle Sam, is behind every stamp you buy. You cash in June 1st, 1923. Get in line and help U. S. lick the stuffing out of the Huns.

BOYS! Help Win the War

Get out and sell War Savings Stamps on

June 28th
National War Savings Day

On that day everybody is asked to sign a personal pledge to buy

War Savings Stamps

War Savings Stamps are a direct loan to Uncle Sam. Nothing can lessen their value. They're always at par. They pay you well, though that isn't half so important to you as what money does for our soldiers "over there." Back them up. Keep food going to them. Keep their clips full of cartridges. And shoes on their feet.

Boys, get out and sell W. S. S.—and send our soldiers over the top with the go-get-'em feeling that comes from knowing you will see that they get what is coming to them.

War Savings Stamps cost $4.17 each on June 28—and pay back $5.00
