

SHOWS UP JUNKER FAILURES IN WAR!

(United Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27.—German diplomats are now blaming their militarists for prolonging the war.

Sensational excerpts from Foreign Minister von Kuehlmann's address to the reichstag Tuesday, explaining his remarks of Monday show that he literally struck the junkers between the eyes. He declared that Ludendorff should be made to answer for lack of German success in the war, not the German chancellor.

He scored von Capelle for saying the U-boats would keep American soldiers from France, "and there are 700,000 of these troops now there."

He derided those militarists who said America wouldn't enter the war, and said German domination of Esthonia and Livonia, "pompously called liberation of smaller peoples," is "deplorable and hopeless."

GERMANY WILL KNOW

By J. W. T. Mason
United Press War Expert.

Efforts to sacrifice Foreign Minister von Kuehlmann for the failure of von Hindenburg to win the war for Germany cannot restore to the German people confidence in the conquering invincibility of the kaiser's army.

If von Kuehlmann is forced to resign, as is reported today, for telling the reichstag that "peace cannot be won on the battlefield," all Germany will know Hindenburg's frantic ruthlessness is used even to terrorize cabinet ministers at home. The growth of that realization will make Hindenburg's position increasingly precarious.

Von Kuehlmann's phrase sounds the deathknell of German militarism, no matter what happens to von Kuehlmann. Now that the secret is out, the more Hindenburg tried to prove the effectiveness of the military machine, the greater will be the final smash.

SOLDIERS SEE NO HOPE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

AMSTERDAM, June 27.—Speaking in the reichstag Tuesday regarding Foreign Minister von Kuehlmann's assertion that peace is militarily impossible, Here Naumann said that "thousands of soldiers think the same," according to a Berlin dispatch.

"An absolute victory over the hordes of North and South Americans and Chinese is not completely attainable," continued Naumann, "even if we sacrifice our last man."

KAISER IS FURIOUS

(United Press Leased Wire.)

AMSTERDAM, June 27.—Chancellor von Hertling's speech, explaining that of Foreign Secretary von Kuehlmann, was the result of orders from the kaiser, it was reported here today. The kaiser is said to be furious at von Kuehlmann.

ADMISSION OF DISMAY

(United Press Leased Wire.)

LONDON, June 27.—W. M. Hughes, premier of Australia, speaking before the Chamber of Commerce today, declared von Kuehlmann's speech is a clear admission that the vaunted German offensive is barren of gains, and that America's war effort has surprised and dismayed Germany.

LABOR'S PART

EDITOR THE TIMES:

I have just read your editorial on non-essentials and also have read the article by Cynthia Grey, "Your Salary Is Not the Test." Both very good, and one bearing on the other, but both to a certain extent misleading, especially to the mass of people.

Cynthia Grey gives the impression that work with the hands is more important than with the brain. She doesn't mean it that way, I am sure, but interpreted by the average laboring man, you will find that such would be his conclusion.

We all know that the work of the hand could not be guided except by the work of the brain; that is the reason that the brainy men always have the best salary. I have a good salary, earned because I have brain enough to keep employment (work with the hands) for a large number of men.

Because I could first work with my hands, but knew enough to keep my brain active, I have outstripped the man who only "worked with his hands." The article is so written that the "aristocratic" point is lost. That point if brought out more clearly is mighty good. After finishing my nine to ten hours in the office I put in the balance of the day until 11 taking care of potatoes and a large garden. Instead of doing my "aristocratic" self any harm it does me a world of good, as well as helping to win the war.

You will find a larger percentage of the men who work with their brains doing extra work to help win this war than you will the laboring men. True the laboring man, after a hard day's work, is not so able to do extra work, as his body needs a rest, but he does not need to purchase the non-essentials that you have pointed out.

On the other hand, we have a large class of laboring men who are not working to their capacity, and who seem to do all they can to keep some other more willing person from doing all that he can. Right here I want to say that the man who plays golf should be putting his energy to better use, tho the government recognizes the fact that every man should have some recreation. For my part, I haven't rested a day for 16 months nor played golf either. It is work, work, work.

To go back to the class of laboring men who are hindering. A little over a year ago when the eight-hour day was agitated, and finally adopted, the men claimed that they could do so much better work, etc., in eight hours than if they worked 10 hours. That was finally agreed. Since then we have come more than ever, and are getting it stronger each day, to learn that we must do everything we can to help Uncle Sam.

The unions promised that they would not hinder; the employer promised that he would keep his establishment on the same basis as before the war. The employer has kept his promise. But what of the unions? At every opportunity they insist on unionizing the shops. Say they have the right to organize. All right, they have; but they are not keeping their promises, and rather than kick up a fuss the employer is giving in. That is his patriotism versus the union's. Not only that, but now eight hours per day is too long for a man to work and keep it up six straight days. He must have Saturday afternoon off.

Many of the men do not think this is right, but they are governed by a few who think they are getting the advantage of the employer in this way and forget that they are curtailing the output of the country. There are many, many things that I would like to mention to you that you always seem to steer clear of in your editorials.

You don't bring forcefully to the attention of the working man just what his part is. They all give more or less freely to every fund, Red Cross, Liberty Bonds, War Savings Stamps, etc., but they have not yet reached the point of full patriotism. I do not believe in the employer making all the profit either, but shortening hours and raising wages and keeping a continual agitation amongst the laboring men will not remedy this.

The point is, do all you can to help win the war, and it looks to me as the you might use somewhat different tactics in your editorials. Yours of a few days ago giving "One Man's Creed" was all right, but that man certainly did not belong to any union, or he could not call his job his own. He would have to strike it called upon, no matter what the excuse. Yours for Uncle Sam, B.

COUNTS ON AID OF U.S.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

LONDON, June 27.—While waiting to speak to the labor conference, Alexander Kerensky sent the following message to America, thru the United Press: "Russia counts on the full aid of America at this moment of supreme tragedy and importance for her. I cannot say now in what way America can best aid Russia. I am coming to explain the Russian situation for you. I hope to do this soon."

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27.—American action as to Russia will occur soon.

The first step will probably be dispatch of a commission to Russia to check up on Russian needs and desires.

HUNS MANEUVER FOR DRIVE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

LONDON, June 27.—Important events are developing on the west front," the Chronicle declared today. "German reserves are cunningly maneuvering into position for a resumption of the offensive. It is impossible to say, however, in which sector the blow will fall."

SUBS CHASE TWO VESSELS

(United Press Leased Wire.)

AN ATLANTIC PORT, June 27.—Passengers arriving here today on a Canadian steamer reported that their vessel picked up SOS signals from two vessels being pursued by submarines, while 250 to 300 miles off the American coast Tuesday.

The first message was sent out by an unidentified steamer early in the morning, which reported it was being shelled. The second came from a steamer giving its name as the Beaver, which declared it was returning the U-boat's fire.
