 Mr. Thomas McKenna, an old resident of this county, died at his home in the San Juan Valley, on last Friday night. General debility and old age likely caused his death.  The entertainment given by the members of the Good Templars' lodge in Odd Fellows' hall on Wednesday evening of last week was fairly well attended and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The play presented, "Between the Acts," is a very bright little melodrama in three acts, full of fun and life. The manner in which most of the participants carried out their parts, showed that they had given the play careful study and had carefully rehearsed for some time. The management of the little play deserve especial praise for their good work.
 Mr. Chas. B. Parmelee, aged 42 years, died at his home near Cascade lake, Orcas island, at about 5 o'clock a. m. on Friday last, of pneumonia. He was a man loved by his intimate friends, and highly respected and admired by all who knew him. His sickness was of very short duration and his death was a shock to all in that vicinity.

FARM, FIELD AND ORCHARD.
 Farm and Garden Queries.
 G. P. B., King county, Washington, wants to know how to remove warts from the teats of cows.
 Answer: Clip off the long warts with shears and cauterize with a stick of lunar caustic, or with nitric acid. The latter is applied by dipping a stick like the end of a match into the acid and then touching the spot to be cauterized with it. Liquid caustic seems to penetrate and destroy the roots of warts better than caustic in solid form. Flat warts can be removed by applying twice daily. If a cow is in lactation when warts are to be amputated, and they are numerous, only a portion of them should be cut at a time lest much attending soreness interfere seriously with the operation of milking.
 N. F. P., Ottawa county, Ohio, asks if flat turnips fed to cows cause injury to their udders and teats.
 Answer: This problem has been much discussed, some claiming one thing and some another. The general belief is that if fed moderately and right after milking no turnip flavor will be imparted to the subsequent mess of food. Doubtless much can be done to prevent a recurrence of the misfortune. Test it carefully for yourself.
 S. K. San Bernardino county, Cal., has a cow that twice lost her calf at about seven months. She appears healthy, has been bred again, and now he wants to know if anything can be done to prevent a recurrence of the misfortune.
 Answer: Give attention to securing a diet and regimen that will obviate indigestion. Wheat bran, roots and other succulent food are proper as parts of her feed. Care should be observed that she have plenty of corn or corn fodder or sweet hay. All food to be clean and wet, and drinking water pure, from well or spring, and not from a stream or creek. If fat and plethoric, reduce her flesh some by scant feeding; but if thin and poor, let her feed liberally. Let her stable be clean and well ventilated, and its atmosphere wholesome. Give her access to salt at will. Have no barking dogs, noisy children or other excitement about. Regularity of feeding and watering is important. If discharges and other precocious symptoms appear about the seventh month, the absence of lactation may be given, to be repeated as may be indicated. This may quiet the nervous system and prevent the impending trouble.

To Cure a Choking Cow.
 I saw an article in The Tribune giving a remedy for choking cattle. This is a sure, simple and effective relief: When a cow is choking over a potato or apple, elevate her head so that a good quantity of water can be poured down her throat. This will expand her windpipe, and let the water cause her to cough and out will come the obstruction every time.—George W. Hayman.
Uses of Grammar.
 Sometimes people who are not accustomed to expressing themselves in print, and therefore do not know the necessity for the use of correct English, by experience, say that they don't see what is the use of spending so much time over the study of grammar. Perhaps we can illustrate the necessity for the study of composition, by the following examples of a rather poor use of the language, which have appeared from time to time in various journals, and are now presented to you for your pleasure and amusement.
 "Annual Sale. Now On. Don't go elsewhere to be cheated—come in here."
 "For Sale. A lady wants to sell her piano, as she is going abroad in a strong iron frame."
 "Furnished apartments suitable for gentlemen, with folding doors."
 "Wanted, a room by two gentlemen about thirty feet long and twenty feet broad."
 "For Sale, a piano by a widow lady with carved legs."
 "A boy wanted who can open oysters with a bulldog for sale; will eat anything; very fond of children."
 "Wanted, an organist and a boy to blow the same."
 "Wanted, a boy to be partly outside and partly behind the motor."
 "Wanted for the summer, a cottage for a small family with good drainage."
 "Wanted, a good boy for punching."
 "Young People, Attention. Our new school house is now completed, and is capable of accommodating four hundred pupils two stories high."
Feccular Kansas.
 Kansas:
 First in Abolition.
 First in Prohibition.
 First in Woman Suffrage.
 First in Populism.
 First in agitation that involves discussion on earth. Kansas are natural born theorists and the greatest theorists on earth. She may never be sleek, fat, contented and commonplace like the people of other Commonwealths. Kansas always wants to "discuss." It is the breath of life to our people.—Topeka State Journal.
 The total popular vote of 13,529,000 cast this year is an increase of 2,137,000 over the total popular vote of 1883 and of 1,419,000 over that of 1882. The increase of 1892 over 1883 was but 728,000.
