"Ring out the old, ring in the new."

The ISLANDER extends to all its readers its best wishes for a prosperous and Happy New Year.

Father Time will close the record of 1904 tonight and turn over a new leaf in the great book of years.

Thomas W. Lawson, of Boston, finds it possible to bear the stock market by advertising. There's nothing like printer's ink. Try it.

The Farm and Fireside quotes with approval the following extract from the bird law in Delaware: "Nor shall this law prohibit any person from killing any bird on his own premises when in the act of destroying his grain, fruit, berries or poultry; such birds so killed shall not be offered for sale." This is good law and good sense, and the principle should not only be recognized in law practice everywhere, but specifically embodied in the game or bird laws of every state.

It is said that Mrs. Chadwick, the arch swindler of Cleveland, endeavored unsuccessfully to work several country bankers but found none who would nibble at her bait. City bankers are prone to pride themselves on their financial astuteness and keen insight into human nature. They never buy gold bricks, oh no! and they never get bunked by the shell game at the circus or the fair—no, oh no!

They sometimes ride their pass out, but never blow the gas out. Nor do they drink hard cider when they go out on a tear; they never pinch a dollar till the eagle has to holler. And they like to laugh at farmers who have hayseed in their hair. But, by gum! if you've been readin' you've observed a strange proceedin' in connection with the Chadwick job of feminine finance. The victim, it is queer, was no country financier, but a banker from the city who wears creases in his pants.

WHAT IS HAPPINESS?

The following definition is given by the Boston Journal: "Happiness is a state of constant occupation upon some desirable object, with a continued sense of progress toward its attainment." Whereupon, T. Grenier in Farm and Fireside says: "Some people seek happiness in the enjoyment and pleasures of life. The hog may live a life of ease. It fills itself full of swill or corn, and lies down grunting to digest at leisure. This may look like contentment and happiness, but it is not. I cannot imagine happiness and the true enjoyment of life without the stimulus of some worthy aim. We may be paying for a place, or trying to improve our home, or to solve some great problem of our life or calling; so long as we are making earnest efforts for the attainment of our object, and can see that we get nearer to it, we will be truly happy. 'Fresh air, moderate exercise, plain food, regular sleep and kind thoughts,' continues the Journal, 'will heal you of your diseases, pluck from memory its rooted sorrows, and put you close to all the good there is.' The prescription is a wise one."

WHAT BECOMES OF IT

If a man eats two pounds daily, near two pounds daily must in some way pass from his body, or disease and a premature death is a speedy and inevitable result. The food that is eaten must contain the elements necessary to supply nutriment to the system and free from all substances that bind the bowels.

ALL GOOD THINGS

must win upon their merits. The International Dictionary has won a greater distinction upon its merits and is in more general use than any other work of its kind in the English language.

A. H. Sayce, LL.D., D.D., of Oxford University, England, has recently said of it: It is indeed a marvelous work; it is difficult to conceive of a dictionary more exhaustive and complete. Everything is in it—not only what we might expect to find in such a work, but also what few of us would ever have thought of looking for.

A supplement to the new edition has brought it fully up to date. I have been looking through the latter with a feeling of astonishment at its completeness, and the amount of labor that has been put into it.
