COUNTY NEWS.

SUNKEN STEAMER.—While the steamer Idaho was lying at the wharf on Sunday night or early on Monday morning, she suddenly listed to one side and commenced filling rapidly, and shortly after sank, leaving nothing but her upper house out of water. As soon as it was discovered she was sinking an outcry for help was raised by those on board, in response to which boats were sent out from the steamer Jas. McNaught, which was lying alongside, and all hands rescued. It is said that the men were asleep on the vessel when she sank, and the wonder is that several were not drowned. As it was, one of the crew was compelled to dive under a partly opened door in order to escape. The Idaho had on board when she went down about 3000 sacks of oats, which is entirely worthless except for hog feed. The Idaho had been loading on Steamboat wharf during the day, and it is presumed she must have become strained by being grounded.

SOLD OUT.—On Monday last the fine farm of Squire Sibley, near Anacortes, was sold to Francis Van Valkenberg, of Fidalgo, for $3000. The farm comprises 159 acres, one acre having been donated by Judge Sibley for use as a cemetery some time ago. This is altogether one of the prettiest and most carefully cultivated farms on the island. Mr. Sibley has sold only the land and improvements thereon, retaining the stock and crop. The Judge will remain on the island this winter, and in the spring will probably visit relatives in the East. It is not very likely the Judge would be content to remain there after a residence on this coast of thirty years, thirty of which were spent on this island. However, as there are but few better men in this section than Uncle Sibley, we have no hesitation in wishing him success wherever he ties up.

A HUGE TREE.—In Jackson's logging camp on the Skagit, last week, a tree was cut down which in point of size will compare favorably with any ever before cut on the sound. The stump measured 9 feet across; the first log cut was 24 feet in length and measured 84 inches; the next log 32 feet and 76 inches at the top, and the third log was 36 feet long and measured 63 inches. Thus it will be seen that the height of this forest giant, allowing for the top branches must have been at least 125 feet, as 92 feet of saw logs was cut from it, the average diameter being 63 inches, over five feet. This tree would probably scale about 12,000 feet, which, at $5.50 per thousand would yield about $78.

SAMISH OYSTERS.—On her last trip the steamer Washington took on 55 sacks of oysters at Samish, consigned to Willis of Olympia; she also took on 76 barrels of salmon. Oysters sell for $1.75 per sack on the beach at Samish. Dr. Lewis recently sold one lot of 29 barrels at $8.50 per barrel. Several parties from Seattle are at present engaged in fishing for and shipping oysters from that section to points up sound.

CUT HIS LEG.—While engaged in chopping a tree on G. N. Crandall's place, near Fidalgo, one day last week, W. H. Blood inflicted a deep and painful gash on his right leg, near the knee. The worst results of the accident are that Will be unable to work much for a week or two; meanwhile he chafes around as lively as a man with a cork leg.

UP THE NOOKSACK.—The steamer Daisy is at present making quite regular trips up the Nooksack, connecting at Whatcom with the steamer Washington. This is certainly a great accommodation to the people of that section and the traveling public generally. The Daisy will probably continue on the route until the Gazelle puts in an appearance.

LOG RAILROAD.—Charles Jackson, one of the most successful loggers on the Skagit, is about to build a logging railroad for the use of his camp. A locomotive will be used on the road. The track will be laid at first for a distance of two and a half miles. It is expected the road will be in operation by February 1st.

USED AS A HOTEL.—The building at Whatcom for some time past used as a store by W. M. Sisson, will soon be converted into a hotel. During the present week Mr. Sisson moved into his fine new store at Ferndale.

GOOD PRICE.—Charles Miller, who has been farming on the slough, two miles from Laconner, sold his farm last week to Oscar Ruden, receiving for the naked land $6500—a pretty good price we imagine.

Election Day.

Tuesday next is election day, a fact we presume known to all our readers. For the benefit of voters we again publish a list of the various polling places, together with the names of the Inspectors and Judges:

Nooksack Precinct—Held at school-house. Inspector, R. B. Brockenridge; Judges, R. Fountain and John Harkness. Lynden—Hawley's Hall. Inspector, H. A. Judson; Judges, W. W. Smith and E. Hawley. Ferndale—At school-house in D. street No. 6. Inspector, H. A. Smith; Judges, J. W. Pierce and H. Shields. Semiahmoo—At school house in District No. 5. Inspector, J. A. White; Judges, J. N. Lindsay and J. Rucker. Whatcom—At Court House. Inspector, M. A. McPherson; Judges, A. C. Marston and J. W. Barker. Samish—At school-house in District No. 7. Inspector, M. McElroy; Judges, G. S. Shaw and W. Thomas. Guemes—At school-house. Inspector, J. J. Edens; Judges, W. Payne and W. Whaley. Ship Harbor—At Bowman & Oakley's store. Inspector, E. O. Dale; Judges, A. D. Bowen and S. Wooten. Fidalgo—At Munk's store. Inspector, J. Kavagugh; Judges, H. C. Barkhouse and G. N. Crandall. Laconner—At Court House. Inspector, C. D'Arcy; Judges, A. Lesmer and J. Siegfried. Skagit—At Mann's store. Inspector, J. Gilliam; Judges, T. P. Hastie and O. Polson. Mt. Vernon—At school-house in District No. 10. Inspector, F. Block; Judges, A. Hartson and J. Gates. Upper Skagit—At J. T. Wilbur's. Minkler, Ruby—At the mouth of Ruby creek. Inspector, T. H. Stringham; Judges, T. Rowland and L. S. Stevens.

Under the new election law the polls are required to be open at 9 A.M., and continue open until 6 P.M., without recess. In openly settled precincts, whenever a sufficient number of qualified electors to constitute a board of election are not present at 9 o'clock on the morning of the day of election, it shall be lawful to open the polls as soon thereafter as a sufficient number are present.

Ballots deposited in the boxes will not be numbered, as heretofore, objections having been made to the practice as tending to violate the privilege of secrecy. By the present law the officers are simply to receive the ballot and place it in the box, and an adequate punishment is provided for any attempt to gain a knowledge of its contents.

FUN WITH A BULL.—Considerable merriment was caused on board the Welcome, one evening last week, by the efforts of the deckhands in putting a young bull ashore at Guemes. Ropes were attached to the animal, and finally, by dint of much pushing, tail twisting, hard work and hard swearing, the now thoroughly frightened bullock was shoved overboard. Coming up presently, with an angry snort he swam ashore, and made a furious charge on the first object in sight, which happened to be one of the deckhands, holding the end of the line. Then the fun commenced, and for a time the night was made hideous by the yells and shouts of laughter of the large crowd on board who witnessed the frantic efforts of those on shore to escape from the enraged beast, while the very air was blue with oaths. Finally after great trouble, amid the confusing shouts of some officious jondonkeys on board who thought they knew it all, and sang out to the men to "Let go of the rope!" "Don't do it; hang on to him!" "Look out for him; run!" "Stand your ground, and put some more salt on his tail!" "Coax him a little!" and similar expressions, they succeeded in securing him. It was fully fun for the passengers, but the deckhands couldn't see anything funny about it at all. Strange how people will differ.

MURDERED.—A week ago last Sunday the body of an old Indian, with his throat cut from ear to ear, was discovered near the store of W. J. McKenna, on Padilla Bay. There was no evidence of a struggle, and it is thought the old man must have been approached from behind by his assailant, who proceeded to mangle him in the most approved Siwash fashion. It is supposed the cowardly deed was committed by a number of Indians from the Skagit, in revenge for some real or fancied injury.

BAND OF HOPE.—An association with this title, whose members are pledged to temperance and the discouragement of the use of tobacco, was organized at the Academy last week. Twenty members affixed their signatures to the roll. Following are the officers elected: Conductor, Rev. E. O. Tade; Treasurer, Mrs. O. Haroldson; Secretary, George Hagadorn. The Band will meet every Monday evening at the Academy.

READY FOR WORK.—Wells & Powell, who have recently opened a camp on Lummi Island, have roads skidded into about 2,000,000 feet of fine timber, and will commence putting in logs next week; they expect to put in from twenty to fifty thousand feet per day, and will work all winter. Ten men and four yoke of cattle are employed at the camp.

I.O.O.F.—The recently organized Lodge of Odd Fellows on the Skagit was formally instituted on Saturday evening, a large delegation of prominent members of the Order, among whom were Gov. Newell, T. N. Ford, Judge Hewitt, Capt. Gen. D. Hill, and others, having come down in a steamer specially chartered for the occasion.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS.—Utsalady has the honor of being the first town on the sound to introduce the electric lights for general illuminating purposes. Three of these lights will be placed on the wharf and the mill will also be supplied with them.

BRIEF MENTION.

The bark Discovery and Klickitat were loading lumber at Utsalady last week. W. H. Carlwell is at present working on Capt. Hammond's steamer, at Eagle Harbor, Cypress Island.

Persons needing anything in the drug line should call at the reliable drug store of A. B. Stewart, Front street, Seattle.

Mr. Younkin is building a small cottage on the hill at Whatcom, which will probably be occupied by Mr. Vernon.

We call attention to the card of J. A. Johnson in our advertising columns offering for sale a fine, large work ox.

L. P. Smith & Son, Seattle, have one of the finest jewelry houses on the sound, and make an elegant display in that line.

Nineteen acres of hops, cultivated by B. L. Davis, on the Skagit, yielded 42,000 pounds, which at sixty three cents a pound will bring $26,460.

George Miller and family, friends of Noah Nelson, from Howard Lake, Minn., arrived here last week, and will probably locate in the neighborhood.

On Monday week Miss Carrie Graham will leave here to take charge of the school on the Samish, succeeding Miss Dale, who will attend the University.

J. H. Vernon, of Whatcom, will go out of the hotel business soon, owing to his inability to rent the building for a longer period.

At Jackson's camp, on the Skagit, we are informed by George Brown, the manager, they have put into the water since April 1st 4,500,000 feet of logs.

The Colony logging camp on the Nooksack, have a crew of seven men and four yoke of oxen. They will begin hauling in a few days. The Daisy took up a large lot of freight to the camp this week.

The steamer Josephine has been sold to J. B. Ball & Co., loggers on the Skagit river, for $7000 cash. The new owners will continue the steamer on her present route, between Seattle and points on the river.

The stock of men and boys' clothing exhibited at the Star clothing emporium of L. Kline, Seattle, is nobly and elegant beyond compare, and as to prices, we believe purchasers could not do better anywhere on the coast. Just go and judge for yourselves.

It is reported that Henry Villard has recently purchased a vast thousand acres of land near Whatcom, a portion of which, it is presumed, was the old Beltingham Bay Company's property.

Dan Wertheimer, of the popular California Cigar Store, Seattle, has one of the largest and best assorted stocks of cigars and tobaccos in the territory. Drop in and see him when you visit the Queen City.

The shingle mill at Whatcom, when fairly started, turn out about 12,000 shingles per day. They are at present running night and day to fill orders. They expect to have the sawmill in operation early this month.

To those in need of holiday goods, cutlery, underwear, clothing, etc., the Golden Rule Bazar at Seattle, indeed offers a most tempting layout, and at bottom figures for cash. Read their advertisement in this issue and then call them.

H. P. O'Bryen, of Guemes, who accompanied Mr. Bowman on his geological survey expedition through British Columbia, returned home Tuesday evening. Lack of space prevents us from giving an account of the expedition in this week.

The melancholy days have come when it behooves us to have our pedal extremities encased in a pair of snug fitting and substantial boots and shoes, and there is no place we can more cheerfully recommend for this purpose than the leading shoe house of Adam Orth, Seattle.

It is estimated that Whidby Island will this year produce about 18,000 bushels of oats, 4000 bushels of barley, 3000 bushels of wheat, 15,000 bushels of potatoes, and a large surplus of orchard and dairy products, poultry, swine and vegetables. Most of this produce finds its way to the Victoria market.

Those contemplating the purchase of holiday goods should step into the Seattle Bazar, and feast their eyes on the brilliant assortment of crockery, cutlery and table ware, pictures, stationery, etc., there displayed. They have an immense assortment, at lowest rates.

We think the writer of the following item, which we call from the Vancouver Independent, must be a little "off." He says: "Late advices from the Sound represent that the steamer Washington has been built above up by rough seas. This is much to be regretted, as she is one of the prettiest stern-wheelers afloat in these waters."

We were shown this week by J. A. Johnson, an enormous carrot raised on his place near Lake Erie, which measured 15 inches in length and 15 inches in circumference. Three years ago Mr. Johnson raised a turnip weighing 18 pounds and measuring 20 inches. Who says we can't raise the best vegetables on Fidalgo? They may produce bigger brats elsewhere, but we are the chiest on other gardens here.

The family of Power is well represented on the Republic of Island county, there being no less than three of that name, including Brother James of the Mail, on the ticket this year. Somebody insinuates that they must be a powerful clan. We know nothing about the "full" part of it—there can be no doubt as to the power. Be the powers some one of the triumvirate should be elected.

We say it without fear of contradiction, that there is no town on the northwest coast that can boast of two such handsome and ably edited papers as the Ledger and News of New Tacoma. The latter comes to us this week enlarged to eight columns, in a brand-new dress of clean-faced type, and filled with interesting and carefully prepared matter. Evidently there are some printers and newspaper men at the fore in New Tacoma.

Referring to the escape of the two prisoners from McNeil's Island, of which mention has already been made in these columns, a New Westminster paper says: "The convicts landed at Mud Bay, where they sold their boat and made their way over here. The authorities having tracked them, arrived in this city on Monday, and while in the act of getting out a warrant one of the convicts bore a sight and was nabbed. The other will most likely be keeping his company ere long."

Mrs. S. M. Childs and children and Miss Louise Carpenter, who have been luxuriating in the manifold delights of Fidalgo for several months last past, on a visit to Mrs. Bowman, return to their respective homes—the former to Austin, N.Y., and the latter to Smartsville, Cal.—on Tuesday next (election day); wherein they show themselves but little interested in our local politics. They might at least wait until returns come in from Cow Bay or some of the outlying precincts. At all events we cordially wish them bon voyage.

SINGULAR ACCIDENT.—One of the most peculiar of the many accidents resulting from the careless handling of firearms, occurred last Sunday morning on Cypress Island. Early in the morning Capt. Hammond and a young man named Robert Kettles started out to hunt deer, and while Hammond was in the brush beating out the game, Kettles was sitting on a log with both hands resting on his rifle. Suddenly by some means—it is always impossible to tell just how these things occur—the gun was discharged, the ball striking Robert in the neighborhood of the left groin; passing thence upward it clipped a button off the waist of his pants and entered the flesh near the lower ribs, only to reappear immediately, continuing its upward course, and burying itself finally in the flesh close to the left shoulder blade, where it now remains, and can be plainly felt. He was picked up immediately by Messrs. Edwards and Hammond and conveyed to his home. The wound is not a serious one, and would give him but little trouble were it not that he is at the same time afflicted with the whooping cough, and of course suffers greatly when a coughing spell comes on. He will go to Seattle as soon as possible and have the ball extracted.

MAIRIES.—BIANNA-McELROY—At Seattle, Oct. 29th, Capt. Thomas E. Egan and Mrs. Ellen McElroy. (The bride is a very estimable lady, and is a sister of John Collins, of the Occidental, Seattle. We presume every body knows the bridegroom; he is the "Old Reliable" Master of the Welcome. If he ploughs the sea of matrimony as carefully and well as he has the waters of Puget Sound for his life these many years, there is no danger of his ever being wrecked in the trough of Despond, or any other slough, for that matter.)

BARTLETT-DE LA BUNTE—At Seattle, Oct. 29th, Phil Bartlett, of Mt. Vernon, and Miss De la Bunte, of Seattle.
