The Colville Examiner

Issued Every Saturday by the Stevens County Publishing Company, Inc. Entered as second-class matter Oct. 31, 1907, at the postoffice at Colville, Wash., under act of congress of March 3, 1879.

Subscription Price $1.50 Year; 5c Copy

J. C. Harrigan, Editor and Manager

The Examiner this week is issued under difficulties. Not having had the experience possessed by contemporaries in publishing one paper from two offices, much confusion has resulted. Next week the Examiner will entirely occupy its new home, opposite the Rickey block. If any advertisers desire different space or position they can be accommodated in the next issue. Time was not sufficient this week.

The Freight Rate Case

Henry M. Stevens, counsel for the petitioners in the Spokane rate case against the Hill and Harriman lines, also attorney for the Inland Empire lumbermen in their fight for lower rates, said on his return from Washington, D. C., where he appeared before the Interstate commerce commission:

"While I am not able to say when the Spokane rate case will be determined, I am inclined to think the decision has been delayed on account of the disturbances in eastern financial centers. I feel confident the ultimate result will be a complete victory for Spokane and I believe the case will be determined without much further delay. It means much to every interior city in the country. The statements filed in the Spokane case show that if terminal rates are granted the shipments here and within 100 miles east and west will just about balance the shipments of lumber and other products from this territory to the east. The contention of the railroads in the lumber case is that the lumber rate should be increased because they bring empty cars from the east. If this contention is serious the railroads should have reduced westbound rates and filled the empty cars. I have an abiding faith that our westbound rates will be greatly reduced and that the lumber rates will be reduced below the old rates. If so, the east and west bound traffic will be practically equal, and should result in unbounded prosperity for this part of the country."

Stevens county is greatly concerned in the matter of reducing transcontinental freight rates, and is awaiting the decision with interest, for a reduction will mean much to this section.

Spokane Lecturer Here

Rev. W. J. Hindley of Spokane lectured at the opera house Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Colville Commercial Club. His subject was "The Average Man." Mr. Hindley lays no claim to being any but "an average man," but during the years in which the writer has known him he has shown himself to be far above the average man in intellectuality, power of expression, and ability to do good in all ways to his fellow man. On the lecture platform, as in the pulpit, he is a leader, creative in thought, and forceful in delivery. The church to him is but one of the many agencies through which the people may be served and bettered, and the religion of humanity is carried by him through all walks of life—in political, civic and business relations.

The lecture was one of delineation of character, and motive in life, with alternating current of humor and fact. The ideal community as pictured by him is one composed of men and women with ideals. His suggestions on co-operation toward the right growth of a city are worthy of being widely circulated, and any community which has the opportunity of having him talk cannot but receive benefit therefrom.

Mr. Hindley left on Wednesday noon for Nelson, where he delivered a lecture that evening.

Publication Requested

Colville, Wash., March 17. Editor of the Colville Examiner:

Dear Sir—The following article, in answer to articles published in the Statesman-Index week before last, was written for publication in that paper last week in order that the articles might be answered through the columns of the paper in which they were published, but its publication was refused by the Statesman-Index too late for publication in any other paper last week. Believing that your paper is controlled by no one but yourself and that the editor is free to exercise his own judgment as to what his columns shall contain, I have concluded to ask you to publish the article this week. Very truly yours, GEORGE A. ALLEN.

Following is the article referred to, which was refused publication by the Index:

In my last article I promised to be quiet thereafter so long as circumstances would permit and feel that I have religiously kept my word, for when two hidden enemies commence firing at one from ambush at the same time he would be foolish not to run or return the fire, and if by chance his enemies are disclosed to his view and he is capable of coping with both he would be a coward to run away and permit them to carry off as spoils that which equally belonged to him.

To your correspondent from Rice I would say your postscript, though very suggestive, was wholly unnecessary, since a comparison of your "squib" with the purported editorial in the Northport Republican copied in the adjoining column in the Statesman-Index would, to any one acquainted with Judge Carey's style of writing, be sufficient guaranty that he did not write the "squib."

You are certainly not an accomplished guesser, brother, but a little behind the times, since it was made public by me immediately after the publication of my first article that in case Mr. Slater should become a candidate for judge—which I supposed he had a right to do—the partnership would be dissolved. So in order to get full credit for your wisdom you should make haste to inform the public that "I told you so."

Now, since you have started the fashion, allow me to make a guess. Who is the author of the correspondence from Rice? My guess is Ex-Senator M. E. Stansell, and I consider this a pretty safe guess, since I have had positive information of the fact for more than a week. Now that your identity has been disclosed I am not surprised that you should have attempted to conceal it, as your open espousal of Judge Carey's cause would prove fatal to its success.

Having now exposed and completely disposed of one of the "bushwhackers" I will make short work of the other, since I crippled him badly last week. In order to dispose of the Northport editorial and make it a boomerang to rebound and destroy the one who cast it we have only to call attention to the fact that the article was the production of Mr. Carey's own brain palmed off on the public as an editorial purporting to express the sentiment of the people in his behalf, and to request the public to read it again.

In closing I have this to say. In order to gain support for his nomination two years ago Judge Carey promised those who made his nomination possible that he would not be a candidate for the office this year. Now, if republican politicians have so little confidence in the wisdom or integrity of the voters of Stevens county as to think that they will disregard the primary law and cast their vote along party lines rather than for the man they deem best qualified for the office, and for this reason believe that there should be but one candidate from the republican party in the field, then they would better turn their attention to Judge Carey and induce him to redeem his promise and keep out of the race. As for me, I am in to stay and to win. Very respectfully, GEORGE A. ALLEN.

High School Notes

On Friday, the 13th, the Alpha Society held its second meeting. President L. A. Mantz called the society to order at 2:30 p. m. and the following program began immediately after roll call: Song, Watch on the Rhine, School; recitation, Mrs. McDuffy on Baseball, Clara Zwang; address, Oriental Immigration, E. Knapp; essay, The Second Hague Conference, B. Heritage; song, Massa's in the Cold Ground, School; reading, The Jumping Frog of Calaveras County, Mary Ide; essay, American Art, Dollie Martin; music, Hazel Aspend; discussion, Who is the Greater, Lincoln or Washington? Vernon Knapp and Karl Sax; song, My old Kentucky Home, School.

The program for the next meeting, Friday, March 27, was then read. We all hail Freshmen's Friday. Following the regular program Miss Reinburg, critic for the meeting, read her report. She especially praised the two essays and the reading, not so much as to the contents of the story as to the way in which it was read. All appreciated the music.

There is to be a girls' basket ball tournament between the grades at the rink Friday and Saturday nights. Some of the girls from the high school are also going to play.

The Athletic Club desires to make public their appreciation for the action of the board in regard to fostering athletics in the school. The board has very generously made a provision for securing a coach for track and baseball turnout in the spring, and has also given $15 toward a fund for purchasing apparatus. The boys hope to turn out a good team for the track meet here in May. Baseball practice has begun in earnest. The boys are working out good, and there is every reason to have a fast team this year. All the fellows interested are requested to turn out for practice. Friday, March 27, they will play Chewelah high school at that place—play to win, too. The lineup is as follows: Charles Wright, pitcher; Norman Wright, catcher; Lark Mills-paugh, 1st base; Neal Ledgerwood, 2nd base; Emery Tremblay, short stop; Byron Heritage, 3rd base; Wesley Morgan, left field; Lee Mantz, center field; Warren Lane, right field.

Gilbert, Crawford, Knapp and Slater are making strong competition for the rest of the field, and some of them will probably make the team.

Every effort is being made on the part of Mr. Cummings to make "Comrades," the play for the benefit of athletics, a success. Those taking part practice almost every night.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Congregational church will give a "Tea" at the home of Mrs. L. B. Harvey, March 25. All the ladies who are interested in the work of the church are cordially invited to attend. Refreshments 10 cents.

Wanted—Dining room girl at Model restaurant.
